P.E.I. Causeway To Be Explained

The Prince Edward Island-New Brunswick causeway will be discussed on the CBC-TV program Fishermen's Log on Saturday evening at 7:15.

Ed MacDonald, a consultant engineer, will explain the workings of a model built to scale.

Dr. D.G. Wilder will explain the changes and the possible effects on the lobsters in the Northumberland Strait.

The causeway, it has been suggested, will be located in the centre of the world's richest fishing grounds. Tidal currents will be increased and the rise and fall of the tides will be changed.

The program host is Mike Gillis.

Fish Landings Are Increased

Total fish landings in the Maritime Provinces during February, 1966 amounted to 26.5 million pounds valued at 2 million dollars. Included in these totals were 24.5 million pounds of groundfish valued at 1.5 million dollars, 1.2 million pounds of pelagic fish valued at 105 thousand dollars, and 792 thousand pounds of molluscs and crustaceans valued at 346 thousand dollars.

Landings for February exceeded the average catch during the past three years by 3.8 million pounds and 400 thousand dollars. Groundfish landings during the month exceeded the average February catch during the years 1963-1965 by 6.8 million pounds and 582 thousand dollars while pelagic landings were 2.8 million pounds and 13 thousand dollars below average. Shellfish landings during the month were 203 thousand pounds and 168 thousand dollars below the 1963-1965 February average.

The increased groundfish catch during February 1966, compared to the last three years, was due to larger than normal landings of cod and haddock. The smaller than normal pelagic landings were the result of smaller herring landings while the decreased catch of scallops and lobsters accounted for the below average landings of shellfish.

Cumulative fish landings for the first two months of 1966 amounted to 48 million pounds valued at 3.5 million dollars. The figures for the similar period of 1965 were 49.9 million pounds valued at 3.5 million dollars and for 1964, 43.2 million pounds valued at three million dollars.

Two Staff Members Schedule Journeys

Two members of the Confederation Centre staff will be on the move across the country next week as planning for the Summer Festival and other upcoming activities picks up tempo.

On Sunday Public Relations Director Jack McAndrew leaves by air for a promotional tour that will take him all the way to Victoria, British Columbia, with stops in practically all the major centres in the country.

Television and radio appearances have been booked in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria, and Mr. McAndrew will visit newspaper editors, and seek outlets for Summer Festival promotional material.

The trip is in the nature of a "report to the people" on the use to which Confederation Centre has been put, and the accomplishments of the Centre in its first two years of operation.

"After all, each Canadian is a stockholder in the Centre," says Mr. McAndrew, "and they are entitled to an accounting of its stewardship so far."

"In addition I'll be plumping the Summer Festival for all I'm worth and generally putting the Island story before the country. You may depend I'll be looking for any opportunities to get in a word about the Island as a vacation spot, and about the changes that are taking place here as well."

Art Gallery Director Moncrieff Williamson leaves next week for Toronto, Ottawa and St. John's Newfoundland for attendance at two artistic conferences.

In Toronto he will join writer and critic Robert Fulford and Quebec Provincial Museum Director Guy Viau for a special panel discussion before the Seminar '66, a top level meeting of nine of the countries most influential critics, gallery directors and university specialists in the visual arts.

Seminar '66, organized by the Canadian Conference on the Arts and the Canada Council, will study all aspects of communicating the visual arts to the people. It is regarded as the key session of its kind to be held in the country.

Following Seminar '66 Williamson will travel to Ottawa for discussions on Confederation Centre matters with the National Gallery staff and the Centennial Commission.

The Art Director winds up his trip with a flight to St. John's, Newfoundland where he will chair the spring meeting of the Atlantic Provinces Circuit Membership in the Circuit is made up of Gallery Directors and University representatives from the Atlantic Provinces.

Discussions will centre on matters of common professional interest, and the arranging of the circulation of art exhibits in the Atlantic area.

Two Students To Conference

Kathleen MacDonald and Winifred McCordle, Senior and Freshman Arts Students respectively, left yesterday afternoon for Halifax to attend the annual conference of the Atlantic Women's Intercollegiate Debating Society. The conference will be held at Kings' College.

The program for next year and revision of the constitution are on the agenda for the conference. The debating trophy will be presented at the conference to Mr. St. Bernard's and St. Dunstan's who tied for first place this year.

The trophy will remain with each college for half the term. St. Dunstan's won two unanimous decisions. Mr. St. Bernard's won one unanimous decision and one debate by default.

Local Workshop Is Successful

"Language Grows Through Reading" was the topic of the workshop for the teachers of the elementary city schools, held on Friday, March 18, at Spring Park School.

Mrs. John McInnis, Supervisor of Education, Institute of Child Study, University of Toronto, assisted by Margaret G. Gerrard, Reading Consultant, East York Board of Education, Toronto, Ontario conducted the workshop.

Miss Gerrard opened the morning session. Her topic was "Teaching The Reading Skills." She stressed the fact that there is no one best method for the teaching of reading, but that each teacher must use a variety of approaches and procedures suited to the individual differences in her own classroom.

Following this talk demonstration lessons were taught by Mr. McInnis and Miss Gerrard. Pupils from Spring Park School participated.

Questionnaires were then distributed among the teachers for group discussion.

Mr. McInnis opened the afternoon session. His topic was "Extending Language Skills Through Reading." He opened with the remark, "Nothing succeeds like observed success," and went on to say, "At any age you have to provide for success in the writing and speaking skills the rewards for the child are recognition and the effect of their words on others. These skills develop slowly and we must show that we respect their words. Never give too harsh an evaluation of their efforts."

Mr. McInnis demonstrated several ways to help build vocabulary and language skills.

A discussion period, during which the answers to the morning's questionnaire were evaluated, closed the afternoon session.

Dr. K. A. Parker expressed the thanks of the institute to the lecturers.

PC Member Critical Of Campbell Speech

"A masterpiece of nothing," Kampf, as "they seek to divide and conquer" in their attacks on cabinet ministers. ASKED NAMES

Mr. Dingwell asked the opposition to name members from their ranks who would replace some of the cabinet ministers. "Would the people change" he asked. "The answer is 'no.'"

According to Mr. Dingwell, the achievements of the Shaw government are "just commencing." He said the Conservatives will be "on this side of the House forever."

It was Mr. Dingwell's opinion that election "casualties" in the Liberal ranks "seem well taken care of" and possibly Mr. Campbell "may anticipate many casualties in the Liberal ranks before too many months have passed."
