We are selling so many of those soiled hair brushes is because our prices are so low, considering the quality of the goods. These brushes are only sold at these low prices FOR CASH. # SUPREME COURT.

Andrew O'Brien vs Bernard McKeena and another. This was an action of ejectment to recover possession of 72 acres of land on St. Peter's Road. The trial commenced on Saturday last before the Chief Justice and a jury and was concluded last night at 9 o'clock when the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for 52 acres of the 72 acres claimed, the remaining 20 acres being found for the defendant. The facts of the case appear to have been that in the year 1857 the McDonalds of Tracadie leased the 72 acres of land to the plaintiff's father for the term of 100 years which he entered into and had possession for some years. Having died his administrator assigned the property to Edward Gay, who in turn assigned it to a man named McAnlay. He also died and his administrator assigned the farm to Dr. Morris who in May 1888 assigned it to the plaintiff. There was great dispute as to who was in possession of the property after O'Brien's administrator sold to Gay, and no rent appeared to have been paid. In 1875 the government acquired the landlords interest in the property and in 1879 sold it to one of the defendants, who then claimed to have been put in possession some years previously by an agent of the landlords. The defendants in the year 1880 got a government deed and paid off the Land Office. The plaintiff claimed title under the original lease to his father and contended that the Government had no authority to give a deed to any person not claiming under that lease. The defendants on their part claimed that the old lease had been abandoned and forfeited on many grounds and that the deed from the Government gave them the title and further they had been in possession of the 72 acres for upwards of 20 years, which also gave them a title under the Statute of Limitations. A large amount of evidence was submitted and a great amount of legal argument put forward during the progress of the case which finally went to the jury yesterday afternoon with the result that a verdict was found for the plaintiff for 52 acres of the 72 acres claimed.

Stewart Q. C. and Peters Q. C. for the plaintiff.

D. A. McKinnon, J. T. Mellish and W. F. H. Carvell for defendants.

The Court stands adjourned until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. All the jury cases are over.

Last September he went to Marlin, where he remained until the end came. His father and sister have the sympathy of all in their great bereavement. The body will be embalmed and brought home for burial. The funeral will be under the auspices of the Odd-fellows.
