THE CRIMEA

Rev. G. M. Campbell delivered his lecture on the "Crimea" in the basement of the First Methodist Church last evening. To say that the lecture was exceedingly interesting, and that the audience—the largest we have seen at a lecture for a considerable time—followed it throughout the hour and a half which its delivery occupied—is but putting it mildly. The subject—a good one for a lecture—was treated in that eloquent manner for which Mr. Campbell is so well known. He first gave a description of the Turkish and Russian nations at the time of the war, the causes which led to it, and the way in which France and England were drawn into the struggle. With the help of pictures thrown on the canvas by the lantern under the charge of Mr. Herbert Hazard, the great battles of Alma, Balaklava and Inkerman were brought vividly before the audience. As the lecturer told of the splendid heroism of the British soldiers in all their battles, and also of those in the last few years, of the praiseworthy work of Florence Nightingale and her assistants, as he recited most eloquently, Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," and Kipling's "Dargai Gap," and as he spoke of what Britain is able to do in battle if the hour of need should come upon her, the audience was wrought up to such a high pitch of enthusiasm that the applause was almost incessant.

A vote of thanks to the learned lecturer was moved by Hon. Frederick Brecken. Mr. Brecken crossed to England just at the time of the Battle of Alma, and he told several interesting stories of scenes in England during the war and after it was over. Mr. John McPherson seconded the vote of thanks, which was heartily endorsed by all present, and tendered the lecturer by the chairman, Major S. F. Hodgson. Among the pictures shown, was "The Thin Red Line," the picture that so interested Canadians last winter. Mr. Campbell explained that this is the picture of the Grandier Company of the 93rd Regiment, repelling a large body of the Russian cavalry who were endeavoring to attack the flank of the ninety-third, just at the beginning of the battle of Balaklava. The ninety-third were under command of Sir Colin Campbell. A detachment of the Charlottetown Engineers, with Lieuts. Lordy and Morris, attended the lecture in uniform.

CANADA LIFE COMPANY.

The meeting of policy-holders in the Canada Life Insurance Company, held in the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon was well attended, notwithstanding the brevity of the notice calling them together. The meeting was organized by calling ex-Councillor Hughes to the chair and selecting Mr. Peter Macdonald as secretary. The chairman explained the object for which the meeting had been called, (which has already been outlined by THE EXAMINER) and read the petition which deals with the whole matter. The policy-holders present were opposed to the change in the Company's constitution which allows a vote for every share, and all signed the petition.

The following resolution was then moved by Captain Thomas Taylor and seconded by Mr. W. W. Wellner, and unanimously adopted:—Resolved that the representatives of this province in the House of Commons and in the Senate be requested to support a measure to limit the number of votes given to a shareholder in the Canada Life Assurance Company as prayed for in the petition to the House of Commons now being signed by the policy holders, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Sir Louis H. Davies, K. C. M. G., John H. Bell, M. P., Alexander Martin, M. P., A. C. Macdonald, M. P., and B. D. McLellan, M. P., and to the Island members of the Senate.

It was decided to allow the petition to remain at the Apothecaries Hall until tomorrow, (Saturday) night, so that those policy-holders who have not yet signed it may have an opportunity of so doing. The Company's officers, it was explained, have refused to furnish a list of policy-holders and there was no means of ascertaining who they are so as to get their signatures.

STAMPER'S CORNER

THE EASTER CONCERT.

WHILE there has been retrogression in the political life of this Province, there has certainly been a marked advance in the social and artistic life of the people at large. This was made evident last evening, to the discriminating observer, in the tasteful manner in which the bare and unfinished basement of the new St. Dunstan's Cathedral was decorated with flags and bunting, in the grouping, pose and drapery of the statuary, and in the character and rendition of the music which the appreciative audience listened to for well-nigh three hours.

First of all, we must congratulate Mr. May and those who, under his direction, took part in the several scenes exhibited. Each scene was eminently beautiful and there was nothing in either to offend the prejudice or feelings of those who are not Catholics. This part of the entertainment was a distinct and unqualified success.

The musicians laboured under the disadvantage of performing in a very large unfinished hall to which they were unaccustomed. Of course the concerted and instrumental music—discoursed by Mr. Vinnicombe's orchestra, was excellent and effective, as it always is. The piano selection by the Misses Carroll, Horasby, Smith and E. Carroll, and the selections of the St. Cecilia Club, consisting of (mandoline) Misses Anderson, Murphy, Smith, Hogan, Gillis, Sheehan, Vanderstine, McDonald and McEachen; (banjo) Miss A. Murphy (Guitar) Miss J. Horasby; (piano) Miss May Carroll—were beautifully rendered, and it is needless to say that Mr. Vinnicombe's violin solo was performed in masterly style.

Coming to the vocal music, the ladies' quartette, consisting of the Misses Sheehan, Smith, Hogan, and Vanderstine, exhibited the results of careful culture, the voices being sweet, tuneful, and nicely blended. More vigor and less culture were exhibited by the young men from St. Dunstan's College, viz. Messrs. Eggleston, Roy, Belleau and Stewart, who sang without accompaniment. Yet the voices in this quartette are evidently of excellent quality and worthy of continued and careful training. Messrs. Owen, Bayfield, McLean and Earle's quartette was one of the most popular numbers of the programme, and the tone and manner of its rendition were unexceptionable. The same remark may be made concerning the duet sung by Miss Winifred Cotton and Mr. T. A. McLean, Jr., whose musical and well trained voices blended harmoniously in the rendition of one of Mendelssohn's beautiful compositions. In a duet, also, were blended the splendid voices of Professor Caven and Mr. Charles Hermans, who have long ranked among Charlottetown's favourite singers. The soloists were Miss Hettie Collings, Miss Amy Earle and Mrs. E. H. Norton,—all of whom were in good voice and sang effectively notwithstanding the great extent of the hall—and Messrs Brent McInnis, E. F. Ryan, of St. Dunstan's College, and Mr. Charles Earle,—all maintaining the reputations they have gained as popular singers.

