

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 20, 1965

SEVEN CENTS

14 PAGES

VOL. LXXVIII, NO. 205

by the Post Office
of postage in cash.

Violent Demonstration Breaks Out In Athens

King Constantine, Premier Are Opposed

ATHENS (AP)—Violent demonstrations against King Constantine and his mother, dowager Queen Frederika, erupted in the heart of Athens Thursday night amid the worst Greek political crisis since the 1947-49 Communist uprising.

"Out with the king," shouted some among several thousand youths who clashed with police in street fighting.

"Constantine, take your mother and leave," said placards carried by marchers.

The target of another sign was Constantine's premier-designate, Elias Tsirimokos.

"Tsirimokos equals Mussolini," said Italian dictator Mussolini's legions invaded Greece in the Second World War.

First-aid stations reported 20 persons, including demonstrators and police, were treated for injuries, many more suffered bloody noses, bruises and other minor injuries in the 90-minute street battle.

The demonstration by followers of ousted premier George Papandreu amounted to one of the noisiest and sharpest manifestations against 25-year-old King Constantine since the crisis began in mid-July.

Queen Frederika, widow of King Paul and granddaughter of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, often has been a controversial figure in Greek politics.

IGNORE POLICE ORDERS

The clash began when demonstrators ignored a police order to disperse. It came shortly after Tsirimokos said his government would not be sworn in by the king until today.

The one-day delay indicated Tsirimokos might be encountering trouble rounding up ministers for his cabinet.

The king chose Tsirimokos, a former left-wing Socialist, Wednesday to try to form a government and end the crisis that began July 15 with the ouster of Papandreu in a dispute over politics in the armed forces.

Thursday's clash was the first since July 21, when one student was killed and 150 persons injured. In earlier rioting in the Greek crisis another 156 were hurt.

The demonstrators hurled rocks and anything else they could grab at the police. Their weapons included beer glasses, tables and chairs seized from sidewalk cafes.

Police used their fists and clubs.

The youths shouted at police: "Murderers," "fascists."

As the police waded into the marchers, the demonstrators scattered.

Tsirimokos had been scheduled to go to the palace Thursday night to be sworn in by the monarch.

Thunderstorm Delays Gemini 5 Space Mission

By JOHN BARBOUR
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Stormy weather and troubles in the spacecraft wrenched out Thursday's effort to launch the two-man Gemini 5 space mission and another try was scheduled for 10 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The 3,120,000-mile voyage was called off after a losing battle with a thunderstorm and the fuel and telemetry systems in the capsule.

Dr. George Mueller, assistant administrator for manned space flight, told a press conference that the new launch time was set with some uncertainty.

A preliminary analysis of Thursday's troubles, he said, indicated that none of them was major, but he emphasized that there still is testing to be done.

He disclosed that there had been a fire in a cable at the cape. It was not at the Gemini complex, he said, but there is a possibility that it could affect plans for a Saturday shot.

Space Centre, said that would have made necessary a thorough check of the computer system and its memory banks. No such delay could have been tolerated because of the need for at least three hours of daylight for a recovery operation.

The splashdown would have come on the eighth day at approximately the same-hour the spacecraft was launched.

Cooper and Conrad, wearing gleaming space suits, had entered the capsule at 11:42 a.m. Their flight, if successful, will set a new space-endurance record of 192 hours, enough time to fly to the moon, spend a day exploring its surface and return to earth.

This would wipe out the space flight endurance record of 119 hours, six minutes, set June 14, 1963, by Russian cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky.

TRY FOR RENDEZVOUS

Cooper and Conrad also will attempt the first known rendezvous with another orbiting satellite—a pod to be ejected from their own spacecraft and then chased through the skies for two orbits of the earth.

(Continued on page 3, col. 8)

CONCERTS TODAY AFTER THE PARADE

Following today's Gold Cup and Sauer parade, bands will give concerts in various locations in the city.

2.30 p.m.
Katahdin Rangers, steps of Confederation Centre, Grafton Street.
Fredericton Air Cadets, Charlottetown Hospital grounds.
Balmoral Girls Pipe Band, Provincial Sanatorium.
Lovat Scots Pipe Band, P.E.I. Hospital grounds.
3.15 p.m.
Band of the Royal Canadian Artillery, in front of the Court House, Grafton Street.

Fredericton Has Deluge

FREDERICTON (CP)—A total of 2.56 inches of rain fell during a nine-hour period at Fredericton Thursday breaking the previous daily rainfall record for August of 1.98 inches set in 1951.

The amount was also the heaviest rainfall for any day since May 27, 1961.

