

MR. AND MRS. JAMES H. MURNAGHAN

Wed At Charlottetown Will Reside In Newcastle

The Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, Charlottetown was the scene of a pretty wedding on September 11th at 9.00 a.m. when Mary Eleanor, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. McAdam, became the bride of James Hubert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murnaghan. Rev. J. W. Allan, C.S.S.R. performed the ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The altar and sanctuary were beautifully decorated with vases of mixed gladioli, interspersed with light lights. The guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Alex MacLean. During the ceremony beautiful hymns were rendered by Miss Joan Murnaghan and Mrs. John Walsh, Jr., sisters of the groom.

The bride was beautifully attired in a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin. The matching lace bolero had a Peter Pan collar with iridescent sequins and pearls. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The shoulder length veil was held in place by a tiara head-dress trimmed with seed pearls. The bride wore small pearl earrings and carried a white prayer book with a corsage of red carnations and white streamers.

Mrs. Dominic Doyle, Jr., was Matron of Honour. She wore a ballerina length gown of blue lace and net over taffeta, with matching bolero and picture hat and carried a nosegay of mixed mums. Miss Mary White was bridesmaid and she wore a ballerina gown of pink lace and net over taffeta with matching bolero and picture hat, and carried a nosegay of mixed mums.

Miss Gloria McAdam, winsome

sister of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was yellow nylon with matching headdress, and she carried a small nosegay of mixed mums.

Mr. Frank Murnaghan, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Fred McAdam, Jr., brother of the bride and Mr. Loyola Murnaghan, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of pale blue lace over taffeta, with navy accessories, and wore a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a teal blue taffeta dress, with rose accessories, and her corsage was rose carnations.

Mrs. Catherine McEachern, Grandmother of the Bride, was also a guest.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was held at the Queen Hotel, where 75 guests were present. The bridal table was attractively decorated and centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was cut in the traditional manner by the bride couple.

The duties of Master of Ceremony were capably performed by Mr. Leo Corcoran. Rev. J. W. Allan proposed the toast to the bride to which the Groom responded. Following the wedding breakfast, the bride and groom proceeded to the Clover Club where a reception was held and dancing and a sing-song were enjoyed by all.

The bride and groom then left on a wedding trip to various parts in the Maritimes. For travelling, the bride chose a suit of grey mixed tweed and pink accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. The young couple will reside in Newcastle, N.B., where the groom is stationed with the R.C.A.F. at Chatham.

Wedding Of Interest In St. Mary's Basilica, N. S.

A wedding of interest to many friends took place Saturday at 9 a.m. in St. Mary's Basilica when Nursing Sister Marion Louise Madden, R.C.N., became the bride of Dr. Pius Manning Sigsworth, all of Halifax.

Miss Madden is the elder daughter of Mrs. Harry D. Madden of Halifax, and the late Mr. Madden Dr. Sigsworth is the son of the late Captain and Mrs. W. J. Sigsworth of Newport, P.E.I.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. B. Murphy, S.F.M. R.C.N., chaplain of HMCS Shearwater, who also celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

The church was decorated with white and bronze chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her brother, Dennis the bride wore a gown styled on princess lines, with the long torso bodice of French lace over satin. The gown was strapless and was worn with a long-sleeved bolero of lace. Her headdress was a small cap of iridescent sequins with a finger-tip veil of tulle and her bouquet was a sheaf of gardenias.

The bride's sister, Miss Joyce Madden, was her only attendant. She wore a cocktail-length gown of antiqued taffeta in Winter pink with a black panel and bustle in a peach shade, a halo hat of tulle and sequins in pink and carried a bouquet of peach-tinted roses and carnations.

Frank Sigsworth, the groom's cousin was his best man. The ushers were Donald Dobson and Ralph Ricketts.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the dining room of the Nova Scotian Hotel following the ceremony.

Receiving with the bride party was the bride's mother, who wore a dress of lace over taffeta in turquoise, with a large hat of the same material and a corsage of sweetbrier roses.

Colonel S. R. Balfour, M.P., proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the bride wore a suit of blue-grey tweed, a fur felt hat in Winter white trimmed with pheasant feathers, accessories in deep tan and a scarf of stone marten furs. Her corsage was of Tallman roses.

On their return, Dr. and Mrs. Sigsworth will reside in Halifax, where Dr. Sigsworth is in practice.

Dr. and Mrs. Pius M. Sigsworth are pictured in a Halifax paper, following their wedding in St. Mary's Basilica.

