

When the children are hungry, what do you give them? Food.
When thirsty? Water.
Now use the same good common sense, and what would you give them when they are too thin? The best fat-forming food, of course. Somehow you think of Scott's Emulsion at once.

For a quarter of a century it has been making thin children, plump; weak children, strong; sick children, healthy.

The Transvaal War

War Notes.

Mr. Macrum, the American consul at Pretoria, reports to Mr. Stowe, the American consul general at Cape Town, that the British generals are well and that they are excellently fed.

The descriptions of the battle of Glencoe, which are now arriving by mail from the war correspondents, show that it was indeed like Majuba reversed, with the attack and victory on the side of the British. Glencoe and Elandslaagte were dearly bought victories, but they will show the Boers and the world that British infantry has abated not a whit of its fighting zeal.

The London Telegraph's Cape Town correspondent says that refugees state that the Boer losses at Elandslaagte were mainly Germans, Hollanders and Irish, whom the Boers despise. They were posted prominently in front. The correspondent adds that he hears that Cecil Rhodes, who is in Kimberley, keeps a big balloon ready in which he can escape in the event of an extremity.

The Standard and Diggers' News states that some cases of scurvy have broken out among the prisoners at Pretoria. They are being moved to the Waterfall farm. They have asked the government not to give them the tinned food taken from Dundee, which is only fit for cattle. The same newspaper says the troops at Ladysmith are ill with typhoid. The stench from the city is awful.

Germany is undoubtedly sympathetic with Britain in this war. It seems to have been assumed that racial considerations ought to incline the Germans to sympathise with the Boers. But the Boers have nothing in common with the Germans, and they are absolutely distinct from and different to the Dutch in Europe and the Dutch in America. They are a mixed race, with none of the broad instincts of the Germans and the Dutch. From three centuries of life in Africa they are as foreign to the Germans and the Dutch as any foreign race can be.

When the United States army beef scandals were exposed, the British papers pointed the finger of scorn and contempt at the disgrace. So when lately it transpired that food supplies for the British troops had been discarded as bad, the United States journals rose up and crowded with great joy, making apt quotations about kettles calling pots black and the pharisee jollying the publican. In the midst of this rejoicing the information that the discarded supplies were sent by United States contractors comes with the wet sponge effect. The United States papers, to square themselves, must now say they were laughing at something else.

A table of distances in South Africa is of very great interest as it enables readers to follow with better understanding the movement of troops. One of the most interesting is that giving distances on the Natal Government railway which gives distance as follows:

Dunbar to Pietrmaritzburg	71

" " Colenso	176
" " Ladysmith	190

why she is fighting. This the Newcastle Chronicle does in language that is well worth repetition:

"The issue has been mystified by carping critics and jealous partisans, but it is very simple. We are fighting to prevent men of British Blood from being treated as 'helots' on British territory by a sordid oligarchy which British arms saved from extinction and British generosity endowed with autonomy. We are at war for the purpose of preventing our brethren in South Africa from being taxed without representation; from being placed under the control of courts whose judges take their orders from a corrupt Executive; from being refused the right to carry arms while their oppressors flourish theirs with insolent brutality; from being compelled to contribute to schools in which English is treated as a foreign tongue; in short, from being denied the elementary rights of self-government in territory undoubtedly British. We ask no privilege for ourselves that we would not give to the Boers, but we will not submit to be ostracized and dominated over in our own dominions. We cherish no revengeful feelings. The British flag is the herald of mercy as well as might. But we will have justice for our countrymen and control of our own Empire, come what may."

WEAK AND... PUNY CHILDREN

Become Strong and Healthy by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Children are frequently left weak and sickly as an after result of measles, scarlet fever, etc., and in this state are easy prey to nervous disorders, rickets, spinal disease, or consumption, diseases which do not affect robust, healthy children.

The blood is weak and watery and the nerves improperly nourished. Feed the blood and nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, and the pale, pinched faces will soon become rosy and plump, and tiredness and weakness will give way to strength and animation.

Mr. E. W. Day, 62 Close Avenue, Toronto, writes: "My eldest daughter, aged eight, became very much run down. Her fretful, nervous, sleepless condition greatly alarmed her parents. She was taken from school, and in spite of the best nursing, the thin, weakened, bloodless face grew painfully worse. Fortunately we used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. An improvement became apparent in a few days, it continued, and in a few weeks she returned to school built up anew, and greatly to our joy fully restored to health."

The Prejudice Against Prepared Paint

Yes, prejudice is the right word; that is, an opinion before trial. When one investigates fairly he is simply forced to the conviction that a paint composed of the best possible ingredients, selected by those who have special knowledge of their nature and their use, and then thoroughly ground and mixed by special machinery, is better than any one man and one stick can supply. Such paints are
