SCOTT ACT.—On Saturday a summons was served on James Cummings. It is for a second offence and is returnable on Wednesday.

ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT.—We understand that there will be a concert at Kelly's Cross on St. Patrick's night, when a good programme will be presented.

SKATING RACES.—A good programme of races to take place in the Hillsborough Rink on Wednesday evening, the 22nd inst. is advertised in another column.

THE IMMORTAL BURNS.—The anniversary concert to be given in the Opera House will be the most national of all the concerts given yet. Friday, the 24th inst., is the date fixed. The programme will be published this week.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The Week of Prayer was fittingly ended yesterday with an exchange of pulpits, all the clergymen taking part. The pulpits were occupied as announced on Saturday, except that the Rev. Mr. Kirby preached in the Christian Church, Upper Great George Street.

CENTRAL CREAMERY NOTES.—During last week 4500 lbs. of butter were churned. An order was filled on Saturday for H. M. S. Terror, now stationed at Bermuda. The butter was put up in hermitically-sealed packages and will go forward by the steamer Alpha from Halifax.

THE CROSSLEY-HUNTER MISSION.—We note in the Christian Guardian of the 8th inst. a letter from Rev. Mr. Kirby respecting the Crossley-Hunter mission in this city. Mr. Kirby reports that the number of professing converts resulting from the mission reaches about three hundred, not including the "backsliders returned" and those who for some reason declined to give their names.

DIED FROM THE EFFECTS.—It will be remembered that three children of Mr. Edward Hogg of New Annan were accidentally poisoned by Paris Green on New Year's Day. They were thought to be recovering nicely, but a day or two ago, according to the Guardian, they took a relapse and on Friday one of them, Lemuel, died from the effects of the poison and two others are not expected to live.

LAST SAD TRIBUTE.—On Saturday afternoon the body of Mr. Wilbert Harris, whose recent death at Boston has already been referred to, was committed to the earth. The funeral took place from his father's residence, Malpeque Road, and the interment was in the People's Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Emery, assisted by Rev. Mr. Kirby. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The pall-bearers were Arthur Mellish, W. Pickard, Louis Whear, A. A. Bruce, Arthur Saunders and Fred. Kennedy.

HORSES KILLED. — The Agriculturist says: On Thursday evening last the train from Charlottetown to Summerside, when about opposite the late Wm. Yeo's place at Traveller's Rest, struck two horses, which suddenly appeared on the track, and the engine and freight car went over them, killing them instantly and cutting them all to pieces. It was very fortunate that the engine did not leave the rails, as the accident would then in all likelihood have been the cause of much loss of life, as it occurred on an embankment about eight feet high. The fact of the engine remaining on the rails, under the circumstances, is certainly remarkable. It is reported that the horses were owned by Mr. Stutley Yeo.

FROZEN TO DEATH. — On Wednesday last, says the Berwick Register, a young man named Watson Allen of Nicholsville, left the residence of Mr. Isaac Johnson in that place to visit the lumber camp of Mr. A. A. McNeill, taking some clothes to his brother who was employed there. He reached the camp and had dinner there. About three o'clock he left to return to his home, which he never reached. His absence at night caused little alarm, and it was supposed he decided to spend the night at the camp. On Thursday morning it was found that he was lost and a searching party was organized. On Saturday morning his dead body was found near Conquerall, about three miles from the camp, and only a few hundred yards from the place where the body of James Wiggles, who was lost from the same camp, was found a few weeks before.

REV MR HAMLYN'S FAREWELL

The Rev. Mr. Hamlyn preached his farewell sermon to the congregation of St. Paul's last evening. The church was filled, and the congregation included many of Mr. Hamlyn's friends from other denominations. In the course of his sermon the reverend gentlemen spoke of the many kindnesses received by himself and his family during their stay in Charlottetown, and referred to the blessings that had fallen upon the church during the period of his rectorship. He said that although thousands of miles might separate them, the tie of Christian fellowship that united him and the congregation of St. Paul's could not be broke through all eternity and he would ever take the deepest interest in all that pertained to the church.

A farewell meeting was held in Zion Church after the regular service by the Young People's Societies of the city churches. The church was thronged, even the aisles being crowded. Rev D. Sutherland presided, and appropriate selections were rendered by a union choir. Rev. Mr. Kirby led in prayer. Short addresses were given by Messrs. Corey and Campbell, and also by Elder Stevenson, all of whom referred in very kind terms to Mr. Hamlyn's rectorship in this city, and especially his active, enthusiastic and successful work in the Christian Endeavor Society. The last speaker, Rev. Mr. Campbell, presented Mr. Hamlyn with an appropriate address signed by the President in behalf of the different Young People's Societies of Charlottetown, to which the rev. gentleman made a fitting reply.

At the railway men's meeting yesterday afternoon Rev. Mr. Hamlyn was presented with a copy of their hymn book, with music and supplement complete.

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Rev. John Goldsmith, of Vernon River, writes to the Christian Guardian respecting the Domestic Missions of the Methodist Church, arguing that "the present state of things cannot continue" and suggesting:

"1. That the men who are now suffering wake up, form a definite policy, lay down a definite platform, and then so use their ballots on the floor of district meeting and Conference as to give a gentle surprise to any who may seem indisposed to fall into line.

