ussed. The Prime Minister and the President returned to resume their discussions aboard the President's yacht Williamsburg after lunch tomorrow.

Hurriedly Summoned

The meeting was hurriedly summoned at Attlee's request 8 1/2 hours after he landed here from London. He came to work out with Truman a joint approach to the Truman problems ahead of the free world in meeting the suddenly-expanded Communist aggression.

The only specific action mentioned in the brief statement was that Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the American joint chiefs of staff, summarized the latest military developments in Korea during the meeting.

The frank discussion which followed revealed the determination of Mr. Attlee and Mr. Truman to arrive at a mutual understanding of the serious problems faced by both the United Kingdom and the U.S. as well as by other members of the U.N., the statement said, adding: "The common ground on which their governments base their foreign policy was fully revealed."

The meeting began at 4 P.M. E.S.T. in the west room. The conference was held in the west room of the Capitol building but the British leader, according to aides, left the Chinese Communist onslaught in Korea made quick decisions imperative.

The talks capped a day of tense developments: 1. At New York, the "Big Three" Western powers—Britain, France and the United States—formally requested the veto-proof General Assembly of the United Nations to sit in judgment on Red China's aggression in Korea.

2. President Truman held an hour-long discussion on the crisis with the four top Democratic congressional leaders. None would comment; all looked grave.

3. On Capitol Hill, lawmakers called for urgent steps to cope with the emergency, and new demands arose for the ouster of State Secretary Acheson. Senator Dennis Chavez (Dem. N.M.) said the United States should raise a 20,000-man "world army"—to be recruited, trained and equipped as American troops—to battle Communism.

4. In a stirring Senate speech, Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) in a blistering speech, demanded the immediate expulsion of Russia from the United Nations, a naval blockade of Red China, authority for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to hit Chinese bases in Manchuria, and supervised use of Japanese troops in Korea.

Before the Attlee-Truman meeting began, Attlee pledged in a statement that Communists would never succeed in separating the British and American people. The aim of his mission, he said, is to align American and British policies so the two countries "can stand firm" against aggression.

As the meeting began, American officials told reporters the U.S. is determined to stand firm in opposition to admitting Communist China to the U.N.

Not only the American Government, they said, give formal diplomatic recognition to the Chinese Communist regime as a "price" for stopping the Communist offensive against Gen. MacArthur's forces in Korea.

MACDONALD (Continued from Page 1) could have nothing but a sobering effect. The march of events since 1945, when Canada was looking to a period of peace and prosperity, had shattered the hopes of those days. The events of the last few weeks had seen a "final shattering of the illusion" and Canada now must take every step to maintain a sound economy at home.

Mr. MacDonald said his government did not believe that the principle underlying the federal-provincial taxation agreements should be abandoned at this time. As for old-age pensions, New Brunswick had been on record for some time for reduction in the pensionable age to 65 years. He believed the whole country was looking forward to a "new kind of old-age pension" and he hoped the conference could reach agreement in that sphere.

Referring briefly to the taxation powers of the Provinces, he said that this year New Brunswick had authorized the implementation of consumer or sales tax despite the difficulties of its application. It was probable that other provinces would have to rely on such taxes to raise the necessary revenue to carry on.

He said he believed there should be co-ordination of public investment policies as between the federal and provincial governments. He agreed to the need to curb public works as an economy measure and said his province would co-operate.

New "Roll-Away" Building Now Nearing Completion

With ten of the most modern bowling alleys in Canada already installed and construction work both upstairs and down continuing apace, Joe MacDonald's new Roll-Away building on Gratton Street is nearing completion and will be thrown open to the public between Christmas and New Year.

The proprietor also has other plans for this large second floor room. Dancers will be provided with another ball and organization wishing to hold parties will have a new auditorium. Also on this floor will be a check room.

Rapid Progress Made The laying of the hardwood floors upstairs will be completed today and sanding operations are expected to commence right away. Eleven miles of wood have been laid in the upstairs flooring. Downstairs the carpenters are laying down the ply wood. A canteen at the head of the alleys has been erected and a lounge room for ladies has been built just inside the entrance.

Mr. MacDonald was loud in his praise of the manner in which Schurman's are conducting the building operations. The contractors, running two weeks ahead of schedule, had not expected to finish the work until the middle of January.

A steam system has been installed which can either heat up or cool off the building within twenty minutes. The building which has risen Phoenix-like from the ashes of the old Sporting Club building destroyed by fire on Feb. 15 last, is constructed on a cement foundation. It is supported by a steel framework and finished with brick.

Active Year For Arts And Crafts Guild Reported The second annual meeting of the P.E.I. Arts and Crafts Guild was held last evening following a dinner at the Charlottetown Hotel with approximately forty members present.

Mr. A. M. Clark who presided, was re-elected president of the Guild for another year. Other officers elected as recommended by the nominating committee whose report was read by Mrs. C. P. MacKenzie, included: Vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Blake; Treasurer, Mr. F. W. Troop; and the position of secretary is filled by the director of the Guild, Miss Frances E. Johnston.

