REPORT ON THE LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:
"We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis.
The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first Irish National Land League.

The regular meeting of the Charlottewon Land League was held on Monday evening, the 18th inst. P. D. Cox, Esq., Vice-President, occupied the chair. Business of a preliminary character having been disposed of,

Mr. J. L. Trainor spoke briefly on the work of the Land League, and thought more attention should be given to the study of Irish history by the members of this organization. He concluded by reading, from the New York Tablet, a very able address of James Redpath's.

Mr. John P. McCarron read the eloquent address delivered recently by the Rev. Dr.
McGlynn, at a Land League demonstration in Cleveland, Ohio. Among other things, the Rev. gentleman said if he did not see that the doctrine of "The Land for the People" was clearly in the line of true political economy, that it was true as a matter of natural justice and, therefore, of natural religion, he would not be there before them that day.

M. P. Hogan, Esq., being called upon, offered a few remarks; and stated it gave him much pleasure, while absent from the Island, to see the interest that was manifested in Irish affairs by the people of the different cities he visited.

Messrs. P. Connolly and B. Doherty also spoke encouragingly, and said we should continue to exert ourselves, as a great deal yet remained to be accomplished.
Meeting adjourned till next Monday evening.

EDWARD C. GRANT,
Secretary.
Sept. 19, 1882.

From a New York Letter.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.
An interesting sensation has been created by the arrival and encampment of a body of gypsies, whose quarters are near the Central Park. These people claim to be from England, and are taking part in the rehearsals of "The Romany Rye," the promised dramatic sensation with which the management of Booth's Theatre are about to inaugurate the season. Their picturesque and showy raggedness and squalor, peculiarities of physique, their tents and wagons, numerous live-stock and crowds of wild-looking, dusky-skinned, dark-eyed, and dirty children, are quite an attraction to leisurely New Yorkers, and, it is said, women are spending considerable money in the encouragement of the Sybils of the camp, who spend their days in turning to financial account their "skill in palu-stry" and telling fortunes by the cards.

This enterprise on their part, makes the presence of Gypsy women in camp quite infrequent during the day. The men maintain the traditional weakness of their nation for horse trades. The presence of an unlimited number of vagabondishlooking dogs adds liveliness to the encampment, which is a realization of some of George Borrow's unrivalled descriptions, in the heart of the greatest commercial city of this continent.

What promises to become a general revolution in the matter of lighting is an accomplished fact in the lower part of the city, where thousands of electric lamps are in use in newspaper offices, printing offices, etc. Preparations were in progress a year and a half before the lighting became partially practicable.
Mr. Edison is the presiding genius in the supply of illumination, which is either provided directly from the works owned by the Edison Company, or from machinery supplied by them to individual firms who prefer to own their proper sources of supply. At the present time, excluding these, many buildings in the area bounded by Spruce, Wall, Nassau and Pearl streets are nightly aglow with the soft, steady, mellow and pleasant light of incandescent lamps. It is expected that, in a short time, electric motors, instead of steam, will be used in the production of the current in all cases where great power is required.

Two new wrinkles charged upon the Fashionable Women.
Two new wrinkles are charged upon the fashionable women of New York by a correspondent of the "Cincinnati Enquirer." The first is fiddling:
"It is not rare now to meet a finely dressed girl with a boy carrying one of those black, coffin-shaped boxes which formerly were lugged by professional musicians or fiddlers. She is on her way to or from her violin lesson. Pretty soon she will stand up before the guests in her papa's parlor, tuck one end of a fiddle under her chin, and torture her company's ears while delighting their eyes. However horrible may be the noise produced she will look well during the process of making it." The second freak of fashion is represented to be a pray or genuine prayer rugs from the East, such as a Mohammedan uses.
They are usually about three by four feet in size, and can be distinguished by the design, which always represents some large figure at one end and pointed at the other. Places are indicated for the hands and knees. Devout woman procure the real things from an importer, and, without facing Mecca, bumping their heads on the floor, or removing their shoes and stockings, like the sons of the Prophet, still actually do use them to kneel on while praying. They are said to be a great comfort.

Current Notes.

The other day the Pope received from London a gift of 100,000 francs, the sender of which implored the Apostolic benediction.
Several offerings of large sums have lately been made in this way from England and from America, and they have gone far to supplement the reduction in the amount of Peter's pence, which in other parts of the world have fallen off.

