VICTORIA BROWNIES PACK
Thursday evening was a very important evening for Victoria. It was the Brownies first enrolment. Miss Iphigie Arsenault, Division Commissioner for Queens, Mrs. W.R. Burnett and Mrs. Smith, parents and friends of the Brownies were present.

The following Brownies were enrolled by Miss Arsenault: Sandra Craig, Connie Boulter, Shirley Boulter, Elizabeth Ferguson, Lillian Lea, Eileen Craig, Janet Ann Keough, Penny Ann Quigley, Elizabeth Rogerson, Cheryl Butterfield, Diane Miller.

Miss Arsenault congratulated the Brown Owl Mrs. W.R. McQuarrie, Brownies, and the fine group committee which are sponsoring the Pack, on the fine appearance of the Brownies in their nice new uniforms, which their committee had really burned the midnight oil to have finished for their enrolment—it is a pleasure and inspiration to see such enthusiasm as that which exists among parents and Brownies of the 1st Brownie Pack of Victoria.

Mr. Burke, a citizen of Victoria also thanked Mrs. McQuarrie for her wonderful instruction to the Brownies, and the Brownies for their splendid entertainment. Mrs. Murchison, an elderly citizen of Victoria told us that a few little Brownies heard that she was expecting company, and that they came to her house to help her prepare for them. That is really fine Brownies, and it shows that you are trying to make this world a nicer place to live in. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

TRINITY BROWNIE PACK
Mrs. W.J. Rodd, District Commissioner visited Trinity Brownie Pack for their closing meeting, and presented the following badges: Mistrel, Cathy MacKay, Lynn Johnston, Collectors, Donna James, Cathy MacKay, Winna Martin, Margaret Bell, Daphne Stedman, Carol Green; Mrs. Rodd presented to the Pack their Baden Powell Stars, the meeting ended with a "Tea Party." This Pack have had a very busy and successful winter, and we wish the Brownies, their Brown Owl Mrs. L. MacKay and Mrs. Found Tawney Owl, a very happy summer.

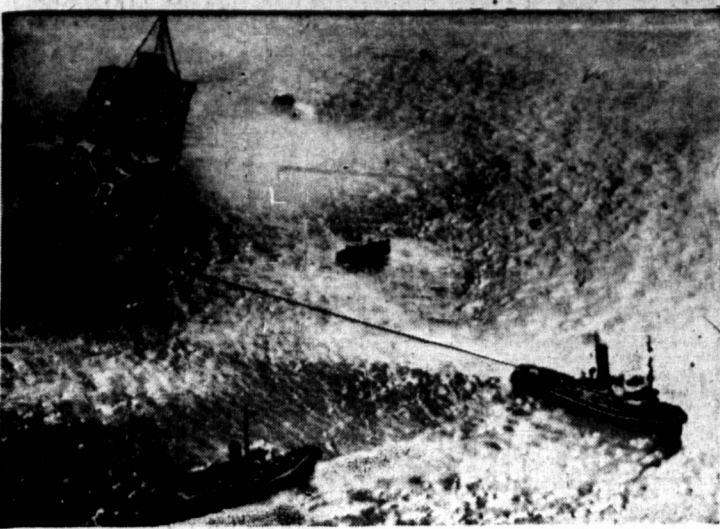

GUIDE SONG BOOK
When Girl Guides gather together, whether in camp or at a company meeting, the end and the climax of the day's programme is often a campfire. A campfire means singing, and this is the Canadian Song Book to be used by Guides at their campfires.

For some time there has been an increasing interest in learning good songs. We hope that this book will help to teach them. There are songs from different parts of the world, a number of Canadian songs, a few old favourites and some songs which are completely new.

We hope that this book will find its way into every company in Canada, so that when Guides meet together from far parts of the country, they can sing together from our own Canadian Song Book. It has been possible to produce this "Songs for Canadian Girl Guides" at a popular price, 30 cents, thanks to the kindness of Mrs. D.E.S. Wishart, who suggested that part of her retirement gift be used for this purpose.

Saskatchewan Faced With Serious Drought Threat

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
REGINA (CP) — As hot, dry winds burn through ripening crops, Saskatchewan wheat farmers face a serious threat of drought for the first time in eight years.

Agricultural officials Tuesday described the situation as "critical." They believe the fate of the 1957 crop will probably hinge on the amount of rain in the next week.

Hat, grasshoppers and hail already have taken their toll in scattered parts of the province but a timely, general rain might still produce a wheat crop—lower than last year's bumper 327,000,000 bushels but higher than the long-term average yield of 15 bushels an acre. The province normally grows about 60 per cent of Canada's wheat.

A spokesman for the provincial agriculture department said more than 50 per cent of the estimated 12,685,000-acre wheat crop now is in head and needs moisture quickly to fill the heads.

A Saskatchewan Wheat Pool official compared the present situation with 1949, the last dry year, when drought reduced the yield in the southwest to four bushels an acre. The total provincial crop then was 186,000,000 bushels, an average of 11.8 bushels an acre.

HARD-HIT SPOTS SCATTERED
During the last week, dry winds from the west and 90-degree-plus temperatures burned the roots of maturing wheat in the southwest along the United States border. Lack of rain has practically wiped out the crop in an area north of North Battleford in the northwest and conditions are poor in some central districts north and west of Regina.

Grasshoppers, ravaging fields in the southeast, revived memories of 1937 when a province-wide drought and grasshopper plague resulted in a crop of 38,000,000 bushels, the smallest on record. The average yield was only 2.6 bushels an acre.

But these are isolated areas and elsewhere the general picture is brighter. Because the province this year has had no general spring rain, much has depended on local showers. As a result, the state of the crop varies from field to field and from farm to farm. One can frequently see good crops in hollows, which have caught the rainfall, and burned-out stalks on higher ground only a few hundred yards away.
