THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 15, 1879.

A Specimen Grit Job.

THE Grits of Quebec seem to be a thoroughly bad lot. Only the other day it transpired that a man named McGowen—brother-in-law of the Premier—obtained from the Government a piece of property for $5,000 for which he previously offered the late Government $10,000. This piece of property had cost the Government over $16,000, and was valued by the Crown Lands Department at $12,000.

The Letellier Matter.

THE Legislative Council of Quebec have adopted the following resolution:—

"That it be resolved, considering that the nomination and recall of Lieut. Governors of the different Provinces of the Dominion is vested in the Governor-in-Council, under the authority of the B. N. A. Act of 1867, according to the despatch of Lord Carnarvon, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, to Lord Dufferin, then Governor-General, of the 7th of January, 1875, in which it is declared that 'The Lieut. Governors of the Provinces of the Dominion, however important locally their functions may be, are a part of the colonial administrative staff, and are more immediately responsible to the Governor-General in Council,' considering that the successful working of the Local Government depends in a great measure on the accomplishment of the duties assigned to the different Lieut. Governors, and that any infringement on the Constitution with impunity would endanger the peace and prosperity of the Dominion, this House is of opinion that it is the right as well as the duty of the hon. Privy Council of Canada to require from the Lieut. Governors the faithful execution of the duties of their offices, and to intervene to prevent them from acting in any way subversive of the principles of responsible government granted to each Province."

A Portuguese African Explorer.

A Portuguese gentleman named Major DeSerra-Pinto has just accomplished a feat which will tend to revive the ancient reputation of his countrymen, by crossing the continent of Africa from the Portuguese colony of Benguela on the west coast to the English colony of Natal on the east. He left Benguela on the 5th of August, 1877, and reached the coast of Natal on the 14th of April, 1879. He devoted much attention to the natural history and geography of the territory through which he passed, and the result of his discoveries in these directions are likely to be very valuable. He entertains a highly favorable opinion of the country, and there is no doubt that Central Africa is yet destined to become a field for European colonization. Major Pinto's most remarkable discovery was his finding a tribe of white negroes, "whiter than the Caucasians." The following is an extract from his lecture, giving an account of this singular discovery:—

I here made one of the most curious discoveries of my journey. I one day noticed that one of the carriers was a white man. He belonged to a race entirely unknown up to the present day. A great white people exists in South Africa. Their name in Cassequer is of hair have their heads covered with small tufts of very short wool. Their cheek bones are prominent, their eyes like those of the Chinese. The men are extremely robust. When they discharge an arrow at an elephant the shaft is completely buried in the animal's body. They live on roots and the chase, and it is only when these supplies fail them that they hold any relations with the neighboring race, the Ambuelas, from whom they obtain food in exchange for ivory. The Cassequeres are an entirely nomadic race, and never sleep two nights in the same encampment. They are the only people in Africa that do not cook their food in pots. They wander about, in groups of from four to six families, over all the territory lying between the Cuchi and Cubango. It would seem that from a crossing of the Cassequeres with the negroes of other races sprang the mulattoes of the south whom the English call Bushmen. The latter are, however, better off than the Cassequeres, and use pots in cooking their food, while their dispositions are quite opposite to civilization.

THE reception which the Rev. V. Vitt Talmage has met with in England ought to be some consolation after the treatment which he received from the Brooklyn Presbytery. The London Christian Globe ascribes the following characterization of him to his eloquent brother Mr. Spurgeon:—Mr. Talmage's discourses lay hold of my inmost soul. The Lord is with this mighty man of valor. So may he ever be till the campaign closes with victory. I am indeed glad of his voice. It cheers me intensely. He loves the Gospel and believes in something, which some preachers hardly do. There are those about who use the old labels, but the articles are not the same. May the Lord win armies of souls to Jesus by this man. I am astonished when God blesses me, but somehow I should not be much surprised if he blessed this man.

As Others See Us.

WHAT A NEW YORK JOURNALIST HAS TO SAY OF THE DOMINION.

UNDER the heading of "A Tour Through Canada," the Scottish American Journal, published in New York, says editorially:—

"It is simply impossible for any intelligent observer to pass through Canada without adding to his fund of knowledge and his sources of enjoyment. No country is more highly favored with natural advantages, and in few, if any, are there presented stronger evidences of civilization and culture. The country, indeed, is rich in all the physical elements which are necessary to greatness; and, in the hands of the enterprising people who are now settled in every part of the Dominion, those elements are evidently being utilized with skill, and to the utmost possible advantages. The water-power of Canada—in lakes, and rivers, and streams—is prodigious. In mineral resources there are treasures of inestimable worth. Nowhere can there be found a finer soil for agricultural operations; and whether by railways or steamboat communication, the facilities for travelling, for enterprise and for pleasure, are certainly unsurpassed. It would be strange if such a country did not arrest public attention, and the phenomenon would border upon the mysterious if there were not seen on every hand signs of prosperity and growth.

