ed to depend on East's having the ace of hearts. But the doctor worked out a play that succeeded even though West had the crucial ace.

He first cashed four diamond tricks, discarding a club from his hand. He next cashed five spades, discarding a heart and two clubs from dummy.

Ten tricks had been played, and this became the position:

North
♠ A J
♥ K 3
♦ K 9

South
♠ K 3
♥ Q 6

East had been forced to blank the queen of hearts to keep a club guard. West by natural play, was left with three hearts.

Dr. Apfel now led the three of hearts, and the defenders were helpless. If West won the trick, he would be compelled to return a heart, and declarer would have twelve tricks.

Of if West ducked the heart, East would win the trick and be forced to lead a club into dummy's A-J.

The same result would be achieved had the defenders' heart honors been reversed. Only if West had the A-Q of hearts would the contract be defeated, but if this had been the case, not even a doctor could help.

Padre Received Broom First Then Pilot's Wings And D.F.C.

COMOX, B.C. (CP)—The only RCAF padre wearing pilot's wings and the Distinguished Flying Cross is Flt. Lt. John K. Goldie, 43, a United Church minister and onetime clothing salesman, fighter and bomber pilot, lumber yard worker and soap salesman.

During the Second World War he flew 18 missions and was given the medal for "exceptional coolness and devotion to duty" on two sorties over enemy territory.

He graduated from high school in Regina in 1934. His ambitions to be a lawyer or a businessman were thwarted by the depression, and he took a job as a clothing salesman, he recalled in an interview at the RCAF station here.

When the Second World War broke out he joined the air force and found himself among a flow of recruits given routine jobs before their training as fighter pilots.

The clothing salesman in him came to the fore when he saw recruits being issued uniforms with scant regard to shape or size. "Finally over a broom I started suggesting more suitable sizes," said Padre Goldie. "The sergeant heard my remarks and was so pleased to find someone who knew something about the job that he recruited me as clothing depot specialist."

"He even promised me my corporal's stripes in a year."

But soon he was training to fly at Regina and Yorkton and with 110 flying hours he joined 58 pilots who headed overseas in 1941.

SHORT STAY

In England, he was chosen one of five to train as special fighter pilots with the RAF. Training stations were being heavily attacked so the five were shipped back to Canada to continue their course.

"Only eight months overseas and I wound up back in Saskatchewan," he said. "I put my name on the list to return overseas and after RAF instruction finally made it back in 1943."

This time he trained as a bomber pilot on four-engine Lancasters. But his first trip with a bomb load was "not as well organized as it might have been."

"We were not even supposed to have been on the raid and as a result didn't attend the briefing. They caught us at the last minute on the way to town and told us we would have to attend a short briefing and stand by for an all-out effort," he said.

There was trouble with the guns in the rear turret, but "we thought we could get away with it."

COOL OFFICER

Five trips later he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. The citation read in part: "Flt. Lt. Goldie was pilot of an aircraft detailed to attack Ludinghausen in December, 1944. It was his first sortie as captain. During the outward flight it was discovered that only one of the

One letter simply stands for another. In the example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
