Former Nikita Opponent Now Appears Key Supporter

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN
WARSAW (AP)—Wladyslaw Gomulka, the tough Polish party boss who personally defied Nikita Khrushchev in 1956, has paradoxically emerged as a key supporter of the Soviet Premier's disputed claim to leadership of the Communist world.

Five years ago Moscow must have regarded Gomulka as a headstrong maverick who threatened to disrupt Soviet bloc unity. Today he seems to have become an important cohesive force in Communist East Europe.

After the Poznan riots of 1956, discontent at Soviet rule affected even Communists. Gomulka, who had been expelled from the party in 1949, was reinstated and restored to party leadership. He promised "socialism and freedom" and instituted a number of reforms.

FIRST TO BACK K.
 Gomulka was the first Soviet bloc leader to back Khrushchev's hand last October at the 22nd Soviet party congress where the bitter dispute with Peking and the Albanians got a public airing.

By ironic coincidence, Gomulka addressed the congress in Khrushchev's behalf almost five years to the day after their showdown meeting in Warsaw amid the Poles' feverish preparations for possible armed revolt.

Gomulka returned here from the Moscow congress proclaiming that the Russians had finally seen the light and condemned Stalinism as the Poles had done five years ago.

In return for his important support, Gomulka appears to have won some important concessions from the Kremlin. One of these was Moscow's recognition of Gomulka's maintenance of the capitalist system of private ownership of Poland's farmland. Other Soviet bloc countries have collectivized their agriculture.

including mandatory jail terms for election irregularities.

NAME PARTY
 A key change is that on the election ballot, the candidate's party affiliation will follow his name if he is a member of "a recognized party."

A recognized party must have candidates in at least 50 per cent of the ridings, Mr. Lesage said. It must also have a leader and a party structure. It would be up to the chief returning officer to decide whether a party would be recognized.

Premier Lesage has said "it is well known that elections cost more and are less honest" in Quebec.

New Quebec Bill Is Aimed At Limiting Election Costs

By JOHN YORSTON
QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage has introduced revolutionary legislation designed to limit campaign expenses and provide part payment of candidate's election costs by the Quebec government.

The provisions are contained in a 219-page draft bill rewriting Quebec's electoral law and given formal first reading in the legislative assembly Wednesday. Immediately after the reading, a committee of 47 legislature members was named to study the bill before it goes to the floor for approval by the full assembly.

If the legislation is approved, Quebec will become the only province to limit expenses and provide financial help to candidates.

Under the bill the government would contribute 15 cents for every listed voter in a county to all candidates getting a minimum of 20 per cent of the vote.

If the legislation is approved, Quebec will become the only province to limit expenses and provide financial help to candidates.

BAN IS LIFTED FOR AIR PIONEER
LONDON (AP)—The aviation ministry has lifted a ban on Lord Brabazon of Tara using the lounge named for him at London Airport.

Embarrassment was caused all round last week when the 78-year-old holder of Britain's first pilot's licence was found among the tourists in the noisy, general departure hall waiting for his flight to Zurich to be called.

"Seems a pity," he said, "I just don't qualify for my lounge."

The Brabazon Lounge is one of four—all named for pioneers of aviation—that are reserved for royalty, heads of state, government ministers, ambassadors and their guests.

The other three are the Sam Cody, Kingsford-Smith, and Alcock and Brown lounges. Lord Brabazon is the only surviving member of this revered band of flying pioneers. The aviation ministry announced Wednesday that he can use the lounge named after him any time his secretary informs the airport when he is travelling.

50 CENTS A VOTER
 The candidates' expenses for publicity, travel and so on would be limited to 50 cents for each voter in the riding.

Political parties would be limited to 25 cents for each voter in the province.

Premier Lesage told a press conference that it is estimated there will be 2,800,000 voters registered during the next provincial election, due in 1964. That would mean a party could not spend more than $700,000 on province-wide, general party publicity.

Coupled with the limits on individual candidates, he said, total costs for a party fielding candidates in every riding would be roughly $2,000,000.

"This is much less than what has been spent for decades in Quebec elections," the premier said. He wouldn't be drawn out on what previous elections had cost, however.

The bill also proposes a number of technical amendments and provides stiffer penalties.

Double-dummy problem. South to make Seven Hearts. West leads the eight of diamonds.

DOUBLE-DUMMY PROBLEMS are a department of bridge some malevolent soul invented to try to drive people crazy. At least, that's the opinion of some players who attempt to solve them.

The double-dummy problem is not necessarily instructive, but it's a good way to while away your time if you have nothing else to do. You're allowed to look at all four hands if you want to; in fact, you're expected to, because you probably wouldn't find the solution otherwise.

The contract in this hand is Seven Hearts. You have to make all the tricks against any line of defense chosen by East-West. West leads a diamond and, of course, you play the ace, knowing it will catch East's king.

If you want to work out the solution for yourself, stop reading at the end of this paragraph but we caution you that the hand is difficult to make.

After winning the ace of diamonds, you play the nine of diamonds to the ten and lead a low heart. Assume that West plays the eight, in which case you finesse the nine. (If West plays the ten or queen instead, win is cheaply as possible.)

Now you lead the jack of diamonds to the queen and again play a low heart. Assume West plays the ten, in which case you finesse the jack. (Here, also, West's play does not matter.)

You lead the king of hearts from dummy. What you play from the South hand depends upon East's discard on this trick. East, on the first five tricks, has presumably reduced his hand to four spades and four clubs and now has to make the crucial discard.

If he throws a spade, you stay in dummy and establish the spades by ruffing a spade now and another one later.

If he throws a club, you overtake the king of hearts with the ace and establish your clubs by ruffing twice in dummy.

East is caught in a seesaw position where he has to unguard one suit or the other.

is LONGFELLOW.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