Miss Evid McLean and Miss Lefurgey gave readings with effect, the former's being humorous, particularly for the old bachelors, and the latter's a powerful example of oratorical art.

The audience was, without doubt, the largest ever assembled within the limits of Charlottetown. It included, besides the Bishop and clergy, the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Howlan, the Chief Justice and Mrs. Sullivan, the Premier and Mrs. Farquharson, and persons of all classes and ranks in the city.

Much credit is due Miss Caven and other members of the committee of management. The hardest criticism we have to make is that they provided rather too much of a good thing.

PERSONAL

Mr. Thos. C. Savage, a Montreal commercial man, is among the guests at the Queen Hotel.

Mr. P. J. Quinn, representing Thibodeau Sons & Co., Montreal, is among the guest at the Hotel Davies.

Mr. William Wright and Mr. Frank Riley, two well known commercial travellers, are at the Hotel Davies.

Rev. T. F. Fullerton, and Rev. D. B. McLeod, were among the passengers to town by the western train this morning.

Mr. Henry Smith, chairman of the Board of Sewer and Water Commissioners, who has been on a business trip to Boston, returned to Charlottetown last evening.

Mr. James Smith, for many years steward on the S S Stanley, and now connected with the Black Diamond Line, left last night for Halifax, where he rejoins his steamer.

Mr. W. C. Kennedy, insurance inspector, who has been on a business trip to the other provinces, returned to Charlottetown, last evening. He is registered at the Hotel Davies.

Messrs F. L. Hazard and E. R. Brow, who have been to Portland, Me., investigating the condensed milk industry, returned to Charlottetown last night. It is expected that as a result of their visit a company will in all probability be formed here and that the factory will be in full swing by September next.

Mr. B. F. Messervey arrived home from England by the Stanley yesterday and came to town by the special last night. Mr. Messervey crossed in the Allan Line Carthaginian which arrived in Halifax early Wednesday morning. The Carthaginian brought out altogether six hundred and four passengers. There were three hundred and seventeen steerage passengers, among whom were Galicians, Armenians, Jews, Norwegians, Swedes, Danes, Poles, Finns, Bohemians, Germans and Italians, mostly bound for the Canadian North-west.

Local and Other Items.

THE WEATHER.—Mostly fair to-day, showery to-morrow.

THE MAILS. The foreign mail is now due in Charlottetown, daily, about 7.45.

POLICE COURT.—One drunk, D. V. Manoney, was this morning fined $2 or 10 days.

MOTHERS.—The mother's study club will meet in the Kindergarten to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock.

DRILL.—Engineers will drill this evening at the Drill Shed, at 8 o'clock sharp. Every member must attend. By order. Plain clothes.

LANDMARK REMOVED.—The large tree which has for years stood at the Apothecaries Hall corner was cut down this morning.

S. O. E.—Attention! A full attendance of the members of both lodges is requested in the lodge room this (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock to make arrangements for the annual church parade, also for a social.

THE STANLEY.—The Stanley crossed to Pictou this morning and will leave on return for Georgetown on arrival of the train at Pictou, which is about two o'clock. Captain Finlayson reports that there is still too much ice in the gulf for him to attempt to make Charlottetown; so we shall probably not have the Stanley here for some days to come.

SMART NEWSBOY.—Jerry Doiron is the second newsboy who has secured the full list of prizes offered as premiums for selling DAILY EXAMINER'S. Yesterday he presented his card punched for 2,400 papers which entitled him to a suit of clothes value $6, and now he is going around dressed to kill. These prizes are given in addition to the usual commission, and any boy who wishes to sell the DAILY EXAMINER, is entitled to all the benefits which are explained on the card given him when he begins to sell.

LOYAL CIRCLE.—The reunion of the Loyal Circle of King's Daughters in St. Paul's Schoolroom yesterday afternoon was very successful. The paper by Miss Anderson, on "Impressions Gathered in France," was both entertaining and instructive and was followed with the closest attention. The pie and candy tables were presided over by Mrs. Norton and Miss Carey and sales were brisk. A similar remark applies to the candy bureau, which was looked after by Mrs. Auld and Miss Amy Palmer. Five o'clock tea was served by Mrs Taylor and Miss Palmer; and Miss Longworth received the toll. The proceeds are to go towards the furnishing of a room in the new P. E. Island Hospital.

THE MILITIA.—We are requested to publish the following paragraph from the Militia Act, which refers to men refusing to turn out when called upon to do so in such cases as a guard of honor or other special parades:—"An officer, non-commissioned officer or man, who without lawful excuse neglects or refuses to attend any parade or drill or training at the place and hour appointed, or who refuses or neglects to obey any lawful order or concerning such parade or training, a penalty, if an officer, $10, if a non-commissioned officer or man, $5 for each offence, absence for each day being a separate offence." As the new Major General is a believer in carrying out the Act to its fullest extent it would be well for all who have been in the custom of treating calls for drill with indifference to govern themselves accordingly. These fines are collected by a court of civil law.

Things to Make a Note of.

Messrs. Rogers & Rogers' graphophone at the concert and basket social in Mechanics hall tonight.

Cake, coffee, home-made candy, and fruit at the concert and basket social in Mechanics hall tonight.

The committees of the Abegweit, Crescent and Anchor clubs will meet in the Crescent rooms to-night at 7.30.

Reserve Tuesday the 25th of April for the Pronouncing Bee and entertainment to be held in the school room of the First Methodist church; half the proceeds in aid of the new P. E. Island Hospital.
