

Pale Hose Drops Indians; Yankees Edge Bosox 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Early Wynn won his 256th major league game Wednesday. The veteran Chicago pitcher hurled a five-hitter as the White Sox defeated Cleveland 5-1 to move within a game of the American League leading Indians.

The New York Yankees defeated Boston 3-2 but remained in the basement, a half game behind the Red Sox.

In the lone National League game played in daylight, the San Francisco Giants walloped the St. Louis Cardinals 9-4 to climb to within 2 1/2 games of the front-running Milwaukee Braves.

Two games in the American and three in the National were scheduled under the arc lights. Washington was at Baltimore, Detroit at Kansas City, Pittsburgh at Milwaukee, Philadelphia at Cincinnati and Chicago's Cubs at Los Angeles.

Wynn registered his seventh victory of the campaign but needed help from Gerry Staley after pinch hitter Tito Francona walked and Ed Fitzgerald doubled with one out in the ninth. Staley got Minnie Miñoso to rob out and Rocky Colavito to line out.

Earl Torgeson's two-run homer, and another four-bagger by Sherm Lollar led to Gary Bell's third loss against four victories. The 22-year-old Cleveland right-hander went all the way.

Ryne Duren choked off a ninth-inning Boston threat after two runs were in to save the Yankees' victory over Duke Maas. Home runs by Andy Carey and Bill Skowron had given Maas a 3-0 lead but a two-run homer by Pete Runnels finished Maas. Loser Ike Delock went seven innings for the Red Sox and was tagged with his second defeat. He has won five.

Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Andre Rodgers honored for the Giants who collected only seven hits off loser Gary Blaylock but took advantage of three Cardinal errors. Johnny Antonelli pitched five innings but received credit for his sixth victory.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee Braves squeezed out a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night when Don McMahon took the mound in the final inning and saved the game for veteran Warren Spahn. Spahn is now 6-5. Spahn had struck out two men in the final inning and was within one out of gaining the 47th shutout of his career when an error gave the Pirates a life and enabled Pittsburgh to come back with three unearned runs.

Eddie Mathews, got his 15th home run of the season in the fifth inning.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Harmon Killebrew's 16th homer with two on base in the first inning and Camilo Pascual's no-hit pitching until the seventh inning were more than enough to carry Washington Senators to a 6-0 victory over Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night.

Rollaway Aces Defeat Irish 8-2

League-leading Rollaway Aces notched their fourth victory in as many starts last evening at the Old Diamond with an 8-2 win over the Shamrocks, last year's softball champs.

Ralph Pineau gave up only four hits in scoring this lopsided win. He also fanned four and walked two.

Ed Murphy, making his first start this year, on the mound for the Irish, was tagged for nine hits, walked seven and struck out four.

The Aces got their big lead in the first two innings, scoring three runs in each of these two frames. They added two runs in the bottom of the sixth.

The Irish, on the other hand, were held scoreless till the fifth, when they scored their first run. Their only other run was notched in the sixth.

Jackie MacDonald, left fielder for the Aces, had a perfect night at the plate, smashing a triple, double and two singles in four times up.

The only other extra base hit of the game was a triple by Reg Hughes, second sacker for the Aces, in the second inning.

Frank Bell called the balls and strikes in this fixture.

Tonight it's Barry's Lions at Garrison.

SPORTS FRONT

By PIUS CALLAGHAN

BACK IN 1954 when the New York Yankees failed to beat Cleveland Indians for the American league pennant, bullpen catcher Charley Silvera said it almost broke up his happy home. Charley claimed his wife was so accustomed to getting world series cheques that she figured he was holding out on her when he didn't produce. Charley's quip caused a bit of laughter, although nobody believed that Mrs. Silvera was that poorly posted on the doings of the Yankees in that season. At any rate, the Silveras and all other Yankee families had less money for the 1955 winter than for quite a few years.

THIS COMING WINTER could be a long and dismal one for Yankee wives. World series cheques don't appear too promising at the present time and there's a big chance that the Bombers won't share any post-season monies this autumn.

Yankees have said that there's no place to go but up. With that statement we agree but we don't agree that up means clinching the flag in the Junior circuit. Back in 1940 the Yankees hit the bottom. They were the last Yanks to occupy that unwanted position until this year's Stengelites.

The 1940 Yankees didn't win the flag. They did end up a mere two games behind the Detroit Tigers but that early slump cost them their chance for World series money. Those 1940 Yankees were the best ball team in the league but they couldn't make up the slack.

