Weeks Twins Of Bedeque Celebrate 90th Birthday

SUMMERSIDE — A unique event occurred at Bedeque last night when the Island's oldest living twins, Rev. E. S. Weeks and Albert J. Weeks, were honored with a dinner at their 90th birthday.

The twins are retired in Bedeque and live across the road from each other. Both are widowers and in remarkable condition for their age.

More remarkable is that they live by themselves without assistance around the home Rev. E. S. Weeks lives along cooking his own meals and doing other household chores. He commented jokingly yesterday that he was "gaining weight on it."

His brother, Albert, who lives directly across the highway from him, along with looking after the regular chores around the home also takes care of a non-law, Willie Stafford, crippled from a stroke.

The brothers, born in Fredericton, P.E.I., in 1875, are sons of the late John Weeks and Elizabeth Howard. They come from a family of nine, of which six are still living.

Mrs. Everett MacDonald Death Found Result Of Strangulation

A coroner's jury last night found that the death of Evelyn Mrs. Everett MacDonald of Shamrock was by strangulation and the death occurred sometime between seven p.m., July 22, and noon on July 23.

The jury heard evidence from five witnesses: Angus MacDonald, Shamrock; Donald Gillis, Bradalbane; Dr. John Craig, provincial pathologist, Charlottetown; Sgt. Wayne Smith of RCMP in Charlottetown and Sgt. Earl Elliott of RCMP in Charlottetown.

Dr. Craig stated that the deceased had died as the result of strangulation and that she had been struck on the head and right shoulder by a blunt instrument.

The pathologist also stated that Mrs. MacDonald's ankles and wrists were tied and there was twine around her neck. Her wrists were tied in front of her body and both her hands and feet had been tied before death. Dr. Craig said that she might have been unconscious at the time of death.

Sgt. Wayne Smith of the Charlottetown detachment of the RCMP entered in evidence a diagram of the area near St. Nicholas where the body was found and nine photographs, two of the area and seven of the deceased.

WENT TO FARM — Sgt. Earl Elliott, officer in charge of investigation at the Charlottetown detachment of the RCMP, said he went to the farm of Everett MacDonald July 24 when he was called by Sgt. John MacGuire of the Borden detachment of the RCMP. When he arrived at the farm he learned that the body of Everett MacDonald had been found.

"He made a check of the house looking for Mrs. MacDonald and the hired hand Clarence Gallant. They were not found but it was found that Mrs. MacDonald had left leaving most of her clothing and her purse behind.

Sgt. Elliott said he went Sunday to an area west of Miscouche where the body of Mrs. MacDonald had been found. He said the body was discovered in brush just off a hay field owned by Martin Perry of St. Nicholas.

The body was nude when discovered and covered with grass. Approximately 12 yards south of the body a woman's clothes were found. The hands of the deceased were tied and stretched above her head. Her feet were tied.

Sgt. Elliott said the area where the body was found is 25.3 miles from the MacDonald farm at Shamrock, approximately a 35-minute drive.

STRAW ON TWINE — There was straw on the twine that was around the deceased's neck indicating straw was present when the twine was put around the neck. It was the opinion of Sgt. Elliott the twine was placed around the neck of the deceased at the MacDonald farm.

The jury deliberated for about 20 minutes before delivering their verdict of death by strangulation and that the death occurred either at Thistle and Shamrock or between there and St. Nicholas.

John Spurgeon Jenkins, 132 Hillsboro Street was the foreman of the coroner's jury and the members were: Paul H. Jenkins, 6 Waverly Court; Kimble W. MacKay, 13 Oak Avenue, Sherwood; Donald M. MacDonald, 245 St. Peter's Road; Leonard G. MacPhail, Highland Avenue; Willard Morrell, Burn Street; and James A. Moore, 18 Fielding Street.

The coroner was Dr. L. E. Prowse.

WARNS OF WEATHER — LONDON (CP) — A Canadian tourist went to collect the self-drive car he had rented. The garage owner said: "Welcome to England in high summer. That thing works the windshield wipers, the other works the heater. Good luck."

