

Supreme Court—Prince County.

James Larkin vs. William C. Montgomery and others.—This case has occupied the attention of the Court since Wednesday, and has been fiercely fought by the Counsel on both sides. The witnesses, of which there were a large number, were all examined by three o'clock on Friday. Mr. Chas. Palmer then addressed the Jury for the defendants for nearly two hours, in his usual happy style. He congratulated himself, his associate Counsel, the Court, the plaintiff's Counsel and the audience, upon the fact that the case was drawing near its close and stated that his remarks would be characterized by brevity and moderation. He related with clearness and in a very satisfactory way his long experience as a member of the late Board of Education and how in all cases ever brought before that body during his connection with it, a great deal of local irrelevant matter was always brought up, and remarked that this course had been adopted in this case by the plaintiff's Counsel. He particularly wished the gentlemen of the Jury when they retired to their room to remember that Mr. Davies the plaintiff's Counsel was the father of the School Act, and that this action was founded on that Act, and was the first of the kind ever brought. The simple and only question said the learned Council is—Did the defendants act under the Statute? If they acted bona fide and honestly under it, that then the jury were bound to find a verdict for them even although they thought Larkin was improperly dismissed. Mr. Palmer then examined the evidence and criticised the hostile witnesses with his usual force and vigor, and closed his address with an eloquent peroration in which he suggested that the jury should not pay too much attention to the remarks of the counsel on either side, and more particularly to those of the learned gentleman who was about to follow him, as he was accustomed in his earnestness and eloquence to make reckless statements. He said that by certain signs and storm signals that were hoisted, he anticipated squalls, and greatly feared that Mr. Davies intended to make a general onslaught upon his clients and their witnesses. He told the jury that it was their duty to be guided by the direction of the learned judge, who would calmly and dispassionately weigh the evidence.

Mr. Davies followed Mr. Palmer in an eloquent address, in which a vigorous attack was made on the defendants and their witnesses, and a strong appeal made for a verdict.

Judge Peters charged the jury on Saturday morning. He said the action was founded on the Public Schools Act, and that it was one of great difficulty owing to the many inconsistent sections in that Act; that under it the trustees of any school has full authority to dismiss any teacher, and no matter how erroneously they acted if they acted honestly and bona fide in the execution of their duty, they acted under that Act, and the Act protected them; and the jury were bound to find a verdict for them. Before the jury could find a verdict for the plaintiff they must be clearly satisfied in their minds that the trustees acted without reasonable cause, and that they did not believe the charges preferred against the teacher, and that they used the authority given them by the Act for some ulterior purposes of their own. The jury must be satisfied that the defendants acted wilfully and improperly in dismissing the plaintiff from the school. The learned Judge, in conclusion, cautioned the jury that inasmuch as the School Act foisted the office of School Trustee on a man against his will, that they should be very careful before finding a verdict against the present defendants, as the precedent would be bad and the result very dangerous.

The jury, after a short absence, found a verdict for the plaintiff for $235 damages.

Philip Smith was sentenced to three months and six days imprisonment for larceny, after which the Court rose.

Water Works.

LETTER FROM A CITIZEN—READ IT.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—In a late issue of the EXAMINER, I notice you call attention to the civic election for Ward Two—brought about by the resignation of Wm. Koughan, Esq., as City Councillor.

It has occurred to me that the present would, perhaps, be a fitting time to test the wishes of the residents of Ward Two on the question of water supply. I deem it quite unnecessary to go at any length into the subject, as to whether we require a supply of water from other sources than the present. That question appears to be answered in the affirmative by every one; and the only question pending seems to be: "Can we afford it?" and this is met by the terse and suggestive reply: "Can we afford to do without it?"

We are told by physicians and men of judgment, that the health of our city is seriously impaired, owing to bad water and total lack of sewerage. The fact is patent each day, that very many citizens—rather than risk drinking impure water from our city wells—annually spend a large amount in daily drawing water from Spring Park. We have also the additional fact pointed out, that the rates of Insurance now paid in Charlottetown are very largely in excess of rates paid in cities having a never-failing supply of water; and, I may add further, it must be patent to all that, notwithstanding the fact that we possess a fire department, officered and manned by as intelligent and heroic a body of men as you will find in any city, yet from the painful fact that we frequently have not the water to use in extinguishing fires, their services are too often of no avail, and serious preventable damage has and will continue to occur, probably culminating in the destruction of the larger part of the city. This is not a desirable outlook; but I respectfully submit, that in view of the great lack of water, experienced twice during the past summer, the probabilities have not been overdrawn. The question remains, how is the matter to be dealt with in order to secure the end in view and yet not lay our city under a tribute that in these acknowledged stringent times it is unable to bear? While I hold decided opinions as to the absolute necessity of obtaining an adequate supply of water, coupled with an efficient system of drainage, I also hold to the opinion that any radical change involving the expenditure of a large sum of money, should first be endorsed by the citizens at the polls, or public meetings, at which the voice and vote of the people may be ascertained. I am Sir, Yours obediently, CITIZEN.
