Banks Blistered In Norris Report

OTTAWA (CP)—" . . . Capable, decisive, egocentric, intolerant and ruthless.

"He is of the stuff of the Capones and the Hoffas of whom the dictators throughout history, from the earliest times to the totalitarians Hitler and Stalin are prototypes.

"He is a bully, cruel, dishonest, greedy, power-hungry, contemptuous of the law."

The words are from the report of Mr. Justice T. G. Norris on his inquiry into shipping strife on the Great Lakes.

He applies his scathing appraisal to Hal C. Banks, president of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.), burly waterfront figure who came to Canada in 1949 to break one union and found another.

Reported Mr. Justice Norris: "It should always be remembered that this strife, all this lawlessness . . . is part of an irresponsible campaign to maintain one rapacious and violent man, Banks, in power as a dictator."

It seems doubtful that any individual heretofore has been blistered by a federal inquiry in so vigorous a manner.

The theme recurs continually throughout most of the 275,000-word document.

REFUSED CITIZENSHIP

The Banks history starts quietly enough as recorded by the report. The American citizen, who has been refused Canadian citizenship, was born in Iowa 54 years ago and came to Canada from the SIU of North America.

He was to help break the old Canadian Seamens Union, tinged with communism. Sponsors included shipping firms and some prominent labor leaders.

He applied for landed immigrant status in 1952 and subsequently he was ordered deported on grounds he had been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude. His 1954 appeal was allowed.

In 1958, he applied again for citizenship and again his application was rejected despite support from figures of status including Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The citizenship court judge found Mr. Banks had not behaved as the average Canadian "would, should or does."

President Jodoin of the CLC, which eventually heaved Banks' SIU out of its membership, publicly recanted for his one-time support of the Montreal-based leader.

'QUITE RUTHLESS'

At one point, the justice observes:

"He is quite ruthless in his methods and has gathered around him a group of union officials—weak characters—to do his bidding. He has set up a facade of democracy . . . he is an astute propagandist . . ."

The report says Banks "apparently is in constant need of

Red Premier Jovial With Yanks, British

MOSCOW (AP)—Joking and bubbling ith enthusiasm, Premier Khrushchev launched the Kremlin talks on a nuclear test-ban agreement Monday in a 3½-hour conference with special American and British envoys. He jovially suggested signing the agreement "right away."

Red China, whose ideological feud with Khrushchev has reached the point of a split, took angry note of the talks. A Peking broadcast charged that the negotiations were based on what it called the "utter hypocrisy" of U.S. President Kennedy's "strategy for peace."

By entering the talks with W. Averell Harriman-U.S. state undersecretary, and Lord Hailsham, Britain's science minister, the Kremlin ignored Peking's latest claims that Communists cannot negotiate with "U.S. imperialism."

The Kremlin's negotiations with the Western allies are centred on a limited agreement banning tests in the air, space and under water. Both the Communist and Western sides expressed optimism.

Khrushchev was in a jovial mood from the first instant Harriman walked through the door of the big conference room in the Kremlin.

"You have started counting your years backwards," the Soviet leader told the 71-year-old Harriman, former ambassador to Moscow.

"You, too," replied Harriman. "I started doing that a long time ago." Khrushchev said. He is 69.

Young Dartmouth Boy Drowns Near Borden

A three-year-old Dartmouth, N.S. boy on board the MV Abegweit was drowned yesterday afternoon, when he fell from the after end of the upper car deck into the Northumberland Strait, while the ferry was making one of her regular crossings from Cape Tormentine to Borden.

The accident is reported to have occurred about 3 p.m. when the little lad, Michael Romain Van Dorpe, slipped through the railing while watching the ferry approach Borden along with his father, Romain Henry Van Dorpe of Dartmouth, and a number of other passengers.

The skipper of the Abegweit, Capt. H. Larsen, immediately reversed engines, and a lifeboat was put over the side under First Mate Reginald Biltz of Borden.

