

Intramurals

By Guy Garrett

The last couple of weeks in intramurals saw the Selects lose two big championships (in football and in softball) and the start of the hockey season.

In softball, the Selects, who are contenders in every sport, won the first game but lost the next two by one run each. The Selects were led by the pitching of Scott "Summer Games" MacDonald. Korakin won the softball title as they squeaked out two wins in Select stadium.

The Korakin team was led by the Smith brothers who pitched in both wins.

In football, the Selects came up big defensively but died horribly in a 6-1 loss to the M&M squad. The loss came because many key players did not show up for the games. These players have since been shipped out. M&M went on to beat Marion 22-6.

The hockey league opened up last week as the Sophomores beat Blanchard Hall. The Sophies win was lead by Don "Pac-Man" Smith, as he pulverized a Blanchard man in the corner. As for Blanchard Hall, they recently opened up their own article called "Blanchard Corner". I doubt if this article has much knowledge, because not one of Blanchard's men goes near the corner. As for the Selects, they opened up with a win over the league biters, the engineers. As far as crying goes, the engineers have to be the worst. I recently published a true manuscript on the engineers and they came crying. As for hockey, I was playing and I fell once and there were more Engineers down on me than I would count. I told these cannibals there was enough to feed them all.

The Selects recently signed two soccer players Scott Polanze, and Allan Stewart, and both should barely make the club.

In the opening game the puck was dropped by ex-Eagle Steve Vaive. Vaive is now an actor and is Nick Adonodas' back-up on "The Beachcombers", where his latest part is playing a Greek boxer who fights a G.I. Joe at Jim's. Steve, who is famous for saying, "I won't go back," is now back with the Eagles.

Blanchard Corner

Blanchard goal-tender Dwight Macdonald brought the boo birds out of hiding last Wednesday night. The fan at the UPEI Colliseum was flabbergasted as Blanchard went down to defeat 8-4 at the hands of Marion Hall.

But when Blanchard prepared themselves for the Flying Freshmen, the team got up for the game, thanks to team leader Chris Rushton. Before the game, James Johnstone was quoted as saying, "I shaved my legs tonight to skate faster."

Too bad J.J. had to leave the game early due to an ugly incident to the left of goaltender Dwight Macdonald.

Newcomer Rickey Gallant punctured the Freshmen net three times and Bobby Nickolson added a pair as Blanchard skated to an 8 to 5 victory. Next opponents for Blanchard Hall: Mean Machine, and as the boys in 301 say, "let them come with everything they've got." And that's the way it is.
