The City of Hamilton Stirred Up

An Interesting and Well-known Lad Taken Home from St. Joseph's Hospital to Die.

The Whole Staff of Physicians and Trained Nurses Declared His Case to be a Hopeless One.

At the Point of Death, Paine's Celery Compound Cures Him.

One of the Most Desperate Cases Ever Known - Limbs and Body Swollen - An Unrecognizable Piece of Humanity - The Boy's Body is Tapped and Two Gallons of Water Taken Away - After Medical Skill Failed, Paine's Celery Compound Works Miraculously - All Statements Vouched For by Geo. LeRiche, Esq., late of J. Winer & Co., and David Morton, Esq., Superintendent of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday School.

ALEXANDER MCINTOSH, HAMILTON, ONT.

Young Aleck McIntosh, interesting and good-looking, as a lad in his teens, and resides with his parents at No. 167 Catherine street south, Hamilton, Ont.

Some months ago, to the great grief and consternation of Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, their son Aleck was stricken down with a terrible swelling of the limbs and throat.

Notwithstanding the fact that the boy was under the care of an able and experienced doctor, his condition became most alarming.

At this juncture a consultation was held by three of the leading physicians of the city, and the result was that Aleck was sent to the hospital, where he might have all the advantages of medical skill, and the constant attention of trained nurses.

At the end of four weeks, Aleck's condition was more alarming than ever, and his parents were assured that there was no possible chance of recovery for their dear boy.

He lay on his hospital bed, partially helpless, and so swollen from head to foot that he was unrecognizable.

The sorrowing parents, feeling that there was no hope, and that the hand of death had securely grasped their loved one, wished to have him die in their home.

As he was being taken from the hospital, those in charge expressed sorrow that nothing could be done for the dying lad.

While at home, and at the point of death a kind neighbor called to see him. A thought - a revelation - came to her mind. A joyous look filled her, and she gazed on the dying boy, and witnessed the intense grief of the parents.

She remembered having herself used in an emergency Paine's Celery Compound. Would it meet this case where the vital spark was almost extinguished? Yes, she had faith that it would.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound was suggested to the parents. "Ah, yes, try it - anything - if dear Aleck's life can be saved."

The wondrous Compound was immediately procured and properly administered. The first dose produced results that gave the parents hope.

There was a virtue in this medicine that no other remedy ever contained. The boy lived, and the remedy was continued from day to day with results that gave joy and gladness.

By the time the fourth bottle was finished young Aleck McIntosh was well, and all his troubles vanished. Today he is as strong and robust as any boy of his age in the city.

All the physicians look upon the cure as a marvelous one, and the whole staff of St. Joseph's Hospital rejoice at the lad's restoration to health.

Scores of Hamilton's best people can vouch for every statement made in connection with this unparalleled case. The statements made by Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh, the boy's parents, are ably supported by two of Hamilton's leading business men.

Such sterling proof of the value of Paine's Celery Compound, should strongly convince every sufferer, and all who have suffering and diseased friends, there is no other medicine known to the medical profession and the public, that can so effectively and honestly meet the needs of all who are afflicted with this terrible ailment.

It is the only medicine in the world that saves and cures the sufferer when he or she is given up by the doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntosh write as follows: "We are willing and anxious to give a testimonial letter in reference to the marvelous cure your Paine's Celery Compound effected for our son Aleck's case."

AN ODE TO DIAMOND DYES.

Oh! Diamond Dyes, ye colors fair, Prepared with scientific care, Ye joy of every woman's heart, From our loved homes, oh, n'er depart.

In vain have speculators tried To mar their work in their fame deride; But women's hearts so warm and true, Forever loyal are to you.

Shine on! shine on! ye stars of light, Ye Diamond Dyes so fast and bright, Ye gems of true economy, May millions yet be blessed by thee.

"Has old tough quit smoking?" inquired one man of another. "I don't know whether he has done so or not, but he died the other day," was the evasive reply.

Send 25 "Sunlight soap wrappers (wrappers bearing the words 'why does a woman look older than a man?') to Lever Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture free from advertising, and well worth framing.

This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1 cent postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the envelopes open. Write your address carefully.

Squire (giving Pat a drink) - Well, Pat, doesn't that make you feel another man? Pat - Sure it does, your honor, but the other man wants another drink. - Judy.

The greatest flesh and blood maker in existence and a lifesaver to consumptives is Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, "the kind that cures" bronchitis, coughs, colds and all lung troubles.

She - Oh, Charlie, papa is going to give us $100,000 when he marries. He - I do so, darling? Well, suppose that we get married a few months sooner than we expected?

Consumption and lung troubles are the cause of fully one-third of the mortality in America. Prevention is better than cure. If you eat a cold, take at once some of Hawker's balsam of tolu and will cherry. It is a sure cure.

He - Can I see Miss Smith? She - (who knows him) - No, sir; she's out.

He - Out where? Out with some other fellow? Servant - No, sir; she's out with you, sir. That's what she told me, sir. - Indianapolis Journal.

John B. Gungis, says: "For sore throat, especially when tending to ulceration, I have found Paine's Extract very beneficial."

Newspaper - Paper, sir? Solemn-looking citizen - My dear boy, I would like to oblige you, but I cannot read.

Newspaper - Yes, sir. Want a shine? Don't feel with spending a nickel on, if the heat ain't.

All Hemorrhages, Female Complaints, &c., are quickly controlled by that household remedy, Paine's Extract.

The sight or smell of food sometimes sickens you, that's because your bilious Hawker's liver pills cure biliousness and all bilious ills.
