Confederation Viewed As Reason For Growth

By DON MACLEOD
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

"While there may be certain criticisms from time to time on the satisfaction derived under Confederation, it is nevertheless the agreement in which Canada has developed in a great nation, and it most certainly is worth supporting and defending," Premier Wallace

These weaknesses are not receiving the attention confined to any one portion of good part of what we had expected when we entered a national federation, I feel. I do not believe that the difficulties that are being encountered in any part of this great country fit common sense and reason are applied to the solution of many problems."

Commenting on Premier LePage's address, Premier Shaw said "this address was a frank, frank and impressive. He was bringing to the attention of all of Canada the fact that there is no such thing as a free lunch. It is very encouraging to find so much interest in the

Driver Fined On Impaired Driving Count

A fine of $100 and costs or 30 days was levied on Leon Varnam MacPhee, Hopfield, when he was convicted of driving while impaired in Queen's County Magistrate's Court yesterday by Magistrate James B. Johnston, Q.C.

Const. Miles E. Foster of the Montague branch of the RCMP was the only witness called in the case.

Some delay is expected before the province's Centennial Year symbol is copyrighted. The symbol contains a federal coat-of-arms and federal authorities have advised the magistrate without a jury and in that case that the symbol will not likely be granted.

It is believed that the coat-of-arms will be removed from the symbol and replaced with some other design.

Mrs. E. B. Ellis, Art Society Had Memorial Bldg. Idea

By NEIL A. MATHESON
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

A Charlottetown woman, Mrs. E. B. Ellis, was the first to conceive the idea of a Centennial Memorial Building here, it was learned over the weekend, though her idea incorporated a more modest structure with the main purpose to house a museum to house Prince Edward Island's historical treasures and to provide a modern art gallery.

It was her work in the P.E.I. Art Society she became president in 1958, that first sparked her interest in such a development. They would only get "class exhibits from National Art Galleries, because there was no first-class and modern building in which to hang them. She has visited the Saint John museum with her children, and found she could scarcely get them away. And that convinced her of the need for an art gallery.

SPARKED DETERMINATION
A comment from Allan Jarvis, then National Gallery director, that there was "no culture here," and a reference to this city being in the "backwash" of Canada, sparked her determination.

Miss Eleanor Lowe and Mrs. Philip Barlow with Mrs. Ellis on the gallery committee of the art society. A glance through her scrapbook indicates the work that was done to spark interest in the early stages. She recalls with appreciation that Mayor D. Stewart - now Hon. M. Stewart - was the clerk permission to hang their paintings in

Inadequate Preparation Said

Married Couple

Approximately 80 couples from the Charlottetown area attended the first session of the course for married couples, held Sunday night at Notre Dame Academy.

Rev. T.P. Hammill, course director, gave an outline of the 10-week program, which had its beginning last year in Bastica parish. He introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Walter Reid.

Father Reid, in a brief discussion on love and happiness in marriage, noted that the biggest problem in marriage today stems from the inadequacy of preparation for the responsibilities of marriage, pointing out that "marriage has lost its meaning."

He said "going steady" is setting quite common with boys and girls in their early teens, and it is carried on without any purpose, "as a preparation for marriage, is concerned. He said young men and women are becoming wasted continually, in many cases, by a long-term going steady diet from the time they were 14 or 15 years old.

He said it is most important that husband and wife learn to communicate with each other in the exchange of ideas and opinions, and pointed out the dignity of the role parents play in the rearing of their children, which he said "is the greatest task given to mankind."

The next meeting will be Sunday night and the second session will be the deadline for registration.
