Can Play Big Part

HOUSTON Colts, Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies are probably not going to finish in the higher brackets of the National League. But these same teams can have a big say over the weekend determining whether the pennant race is going to get tighter or whether the Dodgers are going to increase their now fairly comfortable margin.

Colts put out the welcome mat for those same Dodgers this weekend while Chicago is hosting the Giants and the Phillies are invading Busch Stadium in St. Louis. The Dodgers know how well how downright nasty the Colts can become. They remember them from last September when the Colts played a big part in putting them out of the world series. The best of the series by Walter Alston's club could put them really in trouble, especially if the Cards and Giants decide to whip them.

ALSTON will use his big three against Paul Richardson's outfit. Drysdale, Koufax and Peters will all get their chance to take the Colts. If the trio is successful, then the Dodgers should be off on another winning streak in the east. If their offerings are to the liking of the Houston boys, then Smoky Alston will be in line for some severe headaches.

However, it's far better to be leading the pack than trailing by four or five lengths. Dodgers must win while Cards and Giants win if the last two mentioned clubs intend to make up ground as long as Dodgers win ball games, then they are in clover.

We have the idea that this weekend will see the Dodgers fatten their cushion a bit. Their hitting is bound to return one of these days and when it does the opposition had better watch out. With the Giants and Cards had better loosen skins and the Dodgers made a pile of hay during those days. It was only natural that the Alstons should get their share of setbacks. But perhaps they are ready to roll again. We'll soon know.

Lack Of Hitting

IT'S been their inability to hit rather than the lack of good pitching that made the Dodgers sick. Even in that game against the Dodgers were lucky to escape with that 3-0 decision. Six hits are hardly enough to make the going easy and that's exactly what Dodgers garnered that evening. Willis, Gillman and Davis are the only ones of their form and the return of their batting eyes is anxiously awaited by two and every Dodger fan. In this Dodger's slump, there were last games especially when Koufax failed to get the win. A little clout by an appropriate time could have given the portester a more verdant home run streak has fallen off lately but you can't expect power hitters to go on indefinitely without putting the ball into the bleachers.

Well Done, Gentlemen

WALTER CRAIG wasn't long getting the proper formula for Don Mackenzie's Bob Brook.

Walter has just been with Don a little over two weeks and already has proved himself an expert reinsman of course. Walter is racing fans didn't need any proof. They knew well the abilities of Walter and they were sure he would soon see Don's great racing with his own eyes.

Those two miles in the free-of-all circuit race at Halifax came as great surprise to race followers here. We talked with Don after Craig had ridden Bob Brook to a third in the first trip of Summerside. Don was delighted with the way Walter handled his horse and he told us to give him about three weeks to let the pacer properly trained. He didn't need the three weeks. Craig has done it ahead of schedule.

Walter also gave Don's Don's lady a new mark Wednesday night at Halifax. MacKenzie would be nearly as elated over it as he would with the Bob Brook triumph. To both Don Mackenzie and Walter Craig, Sports Front sends our congratulations. See you both Old Home Week.

Richardson Defends Title Against Brothers Tonight

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Canadian Middleweight champion Blair Richardson of nearby South Bay says a New Brunswick boxer will fight tonight "doesn't deserve 'a crack at the title'."

Richardson said in an interview Friday that Ron Brothers of Saint John, N.S., "hasn't proven himself" and shouldn't be given a chance at the title. The two meet in a 12-rounder here.

It will be the first meeting of the two but the fight has been talked about for more than a year. A lot of talk has come from Brothers, who has claimed Richardson was ducking him.

But Richardson, who won the crown from rough Willie Greaves of Edmonton, scoffs at this. Ordered by the Canadian Professional Boxing Federation to meet Brothers after November, Richardson said: "I'm not going to fight him."

"Gene told me that if he loses he definitely will retire," said Mrs. Fullmer, mother of three who suffers agonies of fear every time her husband enters the ring.

She didn't say what would happen if he wins. When Fullmer lost the middleweight title to Tiger last year in San Francisco, DeLores' father suffered a fatal heart attack at ringside.

DeLores himself absorbed a vicious beating, the worst of his career.

DeLores pleaded with Gene to quit, for a time, it seemed he might. Then he announced he would fight Tiger again, in Las Vegas, Nev.

"That bout ended in a draw, setting up their third meeting. 'I'd sure like him to quit after this fight, win or lose,' said Mrs. Fullmer. 'I can't think of anything nicer than quitting as the champion.'"
