

Ontario Swine Breeders Experiment On New Breed

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Eyes of Canadian swine breeders are on a group of Ontario farmers who are experimenting with a breed of hog that is new to Canada. It is the Landrace—a breed developed in Denmark, which now provides 90 per cent of that country's bacon export. Denmark is Europe's largest exporter of bacon.

Ontario breeders who are involved in the experiment describe the Landrace enthusiastically as a fast-growing breed and an excellent producer of bacon. They predict a bright future for the animal in Canada.

They may have a job on their hands however, if they hope to dethrone Canada's present bacon producing champions.

Prince Edward Island's English Yorkshires have become the upper crust of Canadian swine society. They won the first 11 prizes for bacon at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto in 1952 and didn't bother to compete afterwards. They are the island's second industry.

WELL ADVANCED

The Ontario farmers, however are well advanced towards establishing the new breed here. Last month they became organized as the Canadian Landrace Association. The Canadian National Livestock Records Association has accepted the "race" for registry in Canada.

A slight damper may have been thrown on the Ontario breeders' high hopes when Ontario's associate livestock commissioner, R. H. Graham, on being questioned in Toronto, stated:

"According to official tests of Danish hogs against Yorkshires conducted by the federal department of agriculture, very little difference was found."

And government experts in the late 1930s, after a five-year experiment in breeding, the Landrace "found very little to warrant

Abbruzzi Sets Scoring Mark

TORONTO, (CP) — Montreal Alouettes' spectacular halfback Pat Abbruzzi from Rhode Island State tied a Big Four season scoring record here today as he ran for three touchdowns in the first half of the game with Toronto Argonauts to bring his season's total to 16. His point total now is 80.

Two other players have scored 16 majors in one season previously. Last year, Alex Webster tallied over for 16 touchdowns for the Alouettes. In 1952, Ulysses Curtis of Argos ran for 16 also.

A. L. Dominates Rookie Stars

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American League, for the first time in four years, dominated the 1955 rookie all-star team selected today by The Sporting News.

The junior circuit placed eight of the 11 players on the squad in a poll of sportswriters conducted by the baseball weekly. It was the first time since 1951, when Mickey Mantle, Minnie Miñoso and Gil McDougald broke in that the American League won more berths than the National.

The squad lineup:

Seaway To Change Lake Shipping

When ocean freighters steam across the Great Lakes, many changes will come to now familiar scenes. Old landmarks will disappear and new communities will be born as towns are re-sited and re-built. The story of this change and of the 400-year-old prophesy which foretold it is in The Standard with full color pictures this week. ## U.S. Publishers Oppose Newsprint Price Boost

NEW YORK (AP) — Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said Wednesday the increase in price of newsprint by a major Canadian manufacturer was neither "wise nor justified."

Williams, in a statement, commented on the announcement Tuesday by St. Lawrence Corp., Montreal, of a rise of $5 a ton in newsprint, effective Nov. 1. The increase brought the price for St. Lawrence customers to $18 a ton (U. S. funds), delivered in New York. Officials of a number of paper firms refused to say whether their companies planned similar increases.

Referring to the St. Lawrence Corp. action, Williams said, "we are surprised because several leading Canadian producers have indicated they have not been considering an increase in price at this time."

Williams declared, "if it should turn out that St. Lawrence is taking the leadership after Sir Eric Bowater's trial balloon with other producers following immediately or shortly thereafter it could mean an additional expense to the United States publishers of more than $32,000,000 annually."

Two weeks ago Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of the Bowater Pipe Corp. Ltd., one of the world's greatest newsprint manufacturers, forecast a price rise "in the foreseeable future." Sir Eric declared production costs of newsprint makers had risen appreciably since mid-1952, when the last general price increase took place.

Ealing Studios Are Going Out Of Motion Pictures

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A suburb in West London that produced some of Britain's best post-war comedy films is going out of the motion-picture business.

Ealing Studios, which have won a reputation for a special genre of light-hearted British humor, have been sold to the BBC for television purposes. The film company will go on making pictures but will have to find studio space somewhere else.

The BBC paid £350,000 for the studios, which were built in the 1930s and have a total floor area of 100,000 square feet.

It was here that Sir Michael Balcon, Ealing's guiding genius, produced such well-known films as "Passport to Pimlico," "The Blue Lamp," "Lavender Hill Mob," "The Man in the White Suit," "Kind Hearts and Coronets" and "Whisky Galore," shown in Canada under the title "Tight Little Island."

