Anybody having trouble with cottons?

Practically everybody wears cottons frequently at this time of year, if not all year round, and most of us have come to expect cotton shirts, blouses or other pieces of apparel to fit well after each washing. That's because the vast bulk of cotton goods on the market today are pre-shrunk. (Pre-shrinking is often called the "sanitized" treatment.) However, some housewives have been finding lately that some cottons have apparently shrunk, even though they were guaranteed not to.

This trouble, in nearly every instance, can be traced back to the fact that the clothes were tumble-dried, either at home or in a professional laundry.

Tumble-drying doesn't actually shrink the cottons at all, but it appears to do so because it causes dozens of tiny, almost invisible wrinkles which cause the garment to cover a slightly smaller area.

You can remedy this situation by redampening the fabric and pressing it. In future, you can avoid this trouble by removing the cottons from the dryer when they are still slightly moist; then smooth and fold them and stack them on the warm top of the dryer.

If you prefer professional laundry-drying and would like to get the clothes back in a tumble-dried condition, it would pay you to keep this problem in mind and perhaps consider buying your cotton garments in a slightly larger size in future, to allow for this discrepancy, which is not the fault of the manufacturer or the launderer.

The R.C.A.F. Summerside Station Soccer Club

The RCAF Summerside Station Soccer Club cordially challenges any provincial (P.E.I.) Soccer Club to a soccer tournament at R.C.A.F. Station Summerside. The winning team will be recognized by the Canadian Football Association as Provincial Champions and as such will be eligible to compete in the Dominion play-offs. Hillsboro Company Submits Lowest Tender For Approach

The Hillsboro Construction Company of Charlottetown and Montague submitted the lowest bid for construction of the southern approach to the new Hillsboro Bridge, it was revealed Friday when tenders were opened in the office of Minister of Highways George MacKay. The Hillsboro Co. is at present constructing the northern approach to the bridge. The two other firms that submitted tenders for the job were Curran and Briggs, Ltd., and Morrison and McRae, Ltd. both of Summerside. The Hillsboro bid of $269,240 was more than $35,000 less than the bid entered by Morrison and McRae, their nearest competitors. The Curran and Briggs tender was $331,840. At 44 cents a ton on class No. 1 fill, Hillsboro were 15 1/2 cents less per ton than Morrison and McRae and 16 cents less than the Curran and Briggs bid. On class No. 2 fill, the Hillsboro bid of 69 cents a ton was 4 cents less than Morrison and McRae and 13 cents a ton less than Curran and Briggs. Class No. 1 fill is the ordinary sandstone fill while class No. 2 fill is sandstone fill of a larger size.