AN ADEQUATELY WIRE — A Canadian tourist went to collect the self-drive car he had rented. The garage owner said: "Welcome to England in high summer. That thing works the windshield wipers, the other works the heater. Good luck."

ELECTRIC SERVICE LEAGUE OF P.E.I. — The 1965 revenues include $3.3 million for the month of July and $19.9 million in the aggregate covering the amounts estimated to be receivable from the Government of Canada for freight rates, reduction and interim payments related to the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Transportation, for which there is no covering legislation.

Red Cross Swim Awards Presented At Camp Closing

Over 500 youngsters enjoyed 10 days of aquatics, games and water safety films at the St. Peter's Bay day camp which concluded Friday.

Awards were presented at two ceremonies, one in the morning and another in the afternoon, at the Holy Name Hall.

The St. Peter's Lion's Club sponsored the program and a large number of Lions were on hand for the closing ceremonies.

Colin Jackson, water safety chairman, as master of ceremonies introduced Rev. Benoit MacDonald and Rev. Francis J. Ledwell as speakers.

Father Ledwell presented Red Cross swimming awards and recalled it was 19 years ago that he concluded the first swimming course at St. Peter's.

In the afternoon session, Daniel MacDonald, secretary of the water safety committee, spoke to the assembly. Former water safety instructor John Mullally, MP, presented Red Cross and Royal Life Saving Awards. Waldron Dingwell, MLA, also spoke.

Mrs. Evelyn Cudmore, director of Red Cross Water Safety, extended thanks to the Lion's Club, the Women's Institute, the Catholic Women's League, the department of physical education and the many volunteers.

UN Members Agree On Plan To End Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Key United Nations members were reported to have approved Monday the text of an official statement of their agreement to end the General Assembly's long deadlock over Soviet and French voting rights.

The statement was understood to confirm the U.S. decision not to invoke a no-vote penalty against the Soviet Union and France for their refusal to pay assembly peacekeeping assessments—the issue that caused the deadlock.

Ambassador Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan negotiated the text among the 33 members of the UN—special committee on peacekeeping operations, including the three big powers.

The committee chairman, Assembly President Alex Quaison Sackey of Ghana, will receive the statement as a consensus, or summation of the debate, when the committee meets today.

The assembly is expected to take note of this consensus when it resumes its 19th session Wednesday.

That will clear the way for the 14-nation assembly to get back to normal voting, and down to business, when it starts its 20th session Sept. 21.

UN charter article 19 says any member two year behind in its dues "shall have no vote" in the assembly.

Queen Contest Has Two Entries

Two entries have been received to date by the chairman of the Queen of the Furrow contest to be held at the Dundas Plowing Match Sept. 8 and 9.

Audrey MacDonald, a grade 12 student at Montague Regional High School from Des Gras Marsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman MacDonald and Georgina Fogarty, a grade 11 student of Souris Regional High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Fogarty of Seven Mile Road, are the two contestants.

In attendance were Rev. Mr. Weeks's two daughters and one son — Pearl (Mrs. Arthur Brooks), Fredericton, N.B.; Jean (Mrs. T.W. Morrison), Deep River, Ont.; and Dr. Ernest P. Weeks, Ottawa, Ont., who is executive director of the Atlantic Development Board.

Albert Weeks' only living daughter, Verna (Mrs. Sterling Gillespie), of Charlottetown, also was in attendance.

Mr. Weeks' only other daughter, Marion (Mrs. Willie Stafford), died two years ago.

Chairman of the dinner was Rev. R.M. Cameron. Rev. Mr. Weeks spoke on behalf of himself and his brother in expressing thanks.

Fire Destroys Vacant House

KENSINGTON — A landmark for many years, the former Robert Sharpe home at Jepp's Corner, was recently burned to the ground.

The house, which had been used as a summer home by members of the Sharpe family until the past few summers was empty.

Kensington Fire Department was called.

Jepp's Corner, is about two miles from Kensington.