As the boat and ferry neared the spot where the boy had fallen in, he was observed when he bobbed to the surface, and apparently thoroughly waterlogged the lad was pulled into the lifeboat.

ROWED TO BORDEN

It was decided not to attempt to transfer the little victim aboard the ferry, but to have the boat's crew row him into Borden.

Before pulling away from the side of the ferry Isadore Simard, a resident of Quebec, also enroute to the Island and a qualified Red Cross first aid instructor was transferred into the lifeboat.

Mr. Simard is said to have applied artificial respiration for about an hour, being spelled occasionally by one of the crewmembers of the Abbie.

This treatment was maintained until a resuscitator arrived with two firemen from Summerside in a boat operated by Mark Gillen and Nelson Bernard of Borden. But the boy failed to respond, and Dr. James L. Saunders of Summerside, who arrived at the scene with the resuscitator, pronounced the victim dead.

The accident was investigated by the Borden detachment RCMP.

Coroner Dr. W. E. Callaghan, Summerside, empanelled a jury and after the remains were viewed the inquest was adjourned indefinitely.

Gordon Aid Probe Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—New Democrat Stanley Knowles moved Monday in the Commons for a study by the Commons privileges committee of the legality of the hiring of Finance Minister Gordon's outside budget helpers.

Speaker Alan Macnaughton reserved decision on whether there was prima facie evidence that Commons privileges were affected.

Mr. Knowles, MP for Winnipeg North Centre, last Friday accused the government of "construing" that it had the right to hire the three Toronto businessmen to help Mr. Gordon prepare the June 13 budget. He argued that the law gave no such authority.

Justice Minister Chevrier, raising a question of privilege on the basis of Mr. Knowles' earlier statements, argued that the government was within its rights.

Following Mr. Chevrier's statement, Mr. Knowles said that since there appeared to be a conflict between his view and Mr. Chevrier's, the Commons privileges committee should examine the legal opinion on the hiring given by Deputy Justice Minister E. A. Driedger.

THEY'RE ALL INTERESTED IN BIG PARADE

Many shades of opinion and interest are seen in the faces in this shot taken by a roving cameraman yesterday along the route of the huge Lobster Carnival Parade at Summerside. The youngster hitching a ride for better viewing, the attractive lady peering over their shoulders, and the two little tots at lower left all have their own sense of the importance of the parade that is just coming into their view. Summerside people and their visitors displayed a keen interest in yesterday's activities. (See page 2 and 3 for stories and other pictures.)

Negro Clergymen Seized In Racial Demonstrations

NEW YORK (AP)—A wave of anti-discrimination demonstrations swirled in many quarters of New York City Monday, resulting in a mass arrest of Negro clergymen at a Brooklyn construction project.

Elsewhere in the city, the racial tension showed up in marches, sit-ins, conferences, court actions, weapons seizures and alleged white neo-Nazi moves to foment disorder.

One Protestant minister said the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn "is on the brink of a violent outburst" unless Negroes get a fairer share of construction jobs.

In a troubled sector of the Bronx, pickets still walked outside a diner after eight members of a pro-Nazi organization were seized on charges of plotting to incite a racial riot there. Police also confiscated weapons belonging to the eight.

The current fire of New York City demonstrations — at commercial and building sites and in government offices — was concentrated on winning more employment of Negroes.

Brigades of whites and Negroes, men and women, joined in the movements, claiming bias in hiring.

TO FILE SUIT

Negro lawyer Paul Zuber, of the New York Co-ordinating Committee for Equal Opportunity, said a federal court suit will be filed Wednesday to halt all city and state construction where discrimination exists.

Groups of sit-in demonstrators kept up round-the-clock posts at the New York City offices of Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner, in that dispute.

In Harlem, work on remodelling a bank was shut down and at a city-sponsored housing project on Manhattan's lower East Side other pickets paraded with swarms of police standing by.

At the building site of the downstate medical centre in Brooklyn, 42 demonstrators, including 17 clergymen, were arrested after they linked hands and blocked vehicles and workers.

