REACH & MILLER, - Proprietors.

Designed to Educate Young Men for Business.

OUR SYSTEM is conducted on Actual Business and Scientific Principles, and embraces all subjects necessary for a thorough COMMERCIAL Education. Our facilities for teaching these are the most complete that have ever been devised. Theory and practice are combined, and the whole course rendered so interesting and practical that the duller student cannot fail to be largely benefited. The course of Study is short, practical, useful and reasonable; it is just what every MAN needs and will use, no matter what his calling or profession is to be.

The youth commencing a business life with only industry and integrity as his capital, the clerk engaged during business hours, but desires by evening study to repair the defects in his education, each have the advan-age offered by our sessions occupying DAY AND EVENING. Morning Session, 9.30 to 12, and 2 to 4 p. m. Evening Session, 7.30 to 9.30.

Diplomas granted to such as pass satisfactory examinations. Students may enter at any time. No entrance examination required.
Business men and others are cordially invited to call and examine our system.

Teach your sons what they will practice when they become men.

Steam Communication with the Magdalen Islands.

TENDERS addressed to the Postmaster-General will be received at Ottawa until noon on WEDNESDAY, the 5th of APRIL NEXT, for the conveyance of Her Majesty's Mails by steamer once a week, during the season of Navigation between Pictou, N. S., and the Magdalen Islands and Gaspe, under a contract for four years, commencing with the opening of navigation in 1882.

The steamer to leave Pictou on such regular day in each week as the Postmaster General may appoint, and proceed to Amherst and Cape de Meule, Magdalen Islands, and returning one day at the Islands for exchange of Mails, to return to Pictou, calling both ways and exchanging Mails at Georgetown and Souris, Prince Edward Island. On every fourth trip the steamer is to proceed from the Magdalen Islands to Gaspe and back before returning to Pictou, calling for exchange of Mails at Gaspe Basin, and at Perce weather permitting. The Postmaster General will require a first-class sea-going steamer for this service, and the tender must give a full description of the steamer offered—specifying name, tonnage, speed and accommodation for passengers and freight, also the price asked for each round weekly trip between Pictou and the Magdalen Islands, and for each monthly round trip between the Islands and Gaspe.

The Pacific Slope.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR.—Some two weeks previous to the writing of this letter, I was hailed from the street by a fellow Islander. After responding, and during the course of our conversation, he presented me with a few copies of your journal, with the expressed desire that I would read them. Being an Islander myself, and as such, naturally attached to its institutions, together with the desire of learning something of its present status, and how far, if any, it had progressed since my departure therefrom, I thankfully acquiesced in his favor, and promised a perusal at my earliest leisure.
I have done so, and without any attempt at the bestowal of unmerited praise, pronounce the EXAMINER—for so limited a sheet—an excellent publication; touching, in a terse and concise manner, all matters appertaining to public interest, and the general welfare of P. E. Island. Thinking that a voice from the Pacific Coast might be of interest to your readers, I have assigned a portion of to-day as a means to that end.

By virtue of a proclamation issued by the Governor of our State, this day is a legal holiday, the observance of which is intended to convey to our eastern friends in general, and to the Congress of the United States in particular; the deep interest our people take in the passage of a Bill—now before that body—calculated to limit the immigration of Chinese to this country. Nor is it to be wondered at.
Those servile hordes come here by the ship-load, far outnumbering the calculation of those who were instrumental in bringing about the existing treaty between this country and China. The most important feature of that international contract, better known as the "Burlingame Treaty," was the intended establishment of a friendly intercourse, in a commercial view, between both countries. To effect this the United States guaranteed the right of protection to all citizens of China wishing to become residents of this country. The reckless and selfishness of those means generously extended by our people, and the evil results accruing therefrom, completely overshadowed our portion of the commercial advantage, and brought the whole matter under a dense cloud of gloomy penitence.

China, perceiving that a door was now open, by which she could be rid of her over-population, vomited upon our shores, this crude indigestible mass, which, for nearly twenty years, American institutions—social, moral and political—have found impossible to assimilate. They have their own secret tribunals, before which their culprits are arraigned, in utter violation and stubborn defiance of our civil law. If tried before American courts of justice, they stubborn witnesses, by offering rewards for the death of their interpreters, and ransoms for the murderer, if detected in his crime—do everything calculated to thwart the administration of justice in American courts of law.

During the years intervening 1855 and 1881, 229,675 of these Asiatic hordes entered our State, to the displacement of thousands of the best importations of German, Swedish, Danish, Irish and Scottish descent; and all because those free-minded people who came here to enjoy the freedom of our institutions and the liberty of thought and speech, refused to be coerced into competition with those low-born serfs, whose minds, insured to slavery, will stoop to any service; whose minds, through dirt of semi-starvation and beggary self-denial have become like tongs; and whose nerves are as unfeeling and insensate as whipcord. Her male expectations are admit thieves and accomplished gamblers; her females are lewd hirelings imported for sensuous purposes, and established in un-rightly brothels, to vixiate and corrupt by beggarly solicitations, the unsuspecting youth of our state. For years, and in vain, did public men inveigh, and leading journals reprobate against this unmitigated evil, but Congress was deaf to our applications, although attested to, by an overwhelming majority. In the meantime semi-monthly deposits, of the sum of 400,000,000 of slaves, were being imported in our midst, not one of whom, considered as an individual force, but is slain to American interest and usage; nay, not only inimicable, but—as far as their personal influence go—subversive of everything we hold dear, as a free and enlightened people. It is not, then, to be wondered at, that this should be a day whose object it is, to voice our approbation of those who seek, by judicious legislation, to check the current of this defiled stream, which leaves its unwelcome deposits upon our fair shores.

