A BEE'S RESTLESS LIFE.

It Begins Work When Three Days Old and Dies at Forty-five.

G. W. Reynolds of Los Angeles, one of the oldest traveling men in the United States, has a ranch of which he enjoys telling even more than he does of the experiences through which he has passed during his half century upon the road. The ranch is near San Diego, Cal. The chief product is honey. This product is gained from two apiaries, which Mr. Reynolds visits every time his business permits him to go to southern California.

"In my apiaries, which are cared for by my son," said he, "there are 140 stand of bees. The honey season lasts from April to July. Last season my bees yielded 40,000 pounds of honey, which sells in that country in bulk lots at 4 cents a pound. Two of the hives gave over 500 pounds each. For ten years I have been interested in bees in a small way, and I take greater interest in them every year. A hive or stand of bees is worth $2.50. In it are the queen, the drones and the workers, a total population of from 20,000 to 25,000 bees.

"This very good sized colony," he continued, "resides in a hive or wooden box. In the hive are a dozen frames 13 by 7 inches. In these the bees make or deposit the honey, a foundation of wax having been first placed in each frame by the beekeeper, so that the bees may have something to build upon. The honey is taken out of the frames every other week during the honey season. While doing so there is little need of protecting the hands. The bees seem to be most inclined to sting one in the face. So, as a precaution, the man who is removing the honey from the hives wears a straw hat, from the brim of which is hung a silk veil, like they have to do up in the Klondike country to ward off the summer mosquitoes.

"The queen is an absolute monarch within her dominions. She is the undisputed boss of the job. An ordinary bee lives during the working season only 45 days. Young ones are being hatched out all the time. A bee goes to work at the tender age of 3 days and hustles like a veteran for 42 days. Then it is just naturally all tired out, I suppose, for it dies. The queen lives longer, and when a young queen comes into existence in the hive she drives the old queen out. Her loyal subjects follow her in her banishment, and that is what makes the swarm.

"In southern California the bees make water white honey when the black sage is in blossom. When the white sage is flowering, the honey has an amber tinge. In winter the bees make no honey. Seventy-five carloads of the article are shipped out of San Diego county in good years."—Denver Republican.

RAM'S HORN WRINKLES.

A $20 coat often covers a 5 cent soul. Truthfulness is the diamond of character.

Hypocrisy is a cloak that is rugged in the back.

A pious face is not infallible proof of a devout spirit.

The man who talks most about himself says the least.

Character is what a man is, not what he appears to be.

All things were made for the good, and some day they will have them.

Smiling lengthens the mouth and the life in about equal proportions.

He is more than half miserable who is doing nothing to make others happy.

What if you have lost your ring? Be thankful that you still have your finger.

Any fool can make money, but it takes wisdom to know how to spend it well.—Ran's Horn.

GREATEST OF COLONIZERS.

Much of the Earth Owe Its Settlement to the Finding of Gold.

It has been well said that gold is the greatest of colonizers, and this has proved especially true in the last half of the present century. To what lone regions the footsteps of man were attracted in the earliest times by the discovery of gold we may not know, but within the memory of living men great regions of the earth's surface have owed their settlement and occupation solely to the finding by search or accident of a few shining particles in the earth.

California was a remote and outlying province of Mexico, inhabited by Indians, gathered in missions or scattered abroad, and cattle barons and their dependents, visited by a few ships each year in search of a freight of hides, when the picking up of a few grains of gold in the banks of a mill race called the gold seekers from the four quarters of the earth and transformed a wilderness into a populous empire.

Australia was a corner of the earth selected on account of its remoteness from their former home as a place of banishment for British criminals when the gleam of gold illuminated it and filled the distant harbors with sails and their shores with cities.

South Africa might have remained forever a grassy waste, the home of savages contending with the Boers and the British for the possession of illimitable pastures, had not gold called the miner and those who follow him to build Johannesburg.—Kansas City Times.

The Sea.

It is the sea which enables everything. Between the line and the surf there was but the ancient foreshore, covered with prickly tamarisks and mauve colored heath, with yellow sand conspicuous here and there. At the limit of the foreshore the rugged border line cut clear into a deep and somber blue. It is she—blue as any grape on this cluster which hangs in the cooling breeze. The azure deepens, filling up a good half of the range of sight; the white sail of a fishing smack floats alone, like a hollow shell; the eternal monotone of ocean is borne upon the ear. Draw near and see the leaping silver foam.

Above this intense blue the sky is transparently, superbly pale, and the stars are hurrying to light their lamps. There is not a living soul, nor a plant, nor any sign of the hand of man. There might be nereids and fauns dancing on the strand, as in the days when the world was young.—H. A. Taine in "Journeys Through France."

HEALTH HINTS.

Many lung troubles come from superficial breathing. Deep, full breaths should be drawn and the lungs fully expanded.

Every one with a tendency to neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica should wear wool next to the skin all the year round, as in warm weather very lightweight flannels prevent chills after perspiration.

When one is feverish, all drinks that are heating or exciting should be avoided. Pure, fresh water is best, then lemonade, orangeade or teas made from some simple aromatic herbs for quenching thirst in fevers.

Never bite your lips or any bits of detached skin unless you wish to ruin your lips, destroy their color and vitality, and perhaps give rise to eruptions. The mouth, like the tongue, is one of the "mirrors of health."

A Story of Thackeray.

Dean Farrar gives the following reminiscence of Thackeray in The Independent: "Dining with him at the house of Dr. Butler, I remember that he spoke of many things, but the only remark that I specially recall was one about himself. He said that he had recently sat at a dinner next to an eminent tragedienne, now dead, and that she had overpowered him with ecstatic compliments. A few days afterward he had sat next Jenny Lind, and the great singer, with a frankness which delighted him, said that she had not read a line of one of his writings and knew nothing about them. Of the two ladies, he greatly preferred Jenny Lind and enjoyed her frank indifference much more than the fulsome adulation."

And He Couldn't Have Both.

Stokeleigh—Why don't you get married, old man?

Stokeleigh—Debarred by custom.

Stokeleigh—How so?

Stokeleigh—Well, while it is permissible for me to appear in public without a wife it is not permissible for me to do so without clothes.—Brooklyn Life.

Caught Napping.

Wickwire—It won't do you any good to say either.—Indianapolis Journal.

Mr. BUSY MAN.

In your daily round of busy business you are apt to get out of sorts. Missing your regular meal hour often causes headache, or a hurried luncheon brings on an attack of indigestion. You can't work when in this condition. You need instant relief to be able to continue your day's duties. That is when it is good to have a bottle of

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

In your office desk. This preparation has a marvelous effect on Headache and Indigestion; a teaspoonful taken in a glass of water gives instant relief. Its daily use will prevent their return. Here is what those who know and who have used Abbey's Effervescent Salt, say:

From Dr. Thos. E. Lovegrove, Nottingham, England.

"I have great pleasure in certifying that Abbey's Effervescent Salt is a safe and useful family medicine and is especially beneficial in cases of Indigestion and Rheumatism."

From Coralie De Loraine, of "Le Potelet," Piccadilly, London, Eng.

"I tried Abbey's Effervescent Salt for a bad nervous headache. It entirely removed this in the course of a few minutes, and I have had no recurrence of it and from what I know of its good effects on others for various complaints, it is a most valuable remedy."

All druggists sell this standard English preparation.