Charged with disorderly conduct, they were held briefly in detention cells, then released in their own recognizance for a later hearing.

Hundreds of their parishioners jammed the courtroom and corridors outside.

"The leading clergy of Brooklyn feel that the Negroes have been denied equality and opportunity in this city, state and nation," declared Rev. Gardner Taylor, one of those arrested. "We're tired of it."

Fast Action Is Promised On Waterfront Problem

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government was urged Monday to clamp an immediate trusteeship on sailors' unions in Canada to clean up waterfront labor lawlessness that threatens the nation's economy.

The plea was laid before the minister by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris after a year-long investigation of labor strife and shipping disruptions on the Great Lakes.

Atlantic Premiers Conferring Today

By DAVID DAVIDSON

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of the four Atlantic provinces were to meet in the New Brunswick capital today continuing the tradition of annual meetings among them begun nine years ago.

Sessions closed to both the press and public were to begin this morning in the brown stone legislature buildings.

Although private, the premiers' conversations are usually about economic and administrative problems common to the four Atlantic provinces. The talks are informal in that no advance schedule is followed.

One reliable source said the premiers this year may, among other things, be discussing education standards, the trucking industry and its operations as well as the civil service.

The source said the meeting probably "wouldn't delve too far" into federal-provincial affairs. He didn't deny, though, that some matters affecting the Atlantic area would be considered.

Trucking and education were also major topics at last year's premiers' meeting in St. John's, Nfld.

REACH AGREEMENT

Agreement was reached then on highway and bridge weight limits and further study of reciprocal truck licensing was promised. This would mean a carrier licensed in one province would not require further registration in another province in which business was carried out.

Considered at St. John's was creation of an Atlantic provinces centre for training vocational school in instructors. This and other education matters could come up for scrutiny at today's meeting.

If federal - provincial issues are discussed the Atlantic Development Board is a sure bet for comment.

Soviets Charge Chinese Fostering Racial Strife

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has charged Red China with trying to set up a new centre of international communism —long headquartered in the Kremlin—and of setting the colored races against the white.

The bitter accusations were printed in the government newspaper Izvestia Monday as peace talks between Soviet and Chinese delegates plodded into their second week. Each side apparently was determined to force the other to be first to break them off.

Izvestia elaborated on charges contained in the Soviet Communist party's open letter published Saturday.

It said Red China is only one step from "a schism of the world communist movement and the creation of a new international Communist centre."

The paper said Peking is trying to find allies among the non-white nations on the basis of "the opposition of the colored peoples and the white race and the demarcation of peoples according to racial, national and continental lines."

HOLD 3½ HOUR MEETING

The Soviet communist party general secretary, Teng Hsiaoping, and his delegation spent 3½ hours with the Russians Monday in a sprawling mansion in the hills overlooking Moscow.

The Soviet Communist party's weekend statement flatly charged the Chinese with attempting to split the Communist world.

The violence of the attack gave rise to a spate of rumors in Western circles that the talks had broken up. Some sources reported the Chinese were packing their bags after being rebuffed on a demand for Premier Khrushchev' reignation.

In returning to the talk Monday, the Chinese appeared to be following Peking's latest tactic, announced in a party statement Saturday—wearing down the opposition by a war of attrition.

"If the difference cannot be resolved today, they can wait until tomorrow," the statement said—"or until next year."

Christian Unity Study Broadens

By ALEXANDER FARRELL

MONTREAL (CP) — The fourth world conference on faith and order, already divided into five sections, split up further Monday into 15 sub-sections to attack problems of Christian unity on a wide front.

At least one delegate, a Lutheran professor from Germany objected to this, saying it will result in "so much academic documentation that nothing of value will be accomplished."

The professor, a recognized authority on the New Testament, said his section—on the church's role—should remain together "to deal with the crucial matter of preparing a meaningful statement on the nature of the church."

