Livestock Lost As Fire Destroys Newton Barn

SUMMERSIDE — Thirty-four cattle, six pigs, and a horse were lost in a fire which destroyed a large barn and a pig house, together with all their contents, at the farm home of Louis Mulligan, in Newton, about two miles from Kinkora, shortly before noon yesterday.

The fire was first discovered from the house by Mrs. Mulligan's 19-year-old daughter Adelaide who observed smoke pouring from the eave of the large barn which had been remodelled only a few years ago.

The separator, milking machine, oats, hay, and straw were destroyed in the fire, along with the livestock. A calf and a horse were the only animals that were saved.

assisted by a pumper truck from the Summerside Fire Department, were able to keep the flames from destroying the residence, and a wood shed. The machine shed, with tractor, and all the farm machinery, was also saved from the flames.

Because there was no nearby source of water, several trucks hauled water to the scene from some distance away for the use of the fire pumper trucks.

The origin of the fire which appeared to have been in the loft area is unknown, and although Mr. Mulligan had left the building only about 20 minutes previous to the discovery of the fire, there was no evidence of anything unusual at that time. Only a small amount of insurance was carried on the loss.

S' Side Man Draws $500 Fine For Possessing Illegal Spirits

SUMMERSIDE—A Summerside man was handed a stiff $500 fine when convicted in Magistrate's Court here Tuesday on a charge of illegal possession of 60 gallons of spirits, unlawfully manufactured.

The accused also had to pay costs of $33.50. Another man was convicted on the same charge and was remanded for one week for sentence at the request of his defence counsel, J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C. Mr. Campbell represented both men.

It was the second conviction of the second man under the Excise Act. Minimum sentence is a six-month jail term plus a $500 fine. In default of payment of the fine, an additional six months is added to the jail sentence.

The two men were arrested last August after RCMP officers located a large supply of the illegal spirits in a thicket on the Northumberland Street extension. Much of it was found buried in the ground.

Defence Counsel Campbell said he would apply for a writ of Habeas Corpus on the grounds that the defence was not permitted to have the photographs of the fingerprints found on some of the bottles examined by an independent expert.