New members to the Board are Mr. H. C. Bohaker, Miss Eleanor Clapp, Miss Mona Clay, Mrs. D. M. Gass, Mr. Ralph Jenkins, and Mr. Gerald Stokoe. Three additional members are to be appointed at the next meeting. Other members of the Board include Mr. F. W. Curtis, Mrs. W. G. Foster, Mr. Walthein Gaudet, Mrs. J. Herring, Mrs. J. P. Lantz, Mrs. R. MacKenzie, Miss Margaret Riley, Mr. R. H. Rogers and Mrs. G. B. Whiteside.

Following the minutes of the last annual meeting the director's report was given by Miss Johnston who gave in detail the difficulties experienced by the Guild during the year, in connection with the educational work it was endeavouring to accomplish. Greatest difficulty was said to be the raising of sufficient funds to carry on the Guild in a suitable manner, but this was more than counterbalanced by the excellent program it had carried on for the year ending in April, 1950.

Highlights of the program was as follows: Held 78 after school classes for boys and girls; held 45 Saturday morning open house programs; produced 32 weekly radio programs with excellent response from the Maritimes and Labrador; twelve exhibitions of paintings and other arts; visits of 14 school classes to the Centre to hear talks; nine talks on the arts to adult classes; and 37 adult classes in painting and drawing. Almost 5,000 people took part in this program.

Following the adjournment of the business meeting an exceptionally interesting address was given by Dr. Frank McKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College, on the subject of a museum, a report of which appears elsewhere in today's issue. Dr. McKinnon was introduced by Mr. Frank Curtis, and thanked on behalf of those present by President A. M. Clark.

Calgary Still Facing Serious Threat Of Flood CALGARY, Dec. 4 — (CP) — The ice-jammed Bow River threatened to flood tonight along two miles of its route through the heart of Calgary. The river, locked in a monster ice jam stretching from the scene of Friday night's flood in East-Central Calgary almost to the west city limits, rose at least two feet during the day.

The peak flow of water was expected to reach the city from the Ghost Power dam, 40 miles west, about 10 p.m. (M.S.T.). It was about this time that the river spilled over its banks Friday, forcing 3,000 persons out of their homes. Few have returned.

Dikes, both earthen and ice, guard both north and south banks of the river but in some places the water is only about one foot below the top. Police and amateur radio men maintain a constant vigil in sub-zero weather along the whole dike system.

OTTAWA, Dec. 4 — (CP) — An estimated $564,878,000 will be paid by the Federal Government to eight of the 10 Provinces by the time existing taxation agreements expire March 31, 1952.

Prime Minister St. Laurent made that estimate today at the opening of the federal-provincial conference on fiscal and social security matters. He said that it Ontario and Quebec had signed agreements to the payments to all Provinces would have totalled $1,397,741,000 by the end of the 1961-62 fiscal year.

Estimated total payments to the Provinces by March 31, 1962: Newfoundland, $26,600,000; Prince Edward Island, $13,297,000; Nova Scotia, $70,436,000; New Brunswick, $25,850,000; Manitoba, $24,844,000; Saskatchewan, $29,833,000; Alberta, $32,681,000; and British Columbia, $32,681,000.

Ontario and Quebec payments would have been $444,688,000 and $378,175,000, respectively. Mr. St. Laurent did not indicate what Federal tax collections in each Province amounted to under terms of the agreements.

Electric Rates Up In Halifax HALIFAX, Dec. 4 — (CP) — The Public Utilities Board has granted an average increase of 19 per cent over present electric power rates in Light and Heat Co. Ltd., it was announced here today. The new rate schedule is designed to increase revenue of the company $775,000 in 1951.

The increase, which applies to customers in the Halifax area, is effective on all bills rendered after Dec. 1, 1950, with the exception of rules and regulations relating to street lighting, which will be approved after Jan. 1, 1951.

Heavy Shipment Of Grain To Maritimes MONCTON, N.B., Dec. 4 — (CP) — Canadian National Railway officials here today said that there is a heavy movement of grain in the Maritimes bound for Halifax and Saint John, N.B.

Today there were 41 carloads of grain destined for the two ports. Thirty-one cars were headed for shipment out of Halifax and six cars of grain and four of barley for export through Saint John. It was learned.

SURPRISE TOURISTS The Imperial gallon used in Canada is 20 per cent larger than the United States gallon.

In his Monday summary MacArthur said Chinese Communist forces had hurled 268,000 men as shock troops against the United Nations army. Back of these came an immediate reserve of 560,000 more men. Moving from Central China toward the Hwang river fronts were an additional 200,000 which must be added an additional 100,000 to 150,000 Red Koreans.

The assemblage of this mighty force was not the result of "sudden impulse," MacArthur said again. He said it was preceded by long planning and started to move after the Korean Communist army was defeated in mid-October.