But I am beginning to be alarmed that my letter is already too long, and now will scarcely admit of many items of local interest, which to the general reader would be found of value; especially so to those who propose paying us a visit in the coming spring. If such were here now, they would —taking the present climate and production of P. E. Island as a basis of estimation—California enjoying a delightful summer.
Already in the Sacramento markets are to be found such articles of specimen taste as new potatoes, green peas, green corn, string beans, artichokes, cauliflower, strawberries, &c.; fragrant flowers are in bloom, lime orange, peach, pear, apricot, apple and plum trees are in bloom; fine ripe cherries and luscious grapes, will soon be hawked about in the streets by itinerant fruit-vendors. The rich loam of the be-nat-valley of the Sacramento is never chilled in the heartless embrace of Jack Frost, nor wrapped through half a year in a dreary mantle of snow. We are not, however, total strangers to that cheerless element, In the morning when the air is rare, clear and refreshing, dimly outlined against the blue sky, thousands of feet above the level of the sea can be seen the frowning summits of the Sierran whose rugged spires and hoary peaks, are eternally clothed in perpetual snow.

WESTWARD.

NEWS NOTES.

A JUDGE IMPEACHED.—A despatch dated St. Paul, Minn., March 23, is as follows:
The Senate sitting as a Court of Impeachment to day formally certified the judgment against Judge Cox, charged with drunkenness. The sentence is removal from office and disqualification from the judicial office for three years.

Boston, Mass., people have always been noted for their culture, but they must now be credited with another eminent quality—presence of mind. Five thousand five hundred people were the other night gathered to hear the divine Patti sing. The drop curtain caught fire, and nearly the whole audience remained in their seats watching the blaze until it expired.

A poor laborer, near Wabash, Ind., whose wife and children had been two days without food, went to the mill in the neighborhood and asked credit for a small sack of corn meal. This was refused. He grabbed the bag and ran. On arriving at home, he hastily mixed some of the raw meal with water, and the family ate it uncooked, knowing that no time was to be lost. They had barely satisfied their hunger before a constable came in and arrested the thief.

An English journal having remarked that the death of Mr. Bulkeley Hughes, late M. P. for Carnarvon, removed the oldest member of the House of Commons, the London Globe points out that although the oldest man in the House (he was born in 1797) Mr. Hughes was not the oldest member. Mr. C. R. M. Talbot is the oldest member. He was first elected in 1830 and has represented Glamorganshire ever since.

Of eight thoroughbred yearlings which were sold in England in 1879 for $11,000, not one could win a race last year, and their total winnings in 1880 reached the paltry sum of £200. Little Sister, who won £1,100 last year, and is now one of the most promising Derby candidates, was picked up by Lord Falmouth for 200 guineas. Gehennias, who won £4,300 last year, cost only 330 guineas in 1880. There is a long and melancholy list of yearlings sold during the last twenty years at prices between 1,200 and 2,000 guineas, most of them worth nothing.

The other day a deputation from the Ontario Press Association, consisting of Mr. Penne, of the Kingston Whig; Mr.
Traves, of the Port Hope Times; and Mr.
Hough, of the Cobourg World, had an interview with Hon. Messrs. O'Connor, Tilley, Campbell and Bowell, and urging upon them the propriety of abolishing postage on newspapers within the counties where they are published. The ministers admitted the reasonableness of the request and the deputation are satisfied that their representations have not been without effect. The revenue collected from newspapers is only $47,000 in the whole Dominion.

A spirit of gratitude prompts me to address this brief note, writes Wesley Binson, Esq., attorney-at-law, Chicago, Ill. Three months ago I returned from Mobile, Ala., and was immediately attacked with what is known as sciatic rheumatism. I employed three physicians in succession, giving each one simple time to afford relief if it had been in his power. I was not materially benefited by their services and was beginning to despair, when a friend who had experienced the effects of St. Jacobs Oil, advised me to give it a trial. I refused, because I did not think rheumatism could be cured by any outward application. Insisting upon a trial of it, he sent me two bottles. Unable to meet this kindness by further refusal, I had the remedy applied to the parts affected. But before the first bottle had been used up I began to be relieved of the painful lameness in my hip and knee, and when the second bottle was out, I could dress myself and walk about.
I continued to use it, and am now able to go down to my office and attend to business. Should persons afflicted as I was, desire a stronger testimonial, I shall tell them, if they shall call upon me, to give St. Jacobs Oil a fair trial; and I now feel as though I could assure them the same swift and speedy relief I have experienced.

A young man with a glass eye was engaged to be married, but he did not like to inform his betrothed of his ocular defect.
A week previous to the day named for the wedding he confided in his future father-in-law, who, to his surprise, received the information in a highly amusing manner.
"I'll make it all right for you, my boy.
You invite me to supper on anything I do after supper to-night, and see how good-naturedly Maria (that was the lady's name) will take it. Accordingly, as soon as the evening meal was concluded, the father looked at the young man and began to sing—

Oh, do you know the glass-eyed man,
The glass-eyed man, the glass-eyed man?
Oh, do you know the glass-eyed man,
Who lives down our way?
And as he concluded the last line, he took out his left eye and placed it on a plate in front of him. The young man was very much astonished to find his Maria's father as unfortunate as himself, while at the same time it gave him the courage to reply—

Oh, yes, I know the glass-eyed man Who lives down our way, and he, too, deposited his crystal optic on the table. Maria was convulsed with laughter at the proceeding; but her future husband was ready to believe all humanity one-eyed when she tumbled forth—I also know the glass-eyed man Who lives down our way, and dropped her eye into a glass of water by her side.
