Eastern PEI Hit Hardest By Gale Force Winds Mon.

Hurricane Helene which lashed Cape Breton with 90-mile-per-hour winds Monday also left its mark on the Eastern end of Prince Edward Island with reports of damage to trees, barns, power failures and exceedingly high tides.

Electric power was completely off in Souris from 7.30 a.m. until noon when high winds knocked over three trees on the town's Main Street directly across from the Town Hall.

Work crews from Maritime Electric had the interruption under control by noon when normal service was resumed. However, it was reported that service eastward to East Point from Souris was not resumed until 4 p.m.

Power failures were also reported in many other sections of the eastern part of the Province, but Maritime Electric officials had workmen on the job all day and reported last night that service had been restored at all major circuits.

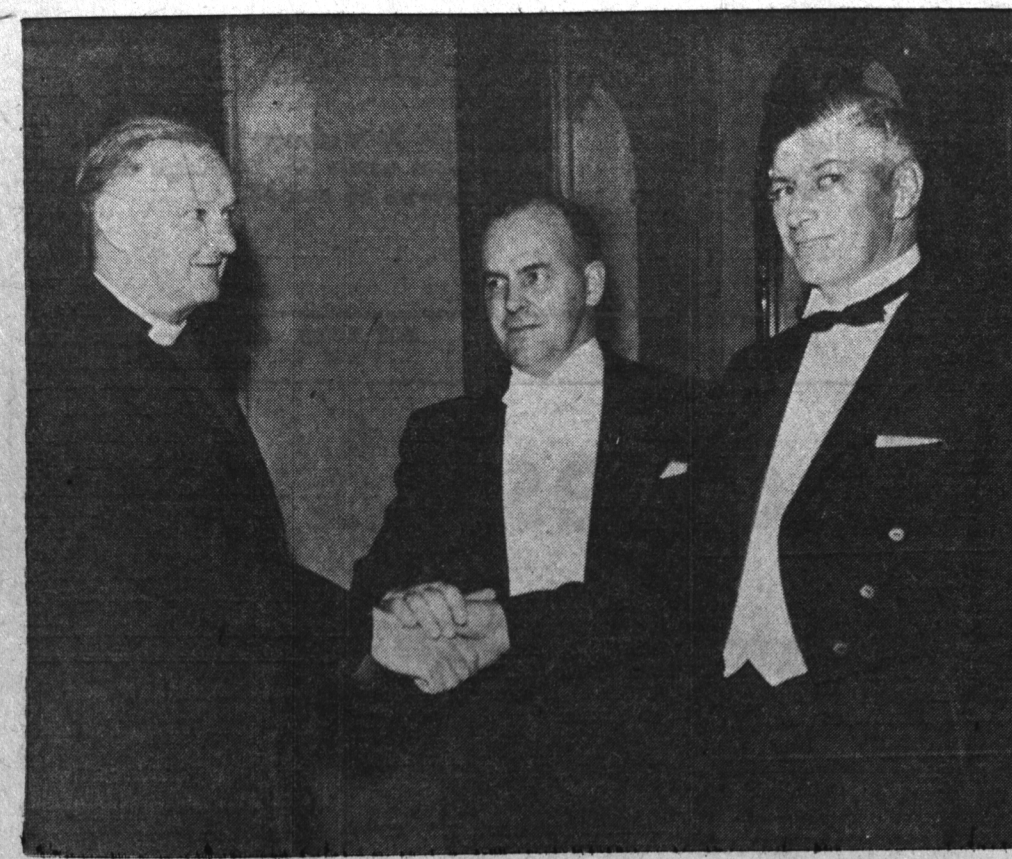

At Souris a small boat anchored in Souris River and owned by Fred Paquet, of Souris West was sunk in the blow. Despite some of the highest tides seen in some time, none of the boats at the wharf were damaged.

At Charlottetown meteorological office stated. Measurement were commenced at 5.00 p.m. Saturday and instruments were checked every six hours during the duration of the downpour which ended yesterday at approximately 2:20 p.m.

High wind velocities were recorded at two o'clock Monday morning when speeds up to 55 miles per hour were frequent. The gale gradually diminished to the point that, at 1:30 p.m. yesterday, it was down to 18 m.p.h.

Some damage was reported by all utilities except the Canadian National Telegraphs which maintained continuous operation on all circuits throughout the big blow.

In Charlottetown the Maritime Electric Company reported that several of their main circuits had been put out of operation by the storm.

Transport Dept. Will Take Over 4 Arctic Fields

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal transport department is planning to take over operation of four Arctic airfields where Distant Early Warning radar stations are located, officials said Monday.

The fields were built in 1955 for the airlift of building materials and personnel into the radar sites.

Officials said control of the radar stations will remain with the United States. The transport department was interested only in providing facilities for prospecting planes and the like. In the same manner, it had taken over operation of the airfield at Frobisher on Baffin Island, a main supply point for the DEW line.

The department's plans to take over operation of the fields which now have only gravel runways have not yet been approved by cabinet.

The department wants first to take over the fields at Cambridge Bay and Hall Lake next year and start construction there. It was hoped to begin construction of living accommodation next year at Tuktoyaktuk and Cape Parry.

These four fields would give the transport department civilian airports right across the Arctic shore of mainland Canada.

Defence Minister Peakes said he has no objection to the plans provided the department is able to make the necessary arrangement with the civilian company now operating the airstrips, Federal Electric of New York.

UK Scientists May Have Rust Problem Licked

LONDON (AP)—British scientists may have come up with an answer to rust.

In 1951 archaeologists were startled to uncover Roman knives, keys and horseshoes in almost perfect condition. Pulled from moist layers of soil in Northern England, the metal showed no trace of rust or corrosion. Scientists credited a tannin-like agent in the soil.

