For Summer Formal

To add a fresh, cool touch to your summer formal crocheted flowers are fashion's newest notion. The pretty choker and bracelet shown above are very easy-to-do and they are inexpensive, too, for so little material is required.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. What is the proper procedure of a best man regarding the wedding ring?

A. He carries it in a righthand pocket, and is sure to remember the exact pocket. He joins the bridegroom in the room set aside for their use and walks with him to the spot where the marriage is to take place.

Q. When an invitation is accepted by letter, is it considered good taste to repeat the exact date and hour mentioned in the invitation?

A. It is not only good taste to do so, but it also helps avoid any misunderstanding as to the date and time.

Q. I have seen people chewing ice cream. Is this good form?

A. Chewing ice cream is neither necessary, nor is it good form.

The Stars Say

By Genevieve Kumble

For Tuesday, June 20

A MOST precipitous time to look ahead and concentrate the faculties and energies on long-term and far-reaching programs and policies. Industry, application, profound reasoning and serious thought should yield rich returns in the attainment of stability, security and worthwhile objectives.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, should consolidate their faculties, resources and influence in establishing themselves on a firm and enduring foundation, in which future rewards, recognition and accumulations may be tangible and lasting.

Avoid Summer Wilting By Extra Grooming

It takes a special bit of doing for career girls to keep that spic-and-span look during the summer. Freshly-combed hair and newly-pressed clothes seem to wilt on the way to work.

There are two safeguards against these problems. The first is cleanliness. Best rule to follow is: when in doubt, don't. Don't try to get by with yesterday's shower, that not-quite-so-fresh blouse, last week's shampoo or a below-par deodorant.

Second is neatness. Choose simple clothes of wrinkle-resistant fabrics. Save your frills for the cool of the evening.

Give special attention to your undergarments. Summer sheers reveal frayed straps, safety pins and wrong color slips.

Career girls must pay dearly for their hot-weather spruceness—in energy, time at wash-basin and ironing board, and even in money.

Eyes May Suffer

A pair of sunglasses doesn't end your summer responsibility to your eyes. Increased hours in the open mean they receive extra exposure to sun glare, wind burn and dust.

First rule is to keep your hands

How Can I!!!

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I remove scratches from silver?

A. Purchase a small quantity of putty powder, put it into a saucer, and add just enough olive oil to make a paste. Rub this paste on the silver with a soft flannel cloth; then polish with a chamomile and the scratches will disappear.

Q. How can I make a good hot-weather salad?

A. A delicious salad can be made by spreading cream cheese over tomato slices, then arranging them in layers.

Q. How can I remedy a few

Spray cool, fragrant cologne about face, shoulders and wrists. Keep bottle of ice-cold cologne in refrigerator.

away from your eyes regardless of how itchy or tired they feel. To relieve this discomfort, it's a good idea to wash your eyes with a mild boric acid solution, either using an eye cup or simply squeezing a few drops into them from a sterile cotton ball moistened with the boric water.

These cotton balls are also useful as eye brighteners. Saturated with cold boric solution and placed as pads upon closed lids, they soothe and refresh your eyes.

Morning Smile

"Perfect" Answer

From small beginnings, the family row had become a raging storm. The woman drew a long breath and addressed her husband:

"You're crazy, you're worthless, you're shiftless, you're bad tempered"—she paused for a final effort—"and you're a thorough liar!"

"Well, my dear," said hubby, with a sobbing smile, "no man is perfect."

small leaks in my garden hose?

A. Try painting the hose on the outside with a pliable roofing paint. It will last at least another season.

That Body Of Yours

BRAIN STROKE—APOPLEXY

Because so many middle-aged and elderly men and women die of heart stroke or coronary thrombosis, we do not read or hear so much about brain stroke (apoplexy), which, like heart stroke, may cause death on first attack, or may consist of several strokes.

A new and last-calf of the year arrived this morning to swell our fortunes, a reddish one to presently career granddaughter's hand.

It was found that high blood pressure (hypertension) was present in nearly 90 per cent of the patients.

Now having high blood pressure does not mean that you are bound to have a brain stroke or a heart stroke. Thousands of men and women with high blood pressure live and enjoy good health year in and year out.

From time to time the physician examines their blood pressure, and give some advice as to diet and rest and occasionally a quieting drug, no treatment is necessary to prevent a brain or heart stroke.

In the study of the 155 cases of apoplexy, Drs. Hicks and Black report that a spasm, probably due to some emotional disturbance, appeared to be an important factor in most cases while the high blood pressure, aside from spasm, was responsible for just a few of the deaths.

The lesson is plain for those with high blood pressure. By keeping the mind at rest, by help of religion or philosophy of life, a brain stroke may be prevented. In some cases, of course, the quieting drug prescribed by the family physician may be necessary.

ELLEN'S DIARY

By An Island Farmer's Wife

The first sign of favorable growth in our venture at poultry-raising was the appearance this morning of a trim neutral-clad turkey poult beneath the warm wings of a sitting foster-mother. James, amid a smile which in the long run was meant for our benefit, "Just one from the first hatching, Ellen? Well now that's not too encouraging, is it? If it had happened in my farming, I'm sure I should give it up at once!"

A nosegay of buttercups gathered from the streamside there and first-opened daisies from a meadow. Besides there came an armful of sun-dried weathered sticks of kindling, carefully gathered by the small one "to make you a fire burn" she confided "when granddaddy comes in a hurry for his supper. These will make the kettle boil!"

But all day there appeared no rain-cloud in the sky, nor at sunset when we searched through it's colors for a sign of falling weather. All day the sun lay bright along the countryside and the wind that had wandered down gathering spices and perfumes along the wooded banks up the creek, was dry and cool.

Certainly nobody can blame a woman for leaving a nagger. But there is such a thing as jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, you know, and a middle-aged woman divorces her husband, even one who has serious faults, she frequently finds herself in a worse estate than she was before.

So I regard your husband as a hopeless case and do not see what good you would accomplish by telling him in advance that you are going to leave him as soon as the boys are out of college.

What a price to pay for the lack of self-control!

DEAR MISS DIX: I have spent many years preparing myself for a profession in which I have good prospects of success and for which I feel myself particularly fitted.

ANSWER: A girl knows perfectly well that when she makes a boy marry her before he has got on his feet and is financially able to support a family she dooms him to perpetual poverty.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS -

Nagging Husband

Makes Home Unbearable For Wife And Children

DEAR MISS DIX: Twenty-five years ago I married a man who has proved to be the world's greatest nagger. We have two boys, fine characters, all that any father could wish. I have an amiable disposition and never answer my husband back when he nags, but nothing that any of us ever do pleases him.

ANSWER: I have never yet known a nagger, male or female, who admitted to being one. Nor have I ever seen a reformed nagger. Possibly they can't reform because nagging gets to be a habit and they don't know when they do it.
