In view of these figures and what we see and know, nothing is more certain than that a mistake was made either in the count of last year or that of 1881, or both.

The population of the Province was, according to the returns, 94,021 in 1871 ; 108,891 in 1881 ; and 109,080 in 1891.

A Mare's Nest.

A cultured but cranky man, named Davin, gave publicity a few days ago, through the Regina Leader to a statement that the Hon. Mr. Dewdney had engaged in a speculation in land near Regina. It is reported that after reading this statement Mr. Dewdney said :

"He was well acquainted with the man Green referred to in the Leader's paragraph. Green had been strongly recommended to him to take charge of some thoroughbred horses he was sending out to the Northwest. After Green had been out there with the horses some years, and had faithfully discharged his trust, he asked Mr. Dewdney's advice as to a good location. Mr. Dewdney had heard that the C. P. R. was likely to pass what is now Regina, and strongly counselled his taking up land in that vicinity. Green went there to investigate, and found several squatters there, who all advised him to join them in taking up land in that locality. He mentioned Mr. Gore, among others, as a gentleman who had recommended him to settle there. He did so, and is now the owner of land there, the particulars of which can be had at any time by reference to the records of the department Green had made all necessary payments and performed all the duties and was in possession to-day, a bona fide settler. The land is near the town site of Regina.

"How much are you interested financially in that land, Mr. Dewdney?"

"Not to the extent of one solitary dollar or cent," replied the Minister. "I am not and never was. I was only anxious to see Green well settled, as he gave up a good position in Winnipeg to accompany me to the Northwest."

Unless this statement of the Minister of the Interior can be disproved, the charge, about which columns of Grit vituperation have already been expended, falls to the ground. The statement of the Toronto Globe that Baroness Macdonald was concerned in the transaction is of course as fasle as it is cowardly.

VICE ADMIRALTY COURT.—The Heather Belle Fastnet case is still before the Court. Mr. Rankin, of Halifax, took the stand on Saturday evening and his evidence was not concluded up to recess to-day. Mr. Rankin is a practical iron ship builder, and was one of the men who examined the Fastnet after the collision and assessed the damage sustained by her.

A large stock of gents' stylish hats received to-day at Jas Paton & Co's, Brown's Block.

The Tunnel.

THE Toronto Mail points out that the interest on the cost of the proposed Northumberland Straits tunnel will be $215,000 a year; estimates that the receipts will be about $78,000; and, assuming that the estimates of expense must, necessarily, be exceeded, draws the conclusion that the annual loss to Canada will be at least $150,000.

But the Mail leaves out of its account the cost of the Stanley; also the cost of the ice-boat service; also the difference in the earnings of the P. E. Island Railway as a result of continuous communication winter and summer. These items have been shown to amount to about $200,000 a year.

This amount ought not to be omitted. Give it the proper place in the account, and the Mail will see—assuming that the figures it has already given are correct—that instead of an annual loss to Canada of $150,000, here will be an annual gain of $50,000.

France Suspicious.

SHE FEARS THAT BRITAIN CONTEMPLATES TAKING POSSESSION OF TANGIER.

The troubles in the Tangier district of Morocco and the despatching by the British government of two warships, the Grappler and Thunderer, to protect British interests in Tangier, has awakened a feeling in some French quarters that England has the intention of adding to her territory by the forcible acquisition of a part of the Sultan of Morocco's dominions. This feeling is not in any degree allayed by the reports from Tangier, which state that the British minister has warned the governor that if he cannot guarantee the safety of the city against the rebel tribes, sailors will be landed from the British warships. This is taken by alarmists to mean aggressions on the part of the British and the Seicle to-day demands that the government despatch the entire French Mediterranean squadron to Tangier to prevent the British from carrying out any designs of an aggressive character.

The Matin says it is rumored that the French Mediterranean fleet has already been despatched to Tangier.

Canon Farrar on Woman.

