ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

The Doctor was among the guests at the Church-dinner in the community of our childhood, which with James and Jamie on a recent evening we attended and enjoyed... The same Doctor that for more than half a century has been physician, friend, and good counsellor to his people in the villages and country round...

"Just open your mouth, little girl or I shan't hurt you!" the Doctor said in a kindly soothing voice, but oh dear, there was an instrument of torture in his hand. And father-to-us, blessed among many with a sense of humour, smiled and commented above our wailing: "She seems to have it pretty well now!" Since that Spring evening of the long ago...

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. Should a hostess add complimentary remarks as she greets each one of her guests? A. No; exaggerated greetings are not in good taste. A cordial greeting is all that is necessary, such as, "How do you do, Mrs. Jordan? I am glad to see you." Q. Is it proper for a young girl to ask a young man to call on her, when she has known him for quite a while? A. Yes, this is quite all right. Probably the best way in which to handle the situation though, would be an invitation to dinner in her home.

Better English

By D. C. Williams

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "As I take it, his death is daily anticipated." 2. What is the correct pronunciation of "process"? 3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Supervise, authorise, chastise, cauterize. 4. What does the word "amptestuous" mean? 5. What is a word beginning with gr that means "seriousness"?

Answers

1. Say, "As I understand, his death is daily expected." Anticipated usually means to look forward to with approval or enjoyment. 2. Preferred pronunciation is o as in 3. Authorize. 4. Stormy; turbulent. "We encountered some tempestuous weather." 5. Gravely.

FRANKFURTER BAKE

12 frankfurters, 1/3 cup chopped onions, 1 cup chopped celery, 6 cups day-old bread cubes, 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 beaten egg, hot water or stock to moisten. Split each frankfurter not quite through; press out the frankfurters flat, cut side down, in shallow baking pan. Cook onion and celery in small amount hot fat until golden. Add remaining ingredients; toss gently to mix. Add enough remaining liquid to moisten, about one third cup. Spread over frankfurters. Top with remaining frankfurters. Pour Barbecue Sauce over. Place cake rack over frankfurters, so they'll remain flat during baking. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F. 30 to 45 minutes. Serves 6. Barbecue Sauce: Cook 1/2 cup chopped onion in small amount hot fat until golden. Add 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 4 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, dash tabasco sauce, 1/4 cup catsup, and 3 tablespoons vinegar. Makes 1/2 cup.

LIBERTY PATROL

Three hundred Swiss Canadians sang songs, ran races and watched a traditional bonfire at Dixie, Ont., at their 37th annual festival to observe the 660th anniversary of independence of their native land of Switzerland, oldest republic in the world. Among Canadians of Swiss extraction who came to celebrations at Dixie from a radius of 30 miles was Mrs. Elsy Suter, above, seen in national costume.

The Stars Say - -

For Tomorrow

THE week-end may be a lively and aggressive one, with the energies and drive concentrated upon melting down opposition to cherished plans. With sound and lasting formation of new ideas, establish far-reaching foundations for enduring security, this based on practical rather than "flash in the pan" tactics.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find an about-face in their prior plan of action, by switching from the sensational or unique to a base of operations fundamentally sound, studied, with a view to future security. This may impress capital influence. A child born on this day is well endowed with diligence, practical ideas, highlighted by flashes of genius or inspiration. It may have a dramatic career.

Day After Tomorrow

The astrological forecast tends toward conflicts and difficulties on this day, owing to purely personal errors or faulty judgment with consequent mistakes. Such may afflict home ties rather than business or deals with influential personages.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of confusion and conflict, with the persona, domestic or social ties in danger through rash and hasty judgment or hasty commitments. In business or influential contacts there may be sounder, less emotional judgment. A child born on this day may possess conflicting characteristics, emotions warring with logic, mentally and practical ideas. Early discipline is recommended.

All You Want

When the prisoner was asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed on him, he replied: "I'm sorry I took the money, my lord; but you know the old saying: the more a man has the more he wants." The judge nodded understandingly. "Well," he said, "you're getting twelve months. How much more do you want?"

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I keep the coffee pot sweet and clean? A. Put a tablespoon of bicarbonate of soda into the pot, fill it almost full of water, and let it boil for a little while. Then rinse with warm water several times. This treatment should be followed once a week. Q. How can I remove soil from the edges and bindings of book? A. Rub them with bread dough. Rub the dusty parts with a ball of the dough until the dirt is removed. Q. How can I prevent the outside of a piece of cheese from becoming dry and hard? A. Spread the cheese quite thinly with butter. It will keep just right, and not lose its flavor.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Long-Suffering Wife Why Does She Stand For Husband's Abuses?

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married twenty years and have no children. I am 38, my husband 41. We both work, have a car and a nice home, but I am very unhappy. I had in-law troubles through half my married life; now my husband is always troubling my feelings about my family. He drinks heavily, and comes home at all hours of the night. He doesn't do anything around the house, won't take me out—in fact does nothing home but eat and sleep. If I threaten to leave him, he puts up a big fight and says he loves me, so I feel sorry for him. I pay all my own expenses, buy food and furniture for the house, and pay most of the bills. He makes a good salary, and I think the least he can do is have the house fixed up a little. Don't you?

ANSWER: It is simply appalling to consider what some women will take from a husband. Years of constant ill treatment, then all the wretch has to say is "I love you," and the long-suffering wife swoons into his arms.

YOU'RE ASKING FOR IT "Don't think you want advice, Frieda, as much as you want a shoulder to cry on. You surely know any sane counsel would not urge you to continue the life you're leading like a mere lamb. To put everything into a marriage as you have—money, years of hard work, love and fidelity—then receive in return nothing but abuse. You must place a terrific value on the status of "wife" to endure it. If your husband really loves you, as he claims, you might bring him to his senses by a temporary absence. To reform him after twenty years seems well-nigh hopeless, but if you withdraw your financial support for a while he might come to appreciate you.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 21 with a six-month-old baby. The father of the child, who denies him, says he loves me and wants to marry me but he insists that the baby be left with relatives, who are willing to keep him. I know I can never be happy without the baby or my boy friend. Do you think he loves me when he would ask me to do such a thing? ANSWER: You are certainly in a complicated muddle and I think you should seek expert personal advice in trying to solve your problem. Go to your clergyman or a local social welfare agency (which may be located through your telephone book), and let them help you. Your boy friend's love is shown in a very strange way when he... Mending Linoleum

An excellent filler for worn linoleum is finely-chopped cork mixed with liquid glue. When it has set hard, rub down with emery paper and paint to match the linoleum.

Iodine Stains

Iodine stains will come out of almost any article if it is soaked in lime water.

Keep Covered

Never leave bottles containing cream or milk uncovered in the refrigerator. Odors from other foods are quickly absorbed by cream and milk.