"In its present settled form, Canada can boast of a number of cities which are in all respects creditable, whether considered in size, in population, in trade, in public institutions, in architectural skill, or in education and intelligence. Among these it is not invidious to single out Halifax, in Nova Scotia; St. John, in New Brunswick; Quebec and Montreal, in Quebec; Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton and London, in Ontario; Winnipeg, in Manitoba; and New Westminster, in British Columbia. In all these cities there are well arranged streets, extensive parks, handsome dwellings, spacious warehouses, magnificent churches, commodious schools, &c., and almost every other sign of refined taste and advancing civilization. In public buildings take McGill College in Montreal; the university in Toronto; the Parliament Houses in Ottawa; the citadel and other places in and around Quebec, and the question might well be asked where are they surpassed? As to natural scenes, what can rival Niagara Falls? or the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence? or the picturesque beauty of the whole tracts of country in Ontario running from Hamilton to Brantford, and to Goderich and Windsor? or the bold romantic grandeur of the scenery on the shores of Lake Huron and Superior? or among the rocks and cliffs of the St. Lawrence and the Saguenay, and other rivers? Some of these scenes have afforded constant themes for the artist's pencil, and the poet's song, and the historian's sketch; and the more closely they have been inspected in all their changing wonder the more warmly have they been admired. The experience of former travellers is a sure index for the guidance of future tourists; and any person who desires rest and recreation, amusement and profit, health and pleasure at a limited expense, and with a comparatively short and easy trip, should turn their faces towards the Dominion of Canada, in one of its many attractive spots. At every turn and in every form there would be found objects of interest. The eye would be delighted, the mind would be entranced; and both soul and body would gain fresh funds of health and vigour. With such resources at their command the Canadian people have reason to feel proud of their country; and with their proverbial cordiality will extend to visitors a hearty welcome.

The Theatre.

The Theatrical Company won golden opinions last evening. There was a full house and the "Ticket of Leave Man" was acted with a great deal of animation and with nice attention to the spirit and moral of the play. Miss Phosa McAllister in the simpler, more consistent and beautiful character of "May Edwards" appeared to even greater advantage than she did on Saturday night as "Pauline." Mrs. E. M. Post took the amusing part of "the woman of a few words"—to wit Mrs. Willoughby—with much spirit, and excited a great deal of mirth; Miss Anita Harris, as "a fast youth," at once the pride and sorrow of his grandmother—could not well have been better. Mr. Burroughs improved greatly upon the high estimate we first formed of him. His acting last evening was decidedly first-class, and well worthy of his high reputation. As "Jem Dalton" (the tiger), Mr. Harkins was admirable in his numerous alarms and disguises; and the part of "Melter Moss" (the tiger's pal), was rendered exceedingly well by Mr. E. B. Holmes. Messrs. Nannery, Lennox and Mora were quite up to the mark in their respective parts. In fact, nothing seemed to go wrong or be wanting—except the scenery and other little etceteras; and it is agreed on all hands that this is the best theatrical company that ever visited Charlottetown. It is to be regretted that some foolish and thoughtless persons relieved their overwrought feelings, at some of the most pathetic points, by bursts of laughter—very annoying to those who wished really to enjoy the play, and, we doubt not, discomfiting to the players. Better taste, too, might have been evinced in rendering applause.

This evening, "Our Boys"—a play which has had a great run—will be enacted.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR HAVILAND's commission is expected to arrive by this evening's mail, in which case His Honor will be sworn in tomorrow afternoon, at three o'clock, in the Council Chamber. The ceremony is a public one, and will, no doubt, be witnessed by a large number of citizens.

CATTLE FOR THE ENGLISH MARKET.—The success attending the speculation of Messrs. Keefe, McGirr and the McDonald Brothers, in shipping cattle raised in the Maritime Provinces to the English market, has induced Mr. Michael Coughlan to embark in the same enterprise. Mr. Coughlan has been in Nova Scotia lately buying up such animals as he could meet with to suit his purpose. A telegram was received from him on Saturday, stating that he had succeeded in securing 100 head of Cornwallis and Lunenburg cattle, which he intended to have shipped from Quebec to England in a few days. There is every probability that the trade in cattle between the Maritime Provinces and Great Britain may assume extensive proportions in the near future. A few cattle were shipped from Granville on Friday morning; 20 head were also sent from up river, and 40 from Sackville for English market.—St. John Telegraph.

CHEAP INSURANCE.—A subscriber at Napanea in remitting says:—"I insured my house in the Canada Agricultural Insurance Co. They burst, and I lost two years on one and three months on another policy. I then insured in the Ottawa Agricultural, and I understand now they have also reinsured their policies with the Watertown Agricultural Insurance Co. Can you inform me in your next issue if I am insured or not? I really don't know, and there are others in this section who are equally ignorant. Please inform us, and oblige yours."—Monetary Times.

The above shows the absurdity of insuring in weak Canadian Companies, which secure most of their business by cutting rates. Property holders might as well save their money as to accept cheap insurance, without being guaranteed perfect security in the event of loss. This can be had, beyond doubt, by taking out a policy in the IMPERIAL FIRE INSURANCE CO. of London, which insures at moderate rates.

CHIEF JUSTICE PALMER has gone to Georgetown to attend the session of Supreme Court, which commences their to-day.

IN the course of his address at the unveiling of the statue to Sir John Gray, late M. P. for Kilkenny, in Dublin, on the 24th ult., Archbishop McHale said that it was not by immoral and illegal combinations that the manifold wants of a nation could be supplied, and it was only by constitutional agitation that the unfortunate dissensions of their country could be removed or abated. Sir John Gray had distinguished himself in Irish politics. He was imprisoned with Daniel O'Connell, and aid Mr. Gladstone in passing the Land Bill and the Church Bill for Ireland.