Funerals Due Saturday For Treasure Trio

MARTIN'S POINT, N.S. (CP)—Three of four treasure hunters who died Tuesday at the muddy base of a gas-filled pit on nearby Oak Island, off Nova Scotia's south coast, will be buried here Saturday.

Funeral services will be held here for Robert Restall, 59, his son, Robert, 24, and Cyril Hiltz, 22. The two Restall men were natives of Hamilton, Ont., and Hiltz was from this community.

The body of the fourth victim, Karl Graesser, 35, of Massapequa, Long Island, N.Y., will be taken to the United States for burial.

The four died by accident in a gas-filled pit they believed would take them to $30,000,000 in treasure which, according to legend, was buried on the little island more than 200 years ago by Captain Kidd.

No Progress Expected At Arms Talks

GENEVA (AP)—With only a handful of meetings to go at the present session it now appears certain the 17-country disarmament conference will report no progress to the General Assembly of the United Nations in New York next month.

There is no evidence that the Soviet Union is prepared to consider seriously Thursday's plea by British chief delegate Lord Chalfont to sign the proposed Western draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, even if it does contain loopholes.

Justice Bell's Herd Wins Coveted Awards

Mr. Justice R.R. Bell wasn't home to see it, but his herd won two coveted beef championships Thursday. His Merridale Aspiration won the male championships in Scotch Shorthorns yesterday. A few hours before it was revealed that his Shorthorn steer had won the grand championship of the beef steer show that was held this week at the provincial exhibition for the first time.

Reserve male Shorthorn champion was George Phelan's Penivan Bonny Monarch, Mr. Phelan farms at Morell.

ANGUS SECTION

Champion Angus male was Lester Rankin and Son's Rankin's Bonanza, with Leo McIsaac and Son's Benchmark of Linwood being reserve Angus male. The Rankins are from Southport and the McIsaacs from Mermaid.

Gerald Dollar and Son, Winslow, won the female championship in Scotch Shorthorns for the second year in a row with their Fairgrange-Rosaline, a cow that was bred by Athol

Riot Probe Is Planned

LOS ANGELES (AP)—California Governor Edmund G. Brown named John A. McCone, former U.S. Central Intelligence Agency director, Thursday to head a commission to investigate the week of racial violence in Los Angeles' Negro district that cost 34 lives.

Brown said the commission would have subpoena power "to make sure that all of us have access to the whole truth."

British Austerity Moves Hit Automobile Industry

LONDON (CP)—Austerity measures geared to stall domestic demand in Britain took hold of the important automobile industry Thursday and showed up in higher unemployment figures.

The British Ford Motor Company announced a reduction in production and put 10,000 of its 40,000 employees in two factories on a four-day week, from five days.

"The credit squeeze and the latest economic measures have reduced demand substantially in the home market," a Ford spokesman said.

Ford's squeeze, which will have repercussions in steel and other supply industries, follows disclosure by the Hoover Company that 4,000 of its 6,000 staff in two washing machine factories would be put on a reduced work week. Murphy-Richards laid off 150 workers in its refrigerator factory.

The Ford announcement coincided with publication of national employment figures showing an increase from a month earlier in the number of jobless by 58,333 to 338,910. The British labor force totals about 25,000.

The percentage of the labor force unemployed—1.5—is minor by North American standards but significant in a country where unemployment has been negligible for years. Unemployment has been rising since June, when 12 per cent of the labor force was jobless.

The apparent slowdown reflects the Labor government's effort to reduce domestic consumption to deal with a crisis resulting from the fact Britain has been buying more abroad than it sells. This trading deficit has drained gold and U.S. dollar reserves and led to talk of devaluing sterling, a measure the government is determined to avoid.

Higher taxation after the Labor party took office last October and again in the April budget were followed up July 27 with restrictions on public spending and credit.

The curtailment of public spending is being applied by delaying capital projects in the municipalities. The action received further application Thursday when Transport Minister Tom Fraser announced about half the highway building and renovation projects due to start this fall—about £25,000,000 ($75,000,000) worth—will be delayed for at least six months.

The reduction in Ford's car production, by 1,700 units a week from about 13,000, reflects the installment buying squeeze in which the repayment limit was reduced last month to 30 months from three years. Automobile sales account for almost 75 per cent of the installment purchase debt.

The downturn was not expected to affect other car makers immediately. British Motor Corporation, stalled by a succession of strikes, has a backlog of orders.

Sandersons Triumph In Hereford Classes

Fulton Sanderson and Sons, North River emerged as the major winners in the Hereford Ring yesterday at the provincial exhibition, as their winnings were big enough to ensure premier exhibitor and premier breeder's honors.