THAT 1940 TEAM had seven all-stars on its lineup. They were Joe Dimaggio, Joe Gordon, Red Rolfe, Charley Keller, Billy Dickey, Monte Pearson and Red Ruffing.

If this great club couldn't make up lost ground sufficiently to win the pennant, then we think the chances of the 1959 Yankees are slim indeed. Nobody is scared anymore of the Yankee name. As one sportswriter puts it "The only ball club they now scare is themselves. Their psychological weapon is gone."

WE DON'T for a moment think that today's Yankees have anything like the stars of 1940. We don't think even the most ardent New York fan will take us to task for that statement.

Therefore we argue that if the great Yankees of 1940 couldn't make up the lost ground, neither can the Yankees of 1959. Undoubtedly some will tell us that the other teams in today's American league are not as strong as the clubs of 1940. Even if this is true, our argument isn't hurt too much. These Yankees are now no superstars. They've ceased to terrify any club. Even the lowest of the American league outfits have had plenty of fun at the Yankees' expense.

LET'S SUPPOSE that 95 victories would be sufficient to win the American league pennant. Just keep that figure in mind when you start saying that New York will repeat as champions in 1959.

At this writing, the Yankees have won 14 games 36 starts. That leaves 81 triumphs to garner in their remaining 118 contests. Let's see what percentage ball the Bombers would have to play to achieve this goal. After a bit of arithmetic we find it's .688. And that's a lot of ball for the Yankees to play the rest of the distance.

When Boston Red Sox came in for that series, the Yankees had a chance to get clear of the cellar. But that went down the drain when Mike Higgins and his band crushed New York on Tuesday night.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES are in New York tonight in the first of two games. The second goes tomorrow afternoon. Then the Yankees travel to Washington for a twin bill Saturday with the pesky Senators. Sunday the Nationals entertain the Bombers in a single fustle.

Right now, nobody is a soft touch for the Stengelites. This week is a rough looking one for the Yankee Stadium tenants. They have to vacate the cellar before they star climbing.

And getting out of that basement may be a major problem.

AFTER A TERRIFIC BATTLE between Lions and Aces Monday night, the softball picture took a turn for the worse Tuesday evening when Junior Basileia Youth Club knocked Garrison all over the old diamond in Victoria Park.

Juniors certainly did their part to make it a good show. John Hughes hurled a brilliant game and those Junior bats were really booming. But the Garrison had exactly nothing to offer, neither in the way of pitching or in the way of hitting. They had zero for effort in both departments.

Perhaps the Garrison will come through one of these nights with a reasonably good performance. Right now they have tasted defeats in all their three contests and after Tuesday night you could hardly start calling them to win the next time out.

WE WERE DOUBTFUL all along if there was enough material for five teams. We are even more doubtful now. However we hope that Garrison can dispel our doubts and make this league highly competitive as far as every team is concerned.

Perhaps it is just a case of being short on practices and after a few more workouts things will start righting themselves. We sincerely hope so for the sake of the league.

But right now Garrison must prove to us that they belong in the league. And they better start proving that point in a hurry.

We are waiting and hoping that Garrison will prove us wrong.

IT'S SURE NICE to see that race ad for Saturday night at Charlottetown Driving Park. That's the night the curtain rises on the 1959 harness racing season as far as Prince Edward Island is concerned.

Eight good looking dashes have been lined up by race secretary 'Duck' Acorn and opening night patrons should witness a top notch show. We understand the second race card will not go until Saturday June 6. After that races will be Mondays and Saturdays until July. During July and August races nights have been fixed for Monday, Wednesday and Saturday.

Looks like a busy race season.

VICTORY BEFORE UPSET

Mrs. Marlene Stewart Streight, 33, of Charlottetown, won the 1959 Ladies' British Amateur Golf Championship at Ascot, England. She defeated Rae Milligan of Jasper Place, Alta., 2 up in an all-Canadian final. Later, she was beaten 4 and 3 by a golfing unknown, Mrs. Theima Brown of India, in the first round of the Ladies' British Amateur Golf Championship at Ascot, England. (CP Wirephoto)

President Warren Giles Rules Score 1-0 For Braves

CINCINNATI (AP)—The final score of Tuesday night's game in which Pittsburgh pitcher Harvey Haddix did not allow a hit in 12 innings was 1-0 in favor of Milwaukee, instead of 2-0.

That was the ruling Wednesday of Warren C. Giles, National League president.

Milwaukee won the game in the 13th inning when Felix Mantilla was safe on a fielding error, moved to second on a sacrifice and after Hank Aaron was walked purposely, scored on Joe Adcock's blast over the left field fence.