HUNTER RIVER W.I.
The monthly meeting of Hunter River Women's Institute was held at the residence of Mrs. Robert Smith, October 1st. Eleven members and one visitor answered in roll call with an exchange of recipes.

Elegant New Sofa-Beds

By ELEANOR ROSS
The dual-purpose sofa is indeed a real sleeping beauty this season! New styling, new materials, new color schemes all combine to offer exciting values in this most useful and versatile piece of furniture.

A boon to the one room apartment, a useful adjunct to almost any type of household, the sofa-bed combines elegance and fine construction at almost every price level.

Of course, to give the maximum in long wear and comfort, the dual-purpose sofa should be of the best possible construction the budget will allow. That's far more important than the type of style or upholstery.

As for the latter, ranging from rough, tweedy effects to deep velvety appearance, many textures today are achieved by new methods of weaving in which the type of weave itself forms the pattern. Plaids and metallics dominate the pattern picture because they are easily adapted to existing color schemes and are least likely to show wear or soil.

As for color, it is truly exciting. With earth tones leading the field, colors, run the gamut from palest pastels to dark shades and even blacks. Charcoals and deep grays are nosing out pale grays and black and white combinations are moving up. Pale celadon, moss and avocado are among the blue-green combinations now staging a comeback.

Others in this category range from aqua through chalk-blue, turquoise, sky-blue and deep sea tones. And such colors as cocoa brown, rusty cinnamon and mauve shades are also here.

ITALIAN PROVINCIAL

One manufacturer of sofa-beds goes in for fine handling of the Italian Provincial theme, with interest centered on an exceptionally attractive unit in Venetian design. It features high button-tufted cushions attached to the back, low curved arms and a pleated flounce. Ideal for the small room is a softie, a graceful, period piece that serves as a sofa by day or a comfortable single bed by night by removing the large bolster.

ELLEN'S DIARY

That Fire Smells Good!

"There's no better scent anywhere, is there?" we recall one of kin say on a night of last winter. With visitors we were sitting about the kitchen-fire at the time, talking shop and spinning yarns of the young days we had known. A drying maple-stick in the oven was giving off that intriguing fragrance which is peculiarly its own.

"No," he smiled, "I don't believe there's better to be had. To be honest I often leave one in our oven—the wife thinks I'm being forgetful! But it's just to catch that old scent. You see it's a part of my childhood. When I get a whiff of that," he chuckled, "I can see the old stove in the kitchen at home and sticks of the first-growth. Funny too — to a child it meant nothing but looking back it is one of the big things I remember... the glow from the fire on the faces about, Mother and Dad and all the other down to the youngest one asleep in the wooden cradle — and the aroma of the maple-wood burning. "Yes," he nodded "to me it means something pretty nice."

"Tonight it is a cherry stick on the fire that scents our kitchen — a lone room at the moment with James still out at some item of empty woodshed and Winter closing in. And "if it should happen to rain for days, what trying fires we would have!" we said.

However in a timely lull between the mangle and turnip gathering, Mr. C. and his helper from the house on the hill, brought over his circular-saw, and joined by our staff, prepared in a field at the edge of the woodlands, the wood which had seasoned in lengths all summer not far from the stumps where it grew.

What busy days they had — men, horses and machines! With Granddaughter and Mack in turn bagging for the privilege of riding the quieter horse of the two used at the "yarding-out" to and from the scene of work. Smartly the little trucks breezed home with their loads so that this evening, this one of the housewives' concerns was no more. Heat and brisk cooking-fires, the woodshed assures us we shall have through a whole year to come.

"Now these, Ellen are pieces of pine," James says in now at his day's close, several knots in his arms. "From an old stump, I guess. Want them on the fire now? Or perhaps," with a glance at the clock, "we'll keep them to make a smart fire in the morning."

Until tomorrow... Diary... Good-night...

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF IT, JIM?

"Yes—this NEW Star Weekly is really something! How do you like its compact tabloid size, isn't it so convenient?"

"Indeed it is—and say the Picture section is a real treat—Those colorings and sequence arrangements of the pictures are beautiful."

"The articles and stories in the magazine sections also appeal to me and you should hear the wife rave about the fashions and recipes and the complete Novel!"

"I'll bet you went for the comics too—I did! There are four more pages, you know."

"I sure did—but of course the kids got to them first."

"Well, the new Star Weekly is a swell job."