The triumph was all the more impressive by reason of the fact that most of the animals that came out for the female championship had been bred in the Sanderson Tobemory herd.

The Sanderson's Tobemory championship, with Obánia Janet IU taking the reserve championship for MacKinley Brothers, North River.

Robert MacLaurin and Son, Belmont Lot 16 showed the male Centennial, an animal bred in the herd of George Rodanz, champion Hereford in Ringwood Spafford, Ontario. The Sandersons showed the reserve champion in Jarvis Centurion.

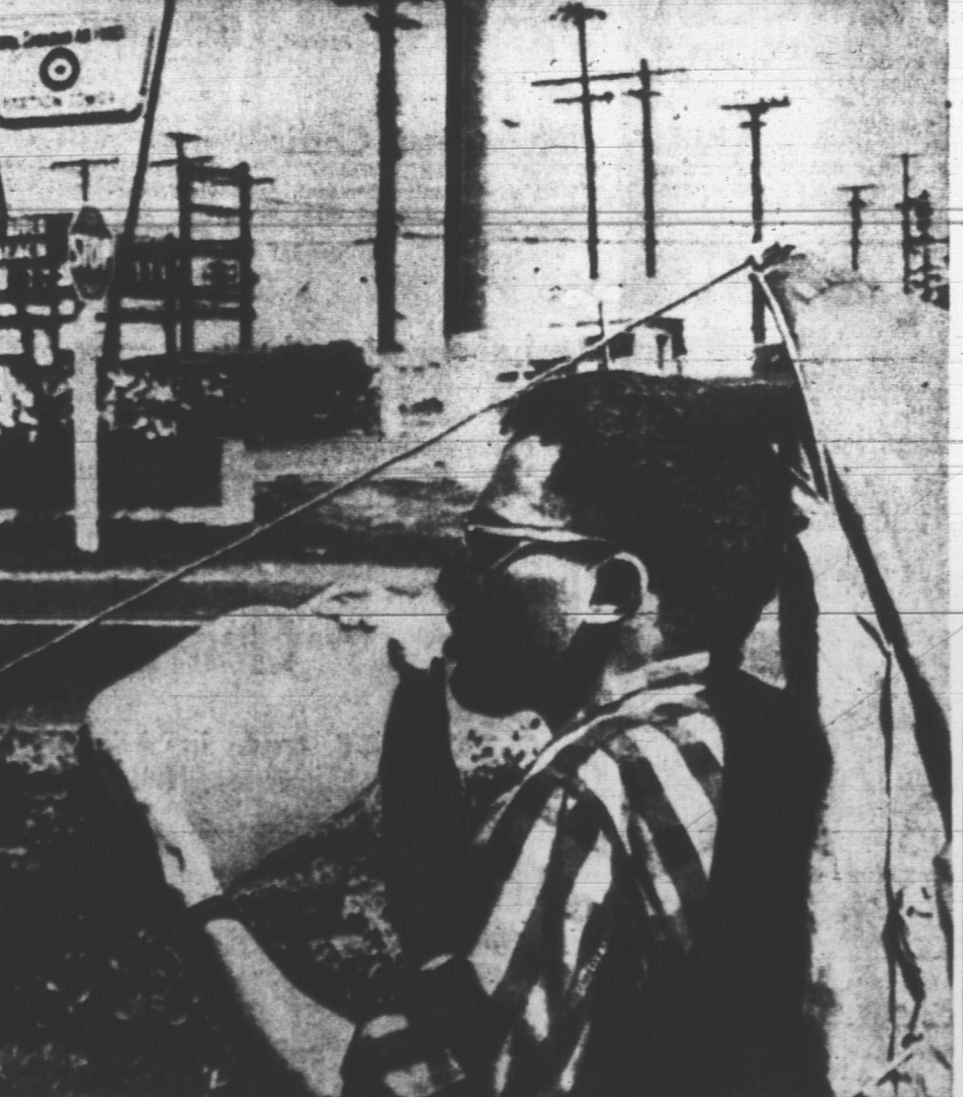

There was one winner from the herd of Gordon Matheson (Continued on page 5, col. 5)

Dual Shorthorns Placed At Fair

A cow bred in his own herd on Hillhead Farm, York, Ontario, Ontario Chestnut Royal Technician, the and owned now by Keith Barrett, Belmont Lot 16 was made well farm at North River that female champion by judge Ross the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto several years ago.

Waldron MacPhee and Son, Elmwood had the male champion in Elmywyk Lills Emblem. The reserve male champion was shown by Sterling Wood and Son, Mr. Herbert.

Mr. Hewitt kept spectators interested as he made his place Daniel Jewell's Chestnut Royal

TOO THIN TO FAST?

