The Household

FRECKLES.—For freckles, the following lotion is recommended:—1. Muriate of ammonia, half a drachm; laveander water, two drachms,; distilled water, half a pint; apply with a sponge two or three times a day.

PLANT LICE.—A lady correspondent has repeatedly cleared her plants of plant lice, by the use of a teaspoonful of coal oil to a gallon of water, kept mixed by stirring, and applied with a garden syringe, hand broom, or watering pot.

COPPER IN PICKLES.—There is a very simple way of finding out if there is any copper in pickles. Take some of the fluid and put it in a watch glass. Have a perfectly clean needle, which rub carefully on a piece of silk to get any of the grease off used in polishing the needle. Put this needle in the fluid, and if there be copper in the acid solution it will precipitate on the steel and redden it. If not seen by the naked eye, a magnifying glass will show the metalic copper. Sometimes copper in the vinegar arises not from the introduction of copper, but because the vinegar has been boiled in a copper vessel.

DANGER OF MOVING INTO EMPTY HOUSES.—A house while empty becomes a breedero f sickness. The reason is clear; disuse means the ordinary precautions for cleanliness, want of dusting and scrubbing, and often also of ventilation; the contents of cisterns, pipes and drains become stagnant, while the air in the rooms become impure, all of which is favorable to the processes of putrefaction and the development of the germs of diptheria, typhoid fever, and other zymotic diseases. Parties moving from the city to the country, or from the country to the city, should remember this, and take care to have a thorough cleaning performed before moving into a house that has been unoccupied for a season. Above all, clean out all rubbish from cellars and closets. Among the disinfectants to be recommended, if their use is deemed advisable, carbolic acid is among the best.

CUCUMBER PICKLES.—The thing is to make them green, and to do it without introducing any salt of copper. The way to get the colour is to extract it from some vegetable substance. The way I set about making my pickles is as follows:—I have nice small cucumbers picked, which I wash, lay in dishes, and sprinkle them with salt, into which I have ground up a piece of alum not any larger than the end of the little finger. After these have remained in the dish for a week, I put them into a stone jar, having wiped them, and on this I pour boiling vinegar. When they are filled, I put on top of the jar cabbage leaves, and on that I place a clean stone to keep the pickles down. If, after a day or two, my pickles are not green, I decant the vinegar, make it hot—not on the boil—and repeat the process, with fresh cabbage leaves. If not at the first trial, at the second the pickles have a nice color. For seasoning, when I boil my vinegar, for every quart I put in a muslin bag a half ounce of alspice, mace, whole black pepper, and mustard seed.

CATARRH.

Constitutional Catarrh Remedy
CURES CATARRH.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, Esq., Brockville, Ont.:—

DEAR SIR—It is now two years since your "Constitutional Catarrh Remedy" was introduced to me. I have waited this ong to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be "too good to be true."

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper

Yours truly,
W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