General Tchernieff, the Russian Governor of Yakutsk, has been assuring a correspondent of the London Times that "if England and Russia should mutually arrange their interests in Central Asia, they would have no need to quarrel; and that if ever there should be serious trouble it would not be the fault of Russia." It was something like that the monkey said to the cat when it induced the too credu-lous tabby to pull the chestnuts out of the fire.

Gilbert and Sullivan's forthcoming opera has been named "The Princess Pearl." The hero is Strephon, the son of a fairy mother and of a father who is only fairy from the waist down. The characters and plot mix fairies and mortals comically.
Strephon has a sweetheart jealous of his mother, who locks only 17. The Queen of the fairies is very fat and gross, while a Lord Chancellor figures as quite ethereal.
The men of the chorus are poets in coronets and robes.

Dr. Cullis, who has become noted through his faith-cure camp meeting, at Old Orchard, where miracles are asserted to have been wrought in answer to his prayers, is a Boston physician in extensive practice. He has collected about $150,000 to support the Faith Cure Home, and his integrity is so unquestioned, that all the money expended in eleven different charity institutions is given into his hands by the contributors. He for many years habitually prayed in behalf of patients whom medicine did not cure, and he has great faith.

On Sunday last some forty Jewish laborers in Winnipeg, who on the previous day had duly observed the Sabbath, proceeded to dig a cellar on Princess-street preparatory to the erection of a home. They did not seem to understand that it was contrary to the custom of this country so to do, but the police appearing on the scene, they soon realized the position and suspended operations. There is, says the Times, getting to be a considerable amount of Sunday work indulged in, in Winnipeg. The police found two men at work painting a house on Jamaica-street last Sunday, and other cases were also noticed by private citizens.

A Tennessee convict has just left the penitentiary after serving six terms aggregating thirty years. He is now, according to the Boston Advertiser, seventy-five years old. It is forty years since his first sentence began. No officer or prisoner is now in the penitentiary who was there when he first appeared as a convict. He has been married four times, and four times he has known the sweets of divorce.
Though he goes out without a relative or friend to greet him his spirits are light. He has never been sick in these years of imprisonment. He announces his purpose to live decently the rest of his days. "Dickens' Dutchman" thus has a rival.

The much-despised Cyprus, which was declared by the Liberals when out of office to be a "pestilential hole," and which since has been selected as a sanitarium for invalids from the seat of war, is now to be converted into a general depot for the Egyptian expedition.
In fact, it is becoming, in spite of the Liberals, "the place of arms" which Lord Beaconsfield intended it to become. It has already been of immense service, and is destined in the event of further complications in the East, to become of supreme importance, especially in relation to Russian designs in Asia Minor, over the coast of which it must always exercise a dominating influence when held by a great naval power. If, as is reported, the Government propose to spend £2,000,000 in forming harbours and erecting forts, it may become a more valuable possession than Malta.

The Popular Science Monthly says:— Every season is a harvest time in some country on the globe. In Australia, New Zealand, Chili, and some other countries in South America, the harvest takes place in January. In India it begins in February and is completed in March. In Mexico, Persia, and Syria, it takes place in April; in Asia Minor, Algeria, Morocco, and parts of China and Japan, in May, and after this in California, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece, Sicily, and some of the southern departments of France. In July it begins in France, Austria, Hungary, Poland, Russia, and the Middle United States. The turn of Germany, Belgium, Denmark, and Holland comes in August, and of Scotland, Northern America, Sweden, and Northern Russia in September.

Sir Garnet Wolseley's action, in first feigning to take measures in the direction of Aberdeen and then promptly descending on Port Said and Ismailia, is in accordance with maxims he has himself embodied in his "Soldier's Pocket Book." He there lays it down that a General commanding should so keep his counsel that his army, and even the staff round him, should be not only in ignorance of his real intention, but convinced that he aims at totally different objects from what are his true ones. He adds that, "What you lead your army to believe will soon be credited by the enemy, whom it will reach by means of spies or through the medium of those newly-invented curses to armies; I mean newspaper correspondents." In another part of his book, Sir Garnet points out how by spreading false news among the representatives of the press, a general may use them to decide an enemy.

Therapeutic Pad Association.—We understand that Dr. Bennett, of the firm of Bennett & Lewis, of 119 Hollis Street, Halifax, N. S., whose very remarkable cures by absorption without internal medicine have created such a sensation, will be in Charlottewon on the 29th, 30th, and 31st of this month. Consultation free. Parties desirous of such apply at the Rankin House. A first class Agent wanted. Small capital requir'd.