SPECIAL TYPE

The suburb of Ealing, which houses the studios in small white undistinguished buildings covering four acres, became associated by name with a special type of comedy. This consisted of gently kidding British institutions and the British way of life, or, in the local phrase, "taking the mickey out of ourselves."

The film company has just finished shooting "The Feminine Touch," based on the novel "A Lamp in Heavy" by Edmondson and author Sheila MacKay. It would be a comedy about a movie in Canada. A script has been prepared but dollars are the big difficulty.

"We've got the money in pounds but we can't translate it into dollars," the Ealing informant said.

The sale of the studios is another example of the way British television is expanding. With the advent of independent TV hundreds of thousands of pounds have been spent recently in acquiring studio space.

CANCEL TOUR

BERLIN (Reuters) — The West Berlin Chamber Orchestra has called off a concert tour of the United States and Canada because of "unbearable conditions," its permanent conductor, Hans von Bülow, said Saturday. The 25 musicians, who had planned to give 35 concerts within seven weeks beginning on Oct. 29, would have been forced to travel by bus an average of 300 miles each day, Brenda said.

Key Figure In Army Probe Is Discharged

FT. DIX, N. J. (AP) — G. David Schine, a key figure in the McCarthy-army hearings a year ago, was discharged from the army Saturday.

Schine, a specialist third class in the military police—a rank equivalent to that of corporal—spent 11 months of his two-year hitch at Ft. Richardson, Alaska. The 27-year-old son of J. Myer Schine, operator of a hotel chain, was the unpaid consultant to Senator Joseph McCarthy when the senator headed a permanent investigation sub-committee which inquired into alleged subversive activities among government employees.

During the McCarthy-army hearings, the army claimed the McCarthy group brought improper pressure on the army to get preferential treatment for Schine. But the McCarthy camp charged Schine was used as a "hostage" to force the committee to go easy in its investigation for alleged Communists in the army against unseemly and "pagan" Christmas cards. The Roman Catholic priest protested against the type of cards coming on the market. Two of his parishioners dramatized the campaign by buying up and burning all cards in the town carrying slightly off-color jokes.

The Church of England vicar joined the campaign. "We aim to put Christ back into Christmas," he said. He ordered stocks of cards carrying a message relating to the meaning of Christmas and received so many requests for supplies that repeat orders were necessary.

The appeal found a ready response throughout the country. Churchmen pointed out that even cards that were not offensive carried in most cases nothing of the real spirit of Christmas. Pretty pictures of jingling verses were a poor substitute for the true Christmas message.

The campaign brought a rush of orders to local printers for cards with a Christmas theme, but it was then too late for fresh supplies to be obtained from the many overseas firms which supply cards. The full results are apparent now. The current season's cards show an enormous increase in themes "putting Christ back into Christmas."

New Zealand Christmas Cards Bear Christmas Idea

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—A year ago a campaign started in a small town which has revolutionized Christmas cards in New Zealand. Its full effect is only now becoming apparent with the appearance of the new season's cards in the shops. Church leaders in Kaitiaki, a township in the extreme north of the country, made an appeal to put Christ back into Christmas. The Roman Catholic priest protested against the type of cards coming on the market. Two of his parishioners dramatized the campaign by buying up and burning all cards in the town carrying slightly off-color jokes.

Report Menzies To Call Australian Election Soon

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters) Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies has decided upon a surprise parliamentary election in December with a lively campaign based on "supreme indiscretion," high government sources said Thursday night.

They said Menzies, leader of the Liberal party, decided upon the snap election after conferring with treasurer Sir Arthur Fadden, leader of the Country party. Later, Menzies was reported to have informed Governor-General Sir William Slim of the decision.

Officials said Menzies will announce the election next Tuesday and probably select Dec. 10 as election day.

Government members said Evatt offered the government a ready-made election issue Wednesday when he announced to Parliament he had exchange letters with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov.

BRANDED AS FALSE

Evatt said Molotov had branded as false the disclosures about Soviet espionage made by Vladimir Petrov, a former Soviet diplomat and spy chief who sought asylum in Australia with his wife in April, 1954.

Evatt maintained during the election campaign a month later that the Petrov spy probe launched by Menzies' government was largely a trumped-up political manoeuvre to cripple the Labor vote.

Some of the evidence in the government investigation in 1951 of former members of Evatt's staff, Menzies' Liberal-Country party coalition claims the split within the Labor party has interfered with the smooth running of Parliament. The 1954 elections voted for a House of Representatives for a three-year term, but the prime minister is free to call an election at any time before the expiration of his term, whenever he thinks he has the best chance of winning. It is also expected that Menzies will advance the date of Senate elections, due in the first half of next year, to coincide with the voting for a new house.