Andy Dalton began fourth day of "peace fast" outside gates to RCAF station at Co-mox, B.C., Thursday with a meal of water. His mother says 20-year-old Andy is "too thin to do such a thing." She described project as "ridiculous." (CP Wirephoto.)

NORTH RIVER EXHIBITORS ARE WINNERS

John Sanderson, of North River holds the grand champion female Hereford and his two sons Randolph and Richard hold the banners that Fulton Sanderson and Sons won at the Provincial Exhibition this week. The cow and others from the Sanderson farm was in the parade of champions held last evening in the coliseum.

Two Languages And Cultures Can Exist, Stanfield Declares

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia said Thursday night he sees no reason why Canada cannot have two languages and two cultures existing side by side and yet be an effective nation.

He was addressing a banquet given by his government to some 600 delegates attending the annual convention of L'Association Canadienne des Educateurs de Langue Francaise.

"English-speaking Canadians should accept and welcome the French language and culture in Canada as continuing facts," the premier said. "This involves no more than the acceptance of reality and the recognition that the French tradition is a great tradition which has contributed and will contribute to our national life."

Speaking in English and French, he said those who attend federal-provincial and provincial premiers' conferences do not form the impression that Canada is falling apart.

"There is sometimes some heat and possibly some indiscretion in discussions that take place," the premier said. "This is perhaps inevitable in matters of great importance. However, the impression I get from attending these conferences is an impression of strong ties and genuine patriotism."

TIES STRONG ENOUGH

The centennial of Confederation can be approached in a spirit of confidence, not complacency, and with the conviction that the ties binding Canadians together are strong enough to enable the country to overcome its problems, he said.

"We are proud that the citizens of Nova Scotia who speak French and those who do not speak French get along very well together," he said.

He could not pretend that French is well taught in Nova Scotia schools, in view of the lack of teachers fully competent to teach it.

But he expressed the hope that the planned new bilingual teachers' college in Moncton may help Nova Scotia train teachers in the French language.

TERMS SEEN TOO LIGHT

17 Former Nazi Agents Sentenced For Deaths

FRANKFURT (AP)—Twenty years after the Second World War, a West German court Thursday convicted 17 Nazi agents for their part in thousands of deaths at Adolf Hitler's Auschwitz extermination camp.

Six received life terms. Eleven drew 3 1/2 to 14 years. Three were acquitted. Several defence lawyers announced plans to appeal.

A nine-judge court heard the trial over a period of 20 months. It was the longest and most costly in West Germany's history.

The defendants were charged with mass murder or aiding in the wartime massacres of prisoners in the camp in Nazi-occupied Poland.

TOO MILD

A number of former Auschwitz prisoners who heard the verdicts expressed disappointment that some sentences were not more severe. The East German news agency ADN said the sentences "for the most part were scandalously mild."

A spokesman for West Germany's ruling Christian Democratic party said the court did its best, under difficult circumstances, to reach a just decision.

The court said it judged the cases strictly on testimony and according to criminal law. The memory of witnesses, including hundreds of former prisoners, was often faulty and conflicting.

The prosecution had demanded life sentences for 16 defendants and 12-year terms for two. It had recommended acquittal of two.

West Germany abolished the death penalty in 1949.

DEFENDANT BLUSHES

One defendant who received a lighter sentence than the prosecution asked was Robert Mulka, 70, one-time deputy commander of Auschwitz. He was acquitted.

Another chief defendant, Wilhelm Boger, 55, former SS (Nazi elite guard) sergeant, entered the courtroom smiling and stood at attention as the court sentenced him to life imprisonment 114 times for murder, plus five years for aiding in murder. Judge Hofmeyer recalled, in an hour-long recital of the findings against Boger, that the defendant has been known as the "devil of Auschwitz."

Boger, Hofmeyer said, was guilty of "torture in the most bestial manner" and had even violated Nazi orders in his tortures and murders largely because of "hatred of the Polish."

Others receiving life terms were former SS Sgt. Oswald Kaduk, 58, a post-war male nurse whom witnesses described as the "butcher of Auschwitz," Josef Klehr, 60, former SS Capt. Franz Hofmann, 59, former SS Cpl. Stefan Baretzki, 45, and Emil Bednarek, 58.

INSIDE TODAY

| | |
|---------------------|--------|
| Classified | 12, 13 |
| Births | 13 |
| Deaths | 3 |
| Comics | 3 |
| Sport | 11 |
| Finance, markets | 18 |
| Women's | 7 |
| Editorials | 4 |
| Summerside | 3 |
| Kings, Queens, City | 5 |
| Prince County | 2 |