2. That the question of the readjustment of the 'work' in each Conference be referred to a strong committee; with the understanding that the Stationing Committee shall ratify the decisions arrived at.

3. The appointment of a superintendent of missions and semi-independent circuits for each Conference, one-half of whose salary should be paid by the General Missionary Society, and one-half from the Conference Sustentation Fund.

4. That the missions and semi-independent circuits, as such, and the ministers laboring upon them, as such, be given each a representative upon the Stationing Committees of their respective Conferences.

5. That no more candidates for the ministry be accepted until the ministerial staff in the older sections of the Dominion shall have been considerably reduced."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHERE IS THE PATRIOT?

SIR,—THE EXAMINER is with us on the salary question. So is the Guardian; but where is the Liberal Patriot?

TEACHER.

CORNER LOAFERS,

SIR,—It is now several months since the citizens were treated to the edifying spectacle of Charlottetown's "finest" drawn up in martial array before the Stipendiary Magistrate and Marshal Cameron, and given final instructions concerning "charivaris" and corner loafing. I believe they were seen on several occasions performing the hazardous duty of taking down names of corner-loafers. But nothing has yet come of these hoodlums. This, I believe, is about the only civilized city that permits the corners and doorways to be infested with these loafers. How long are we going to allow this thing to go on? If the "shake-up" of the force was intended simply to frighten the loafers, it has sadly missed its mark. I feel sure the officers' time cannot be altogether occupied in the heavy duties of serving summonses. The infusion of new life by our local Teddy Roosevelts does not seem to have any material change for the better.

SUFFERER.

WORK FOR THE LEAGUE.

SIR,—Have the citizens any guarantee that this Citizens' League is to be permanent, or is it simply a migratory bird, one of those "ships that pass in the night?" It has taken the members a long time to get it under way, if its aim is to enforce the Scott Act. If its aim is to provide for the enforcement of the Scott Act, they are mighty slow about it. The number of saloons they find is about sixty; there has been no increase in the number summoned since the league organized; the same old order of things continues. Drunken fathers can be seen going home to their little ones every night—sent home by men who have never been summoned in their life. Any night in the week you can see poor women with their basket on their arm coming out of shops—and what's in it? It certainly is not eatables. Sir, I believe there is not the right spirit in the men composing the so-called Citizens' League. If they were in earnest they certainly should be able to have more than a paltry three or four summoned each week out of about one hundred dispensers.

TRUE TEMPERANCE.

TEACHERS SUPPLEMENTS.

SIR,—The writer in Friday evening's EXAMINER will be obliged to adduce some additional facts concerning the working of our School Board, and shed a little more light on the subject at issue than the three stars which constitute his signature before the citizens will swallow the pill. The School Board seem to possess the faculty of erring the same as ordinary mortals, as when they had everything prepared some time ago to inaugurate two sessions daily in the schools. But they were met with such a strong protest in your columns that they thought discretion the better part of valor and allowed matters to go on as at present. Now concerning this supplement matter. I agree with you that experience should cut as great, if not a greater figure, than a few months passed in studying for a higher license. It is well to encourage younger teachers, but not at the expense of the veteran and experienced ones. Looking at the list I cannot, for instance, account for a third-class teacher of two years' experience getting an increase of $25, while a second-class teacher of twenty-three years' experience suffers a cut of $50. Take three third-class teachers of about the same experience in teaching, where one might reasonably expect the supplement to be nearly the same in each case, and there is a surprising difference in the amounts voted. Or take two second-class teachers, one having taught for thirty-four years and the other for twenty-three years and there is a reduction of $50.30 for one and only $22.60 for the other! Will someone on the Board tell us what rule of arithmetic they followed to arrive at these figures, and if it may be found in the current text-book? No doubt the Board may entertain a partizan or friendly feeling like any other body, but there is a limit.

CITIZEN.

THE WATER CARRIAGE SYSTEM,

Wherever the water carriage system is used for the removal of excreta it is very desirable that sewers should be provided. But as many suburban communities may not yet have provided sewers, and many good house are frequently being built in isolated places where sewers cannot be expected to be constructed for a long time, it becomes important to consider the substitutes for sewers in such cases. The ordinary way is to dig a hole in the ground and line it with loose stone and honeycomb brickwork, into which the sewerage may be led, and from which it is hoped it may soak away into the soil and be out of sight. . . . But this method can never be satisfactory. The great risk of all such contrivances is the contamination of the soil, and the drinking water, where this is drawn from wells or cisterns on the same premises. Dr. C. F. Folsom, Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Health, relates in the Medical and Surgical Journal for March, 1880, that a well which he tested was proved beyond doubt to be contaminated by a privy vault one hundred feet distant, the well being sixteen feet deep. There was no unusual taste in the water, but suspicion had been directed to it from typhoid fever among those who drank its water. They store up the filth in the soil just deep enough below the surface to be out of sight, and out of the reach of the absorbent powers of grass roots, while even when ventilated they do not give access to a sufficient amount of air in contact with the decaying mass of organic matter to insure its decomposition. The soil close about them soon becomes saturated with a vile compound, filling its pores by degrees, and finally refusing to carry off even the water, except during the driest part of the year. Such contamination of the soil in the neighborhood of dwelling houses is, under all circumstances, to be avoided.—From the American Sanitary Engineer by Edward S. Philbrick, C. E.