He also criticized, with support from a few other German Lutherans and some orthodox speakers from Eastern Europe, the report prepared as a basic working paper for the section by 14 European theologians—including four Lutherans.

It spoke "too casually and at times frivolously" of God and failed "to deal with Christ and the church for this generation."

Reporters have been admitted to section and sub-section meetings on condition that they not quote speakers by name without express permission.

REPORT NOT USELESS

One Russian Orthodox priest said that, while he agreed with the German's criticism that the report's approach to the subject of Christ and the church lacked the proper tone, it did not believe the various churches represented here—there are 138 of them—would find it entirely useless.

It is the first time that Russian Orthodox delegates have attended a faith and order conference sponsored by the World Council of Churches.

Another German Lutheran said the report is inadequate "in a civilization that is thoroughly de-Christianized with the signs of the dying church all around us.

"We live in an age stamped by unbelief and this stamp isn't going to be erased by long-winded generalities about the universality of the church or by ill-advised attempts to make God out to be a swell fellow."

He described as "little short of blasphemy" a passing saying that "the church recognizes joyously that God does not spend all of his time in the church."

"The New Testament did not speak so of God, nor did Augustine, and Luther did so only when he was joking with the humanists."

N.S. Fish Industry Said Prosperous

HALIFAX (CP) — The Nova Scotia fishing industry is making giant strides to recapture the prosperity that it enjoyed in the days of wooden schooners.

Shipyards are turning out trawlers in an unprecedented boom. The value of fishing landings is at an all-time high. A new fish plant is under construction and a second is planned.

Biggest part of the spending is on the new processing plants.

One is at the southwestern port of Lunenburg where Lunenburg Sea Products Limited is engaged in an $8,00,000 expansion program to create what the company claims will be the largest and most modern facilities on the North American Atlantic seaboard. The plant will go into operation next year and will double the company's existing work force of 300.

The other is at the eastern port of Canso where Acadia Fisheries Limited announced last week plans for a $3,000,000 plant to employ 275.

Processing plants are the key to providing fresh fish which both domestic and foreign markets demand.

MADE PORT FAMOUS

In the 1800s Nova Scotia prospered with the salt cod industry and dory men fishing from more than 150 Lunenburg based schooners made their home port famous. The decline of the salt cod market and the depression of the 1930s left the fisheries staggering under a blow from which it has been slow to recover.

Salary Hikes Are Indicated

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon told the Commons Monday the government has decided to award salary increases to certain classes of civil servants. The announcement will be made this morning.

It is believed that 57,000 civil servants will be affected. They are classified in group "D" which includes postal workers, customs and excise officers, immigration officers, service workers, engineers and technicians.

DRIVING COMPETITION PRIZE WINNER HONORED

The chap with the happy smile, right, is John W. Andrew, East Royalty and the trophy in front of him is the one he won for his third-place finish in the national safe driving contest at Quebec City over the weekend. Seated behind the trophy is Councillor Arthur Wright who represented the city last night at the dinner in the Charlottetown Hotel. John's mother is standing behind him and his brother and father, Roger and Wallace Andrew, are on her right. A Junior Chamber of Commerce motorcade — they staged the provincial Road-E-O which John won—took the party from the Airport to the Charlottetown Hotel where they were hosts at a dinner. Guests besides the Andrews, included Councillor Wright, Staff Sgt. H. G. E. Chipman and Sgt. R. O. Lively, RCMP; Inspector A. J. Dowling, and Cpl. Keith Wakelin, City and Phil Barlow, provincial motor vehicle branch. John is the only Islander who ever placed in the top three at the national competition. Also greeting John at the airport were his sisters Linda and Kathy.

Political Mud Slung Freely

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—All parties in the Commons agreed their hands were tied Monday but that didn't prevent them behaving each other verbally in giving retroactive approval to money spent by the previous government.

Social Credit and New Democrats accused the Conservatives of riding roughshod over Parliament's rights to control the purse strings. The Tories charged the Liberals, New Democrats and Social Credit with deliberately wrecking the last Parliament.