Aaron stopped at second base and then ran across the pitcher's mound toward the dugout. Adcock passed him, but both quickly retraced their steps. Umpire Frank Dascoli ruled Aaron's run valid, but ruled Adcock's hit a double.

Since Mantilla crossed the plate ahead of Aaron, Dascoli declared the score 2-0.

QUICKLY CHALLENGED
The question of whether Aaron's run should count was challenged immediately.

In his ruling Giles said:

"While the hitter (Adcock) hit a fair ball over the field fence in flight, he did not touch all bases—legally—and cannot be credited with a home run. Since, in determining the final score the hitter (Adcock) cannot be treated as having hit a home run, but is recorded as having hit a two-base hit, it is not logical to treat the base runners as if the hitter had hit a home run. The score shall be determined by disregarding the 'home run' and recording it as it would be if the hitter (Adcock) had hit a two-base hit, in which case only the run or runs score, which are necessary to win the game."

"The official score of the Pittsburgh-Milwaukee game at Milwaukee on May 26 is to be recorded as Milwaukee 1, Pittsburgh 0."

Garrison Coach Requests Turnout

Garrison softball coach, Moe Goodwin, requests that the following players to turn out this evening at 5:30 at the Old Diamond.

Joe Coyle, A. MacLeod, G. Crockett, D. Douke, D. Doyle, F. Bradley, A. Tulle, G. Burge, M. Flynn, B. Quinn, H. Hennessey, G. Hennessey, J. Cumminsley, B. Richards, B. McLean, K. Dalziel. It is important that all attend.

GREAT FEATS ARE REVIEWED

MILWAUKEE (CP)—Only five pitchers have accomplished more than nine innings of hitless ball in major league history. Only eight have hurled perfect games and seven of them pitched only nine innings.

Southpaw Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh Pirates is in both groups.

The key difference between a perfect game and a no-hitter lies in the phrase "consecutive putouts." A pitcher, for instance, could pitch a no-hitter—but not a perfect game—by allowing several walks although allowing no hits.

Haddix, although beaten by Milwaukee Braves 2-0 in the 13th inning here last night, strung together 12 innings of perfect baseball. He retired 26 consecutive batters and thus became the owner of the records for the longest stretch of perfect—as well as hitless—inings.

Other pitchers hurling a no-hit game of more than nine innings:

In 1906 Brooklyn's Harry McIntire pitched 10 hitless innings against Pittsburgh, but the Pirates won 1-0 in 13.

In 1884 Brooklyn's Ed Kimber pitched 10 hitless innings in a scoreless duel with Toledo in the old American Association in a game called in the 11th inning because of darkness.

Fred Toney of Cincinnati, who had a double no-hit duel with Jim Vaughn of Chicago Cubs for nine innings in 1917, won a 1-0 10-inning, no-hitter.

Besides Haddix, the pitchers with perfect games (all nine-inning contests) are:

John Richmond of Worcester and John Ward of Providence, both in the National League in 1880; Boston's Cy Young in 1904; Adrian Ross of Cleveland in 1904; Ernie Shore of Boston Red Sox in 1917; Charlie Robertson of Chicago White Sox in 1922 and Don Larsen of New York Yankees in 1956.

Discord Between Promoter And Gus D'Amato Erupts

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—Under the surface discord between promoter Bill Rosensohn and Gus D'Amato erupted Wednesday and threatened the Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight at Yankee Stadium, June 25.

The 38-year-old promoter accused D'Amato, Patterson's manager, of casting doubts on whether the fight will be staged. Rosensohn said he would sue the manager if he pulls the champion out of the fight.

"D'Amato called me yesterday morning and said he was thinking of moving the fight from New York," said the New York promoter. "I told him the fight was going to be held right here at Yankee Stadium and that I was not going to be intimidated. I've got too much at stake in this already."

"HE CAN'T PULL OUT"
"I don't care what he says any more. He can't pull out. If he does, he's a ruined man—in money as well as public opinion. I'll sue him for everything. I'm determined to put the fight on."

The key man to the puzzling promotion—D'Amato—couldn't be reached. That is not unusual.

If Johansson and Patterson were concerned about the backstage squabbling, they didn't show it at their training camps.

"It is nothing but good publicity for the fight," said the Swedish challenger at his Grossinger, N.Y. camp. "There will be a fight. Patterson is too much of a gentleman to stop the fight or let his manager stop the fight now."

Patterson, who does the fighting and leaves everything else to his manager, took it out on four sparring partners in a four-round drill at his Chatham, N.J. camp. He dropped a newcomer, Billy Tisdale of Bridgeport, Conn., with a right to the jaw.