The United Nations army in Korea numbers no more than 200,000, half of these being South Korean troops. The retreating Allied forces in Korea had one factor in their favour: Mobility. Their motorized equipment permitted a faster withdrawal pace than the massive but slow Chinese pursuing them.

By Monday of this week the Reds had 15 divisions — 120,000 to 150,000 troops — across the Chongchun and crunching towards Pyongyang.

There were not enough U.N. troops in Korea to string a solid line from east to west across the country.

Rousing Recital At College Hall By Michael Rhodes

The Community Concert audience enjoyed an outstanding evening of entertainment at the "P. C. Hall" last evening. A little lighter than is customary in these series, but one which seemed to have much universal appeal.

Star for the evening was the twenty-six year old American baritone, Michael Rhodes, who stated after the concert was finished that he had "enjoyed himself immensely." He also asked if the local audience was always so receptive and so generous with their applause as they had been with him.

It was quite apparent to the audience that Mr. Rhodes was enjoying himself, and this feeling in itself finds its way faster than anything else across the footlights and into the hearts of those who occupy the seats out front. A number of artists who appear seem to work at their production of entertainment, but the singer last evening just opened his mouth and the music flowed.

His voice is rich and full, and his higher register is beautifully round and resonant. Highlight of his singing was the aria "Non Piu Andrai," from The Marriage of Figaro, which was sung in English much to the enjoyment of the crowded auditorium.

Without the proper stage setting and story to assist in the understanding of an aria written in its original language, it is very pleasing to see this trend of singing the beautiful operatic arias in a language which can be readily followed. In this number Mr. Rhodes made full use of his extraordinary acting ability, and proved that an aria of this type can be appreciated and thoroughly enjoyed by every person in the audience.

Assisting Mr. Rhodes last evening was the young pianist Roy Cooper, who offered a group of three solos and responded to applause with the encore "Black Key Etude" by Chopin. The audience would have liked to have heard much more from Mr. Cooper but the concert was late in starting and encores were cut as much as possible. His playing of Khachaturian's "Toccata" was a perfect example of remarkable talent at the keyboard, and was undoubtedly one of the most beautiful piano solos to be heard in this city for a long time. Those close enough to watch his hands were rewarded with an exhibition of fingering which was so complicated that the movements were almost impossible to follow. Flery and dramatic, the "Toccata" received complete understanding and excellent interpretation.

The program for the evening was as follows: (Mr. Rhodes) "La Girometta" Gabrielle Sibella; "Largo" Handel; "Amor xe una Pietanza" Geni Sadero; "Chi vuole innamorarsi" Alessandro Scarlatti; "Serenade" Franz Schubert; "Heidenroslein" Franz Schubert; "Cradle Song" Mozart; "Sunday" Brahms; "The Disappointed Serenader" Brahms; "Evening Star" from Tannhauser, Wagner; "Non piu Andrai" from The Marriage of Figaro, Mozart; "Tally Ho", Leoni; "Loch Lomond", arranged by Fritz Kreisler; "Devan' la Maison", from The Damnation of Faust, by Berlioz; "Vous qui faites l'endormie" from Faust, by Gounod; "Midship Mite" Adams; "Hangman, Hangman" Ender's; "Think on Me" Scott; "Yar-moath Fair", Warlock; "Sailor's Wife"; "Joshua Fit the Battle" arranged by Burleigh; "When I think on Maidens' Head"; and Wolfe's "Short'nin' Bread."

In the group by Mr. Cooper were "Capriccio, Op. 116, No. 3 by Brahms; "Etude, Op. 10, No. 1" Liszt; "Toccata" by Khachaturian, and the "Black Key Etude" by Chopin.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH Laymen's Ass'n Meets The monthly meeting of St. Paul's Church Laymen's Association was held last evening at 6:15 when a large number of laymen sat down to a delicious supper provided by the Ladies Guild of the Church.

The 7th Boy Scout Troop of St. Paul's Church were guests of the Laymen's Association and were warmly welcomed by the chairman, Mr. Thomas DeBlais, the president of the Association. After the supper, several guests were introduced and an enjoyable sing song was held under the direction of Mr. Andy Likely with the music furnished by the Laymen's Orchestra under the able leadership of Mr. Royston F. Muford. This being the last regular meeting of the Association before Christmas, the spirit of this happy season prevailed with the singing of several Christmas carols and three special Christmas numbers given by the orchestra.

A special feature of the program was the rendering of several selections by the Boy Scouts orchestra which was much enjoyed.

The Chairman in his remarks spoke very feelingly on the great loss sustained by the Church of England in Canada on the loss of the beloved Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of the Church of England in Canada, His Grace, Archbishop Kingstom.

The chairman also referred to the very sad passing of Edward Clark, the son of John Clark, one of St. Paul's active laymen.

The thanks of the meeting were tendered to the Ladies Guild for the very splendid supper provided. The meeting was brought to a close with Rev. Mr. Armstrong of St. John's Church, Crapaud, pronouncing the benediction and the singing of "God Save the King."