If it be true that the "corner stone of the Commonwealth is the hearthstone," how important is the work of every woman, even in that sphere of family life which many are tempted to despise as too narrow for their energies. Every woman should, indeed, aim at doing good in wider regions of life, and should endeavour by the irresistable force of sweet and silent influence, if in no other way, to raise the whole tone of national thought and conduct. But even if a woman, whether married or unmarried, be "never heard of half a mile from home," the purity and loftiness of her ideal, the devoted unselfishness of her life, may tell with immense and continuous power upon every member of her family. The bright invisible air produces effects more stupendous when no whisper of a breeze is heard than all the fury of the passing hurricane; and the influence, conscious and unconscious, of thousands of women, entirely unknown to fame, may go to the enoblement of the moral being of generations yet unborn. Men are, and ever will be, what their wives and sisters, and above all their mothers, tend to make them, by influence which begins with the cradle and ends only with the grave.—Canon Farrar in the January Ladies' Home Journal.

Personal

The Czarina is ill and unable to leave her apartments.

Ernest Wilhelm Brucks, the well-known German physician, is dead, aged 72.

Henry Irving's production of Henry VIII, at the Lyceum, London, is said to surpass all his previous efforts.

Committees of ladies have been formed in Rome and Florence to present wedding gifts to Princess Victoria Mary of Teck.

Wm. Buttermore has just died at Perth Road, Ont., aged 102 years.

Rosa Kohner, 19 years old, a native of Bohemia, committed suicide in New York the other day by jumping from the roof of a five story tenement house. Inability to procure work was the cause.

Sir Glyn Petrie, British minister to Portugal, has resigned, giving ill-health as the cause.

Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, has conferred upon Marquis di Rudini, the Italian Prime Minister, the decoration of the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Stephen of Hungary.

Business College.

Read what Chief Superintendent McLeod says of the Charlottetown Business College:

To Principal L. B. Miller, Charlottetown Business College and Writing Academy.

Dear Sir,—The very large attendance at the Business College this year, necessitating you to open on Saturdays, is abundant evidence of the excellence of the institution over which you preside I would strongly advise all who contemplate entering active business life to spend at least one term at the Charlottetown Business College.

Yours truly,
(Signed) D J. McLEOD,
Chief Supt. Education.

Odds and Ends

Beecher's words uphold our motto :

Go
Right
On Working

and you will grow.

Who reads incessantly,
And to his reading brings not
A spirit and judgment equal or superior,
Uncertain and unsettled still remains;
Deep-versed in books, but shallow in himself.
—Milton.

No man is born into the world whose work is not born with him. There is always work, and tools to work withal, for those who will; and blessed are the horny hands of toil,

Try to frequent the company of your betters. In books and life that is the most wholesome society. Learn to admire rightly; the great pleasure of life is that. Note what great men admired: they admired great things; narrow spirits admire basely and worship meanly.—Thackeray.

The anecdote is revived of the Lincoln's Inn judge who recognized three degrees of liars : the liar, the —— liar, and the expert witness. This in view of the election trial.

The Austro-Hungarian war office has just introduced the use of bloodhounds for military outpost service in Bosnia, Herzegovnia and Dalmatia, a certain number of these animals having been allotted to each of the regiments serving in those provinces. This is a return to an ancient usage. According to some Greek writers, dogs of this or some kindred species were employed by the Romans in battle with the Gauls.

Those who believed in the substitution of beer and light wines for ardent spirits as a temperance measure used to point to the experience of France But France is fast losing her reputation as a country of temperate people. Mr. Hughes le Roux, in an article in the Fortnightly Review, says that the figures of the chief medical officer of the prefecture of police show that lunacy has increased in Paris in the last sixteen years some 30 per cent. The increase is due to the prevalence of two morbid types, general paralysis and alcoholic insanity. Alcoholic insanity is twice as prevalent now as it was fifteen years ago.
