

SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE.
190 Members Enrolled.

The enrollment of the Summer School has reached the unprecedented number of 190. This school has got a firm hold of the teachers of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. It is a pity that the teachers of P. E. Island do not avail themselves of the advantages arising from attendance upon the school.

To the school was given the opportunity of being the first excursion to pass over the new Coast Railway now in course of construction between Yarmouth and Halifax. The line is a narrow gauge, well built and equipped.

The day of the excursion was not so favorable as could have been desired. It rained at intervals during the day, making the walking unfavorable. This excursion (as all the others in connection with this year's summer school) has been provided by the Town Council of Yarmouth without cost to the members. Dr. Bailey completed his course of lectures on Geology on Friday, the 16th inst., and left on Saturday morning. His lectures were among the most largely attended of any in the school and the interest started in this subject in the minds of many will not soon die out. Many already are planning to explore the Geology of their vicinities during the interim between this and next year's school and return to meet Dr. Bailey next year with an account of the rock formations of their neighborhoods.

In thus starting students in the investigation of natural objects consists one of the greatest benefits to be derived from the school.

GOLDWIN SMITH ON LAURIER.

The Professor Thinks His Conversion to Imperial Federation Sudden.

Prof. Goldwin Smith (Bystander), in the Farmers San this week, twists Sir Wilfrid Laurier over his suspiciously sudden conversion to the Imperial federation. "A month ago," he says, "everyone would have said that Mr. Laurier was thoroughly opposed to Imperial federation. Such had been the tendency of all his public utterances; such was the impression of all who had conversed with him, and his antagonists were even in the habit of taunting him with disloyalty to Europe. After a fortnight of England with its dinners, its ovations and fascinations, he old the changing Mr. Laurier, is looking forward with rapture to the time when Canada will be represented in the Imperial Parliament, and is vowing that to take his seat there, would, if he were young enough, be the highest prize of his own ambition, a prize higher than any that Canada holds out. As it is in Mr. Laurier's case, it would be even more in other cases. The Canadian delegate, sent under imperial federation to the Imperial Parliament, would fall completely under the influence of London society, and would cease to be a trustworthy representative of colonial interests. The end would probably be disappointment with the results of federation, a struggle to get loose from it, and perhaps a quarrel with the Imperial country instead of the closer tie of affection which it is the object of federationists to form.

Do You Use It?

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. But the roots must be there. If you wish your hair to retain its normal color, or if you wish to restore the lost tint of gray or faded hair use Ayer's Hair Vigor.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING IN THE MARKET HALL.

Although the temperance people have suffered defeat in the vote of yesterday, it would be hard to conceive how they would have been much more jubilant had they gained the victory than they were last night. There was a ring of triumph rather than defeat about the speeches, and the audience as well. The party seemed to be jubilant with the feeling that they had fought a good fight, and with a pure ballot, clean hands and clear consciences they had done the best they could. Mr. Huggan presided, and the audience was excellent. The meeting opened with the hymn "Hold the Fort," and the Rev. Mr. Sutherland engaged in prayer.

Mr. Spence was the first speaker and he enthused his audience with the feeling that while the temperance people were defeated they were not conquered. Defeat with them was not disaster, there was a majority against the Act but the true majority was in favor of right and truth and God. A certain conqueror said of a great victory, "One more such victory and I shall be lost." So that the defeat may be what temperance people need, and this defeat may bring us nearer victory. He expressed his thanks to all who had helped the cause, the chairman, the organization, the executive committee, the ladies, and all who helped to run up the 673 votes for "God at home and native land." As to the future: "Don't delay organization till a few days before the vote next time. Keep organized and be ready for the fight three years from now. Never ask for a license but get ready for the next fight, then take political action and have your men ready for the positions to be opened. Don't give politics all over to the devil and then whine about the consequences. Then remember that the community is now in greater peril than with the Act. You must work more for the tempted and save the young. Let us manufacture public opinion. Lead up the old gun and get ready to sweep the whole traffic away for ever.

The Rev. Mr. Campbell was the next speaker and expressed himself in fullest accord with the sentiments of Mr. Spence. He was glad he was one of the 673 who voted no rum. Some were asking now where is thy God? But God is still on our side. We do not mourn over defeat nor become discouraged but get on the armour for a stronger fight than ever. He made a very effective address.

Mr. Corey spoke next and said the music outside was the funeral dirge in which all the rummies should join. He was glad we didn't buy any votes, nor have the flask round corners as he had seen it to day. We had also gentlemen at the booth and not bleary-eyed, bloated fellows like the other side had. He would like to add thanks to the contributors all over the island who had so nobly sent money to help their cause showing the great sympathy outside the city as well as inside. He had washed his hands of the curse and had clean hands and a clear conscience.

The Rev. Mr. Kirby spoke next and said he had been thinking of the word of God which came to him when he saw the figures going on the blackboard, viz. "More is he that is for us than all they that can be against us." He also seemed to hear the voice of a wife and mother who said a few days ago, "For gracious sake don't lose the Act for what shall I do when you have free run?" To-night that mother may be weeping in her room and her kind husband down town joining the evil victors. He believed because the Act had not been enforced it and because the cases of perjury had not been dealt with by them that defeat had come this time, but the flag of temperance never goes back and a greater victory for prohibition is on ahead.

The Rev. Mr. Sutherland spoke next and rang out the fact that to be defeated was not to be conquered. He was sad with the facts which came to him from his latest English mail that the rum business had swelled since the year 1837 from 74,000,000 sterling to 142 millions sterling. It is true the crown is taken off the head of this city, but his hand had never struck a blow at it with his bal-oo. He would rather be crucified with truth in the minor than be in the majority in wrong.

The speakers were frequently applauded and the whole meeting was most enthusiastic and encouraging for the future.

The Prince of Wales, in honor of his appointment as Grand Master and Principal Knight of the Grand Cross of the Bath, gave a splendid banquet at the St. James Palace. More than seventy members of the Order of the Bath were present. A beautiful silver dinner service from Marlborough House was used at the banquet. No such banquet ever occurred at the St. James Palace within the memory of the Queen's retainers, and, therefore, it was a rather historical ceremony. The guests including the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg, Strelitz, the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, the Duke of Cambridge, Prince Charles of Denmark, the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimer, the Duke of Teck, Prince Christian of Denmark, a number of generals, Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador to the United States, and others. The Prince of Wales worked hard to make the function a great success.