Tannin is a highly astringent substance used in tanning hides. Chemists went to work and made a preparation from the agent found in the soil at the site of the Roman excavations.

Paint, iron and steel companies joined in field trials of the preparation.

Big Ben, the massive clock atop Parliament, was treated 18 months ago. Recently the ironwork was examined and found to be rust-free after the wettest summer in 55 years.

Scientists still are cautious but a guess is that the same substance used in preserved Roman relics will soon be saving industry millions of dollars yearly.

New Quarters For Welfare Office

Office of the Provincial Department of Welfare and Labour will be moved soon to new quarters in the building on Great George Street formerly occupied by the Appraiser's Branch of Canadian Customs. It was announced yesterday by Hon. A.A. MacLacasse, Minister of Welfare and Labour.

Mr. MacLacasse explained that the move was found necessary because of the expanding services being provided by the Welfare and Labour Department.

He said such a consolidation of offices would provide better facilities and should result in greater efficiency.

RENOVATIONS Renovations are presently being carried out on the ground floor of the old Customs building to provide space for the following offices of the Department of Welfare and Labour: Child Welfare, Blind Pensions, Old Age Assistance, Disabled Persons Allowances, Mothers' Allowances, Social Welfare, Rehabilitation, Labour, and a general office.

The Minister, Hon. Mr. MacLacasse, and the Deputy Minister, Brig. W.W. Reid, will also have their offices in the new quarters.

The building on Great George Street, formerly occupied by Customs, was purchased recently by the Provincial Government. It is one time housed the old Prince Edward Island Bank.

Victoria Lodge A.F. and A.M. Holds Centennial Banquet

A banquet at the Charlottetown Hotel last night, followed by a period of dancing, marked the initial activity of Victoria Lodge A.F. and A.M. as it moved into the first year of the second century of existence in Charlottetown.

Seating for 175 members and their wives was provided with Keith MacKinnon, W. M. of the lodge as Master of Ceremonies. Following Grace by M. W. Bro. (Rev.) E. C. Evans and the introduction of head table guests, an official welcome was extended by M. W. Bro. E. R. Stetson, Grand Master of Masons in P. E. Island.

The toast to Her Majesty the Queen was proposed by W. M. Keith MacKinnon followed by the toast to Victoria Lodge which was responded to by M. W. Bro. C. G. Lord.

GUEST SPEAKER M. W. Bro. (Rev.) Donald MacLean Sinclair, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia, guest speaker in the course of his remarks, spoke of his early life in Belfast, P. E. Island where he was born, stressing the bonds of friendship and natural rivalry which characterized that area and similar settlements throughout the province.

"Like the Greeks of old, we considered all outsiders Barbarians", Mr. Sinclair said. After describing the industrial economy of the rural areas and the great changes which have taken place he offered to the Islanders of the early period as "Great politicians and lovers of horses, with a tendency to Sunday racing on the ice", notwithstanding the admonitions of the local Minister against this activity.

He cited a case where that worthy was jockeyed into a position where he held the reins on such an occasion, much to the enjoyment of his parishioners and others.

Referring to the early days of Victoria Lodge, Rev. Mr. Sinclair described the era of Queen Victoria's reign known as the

Policy Committee Of UMW Calls For Boost In Wages

TRURO (CP)—The policy committee of District 26 of the United Mine Workers of America (Ind.) called Monday for a 20-cent hourly wage boost for 10,000 coal miners in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The committee recommendations, presented to the district's 27th convention, also suggested incorporation into the basic wage of the present 14-day production bonus. The combined changes would boost the basic rate to about $14 a day from the present $11.54.

The convention approved the bonus clause, but referred the 20-cent increase back to the committee. There were indications the increase demanded may be raised to 30 cents.

Other policy committee recommendations approved include: Eight paid statutory holidays a year; time-and-a-half for all overtime over eight hours, and double time for Sundays and holidays; three weeks' vacation with pay.

Fleming Leaves For Financial Talks In India

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming left Monday for a financial conference in India prepared to go along with a United States proposal that resources of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund be increased.

He flew by transport department aircraft to Montreal and there boarded a commercial airplane plan for Brussels, London and New Delhi.

The annual meeting of the board of governors of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund opens there for a week beginning Oct. 6.

Asked what Canada's position will be at the New Delhi meeting, Mr. Fleming noted that President Eisenhower has proposed an increase in the resources of both the bank and the fund.

"That is Canadian policy as well," he said.

Heavy Smokers Attempt 'Cure'

LONDON (Reuters)—A dozen heavy smokers were back at their jobs Monday, hoping they were ex-smokers after a weekend of psychological shock treatment.

They had spent the weekend at a house party on the Isle of Wight organized by the National Society of Non-Smokers and dedicated to giving up smoking.

Three doctors and a Baptist minister used hypnotism and a steady verbal barrage on the physical and moral dangers of smoking to convert their patients away from tobacco.

Dr. Norman Macdonald, a consultant physician then put the guests into a hypnotic trance, telling them "when you wake up you will find your craving for cigarettes going... going... going..."

When they came out of it he told them: "In the first 18 hours we have been here, 36 people have died of lung cancer."

"Did it work? Well, at least two were spotted ducking out for a smoke."

Gains Immunity

KIEL, West Germany (Reuters)—A former Nazi S.S. officer under official suspicion of killing Polish civilians during the 1944 Warsaw surrender has been elected to the Schleswig-Holstein state parliament. Heinz Reinhardt, mayor of Westerland, elected in state balloting Sunday, thus gained parliamentary immunity against any charges arising out of the Warsaw revolt.
