SEPTEMBER MAGAZINES.

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Several striking articles distinguish the September Ladies' Home Journal, the most prominent being one by Professor J. H. Gore about the coronation of Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, which gives a clear and new idea of her life and characteristics. "Blind Tom as He is To-day," the famous pianist, supposed by many to be dead, is photographed and sketched in his New Jersey home. An insight into the lives of the "Covites" of the Cumberland Mountains is given by Sarah Barwell Elliott in an excellent and well illustrated article, and there is a delightfully simple scientific contribution on "Telling the Weather from the clouds." A charming account of Louis Philippe's unsuccessful wooing of a Philadelphia maiden is given by William Perrine, and there is, in the way of fiction, the conclusion of the college story, "Was it Her Duty?" by Abbe Carter Goodloe, besides two other good tales: "The Tender Link," by W. N. Harben and "The Little Convert Girl," a capital story of New Orleans life. Edward Bok has his editorial page, while an excellent page of "Pretty Corners in Girls' Rooms, and others showing "Fifteen Hats Without Feathers," "The Autumn's Prettiest Waists," and "Children's Pin-frocks and School Frocks" are very good, practical and timely features. Ideas for a model farmhouse are cleverly advanced by W. L. Price, and Ruth Ashmore, in an article on "The Business Girl's Evenings," Mrs. Rorer, in a capital chapter on lunches for school children, and other regular contributors provide the usual strong features which have made their names household words. By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

A DISCLAIMER.

SIR,—I have just received the following letter from an esteemed friend, and would thank you to publish the same with the accompanying remarks: "DEAR SIR,—I think it proper to inform you that certain parties are circulating (that you are) the writer of certain scribbles that appeared in The Guardian not long ago regarding picnics, tea parties; etc. There were offensive remarks made especially to Catholics, and the parties to whom I refer are endeavoring to shield their friends by laying the blame on you. Hoping that you will not consider this out of place, I remain," etc. Now I wish to say to this friend, as well as to many others, that immediately after those offensive remarks appeared, I forwarded to the Guardian office for publication a letter in which I made it clear enough who was the writer of the article referred to.

The Editor, however, saw fit to consign it to the waste basket—presumably because he also would like to shield his friend. Since then I have sent in my simple disclaimer; but whether that will go into the same receptacle or not remains to be seen.

I said among other things that the writer was not long ago a politician, or would be politician of the most pronounced type, but that at the last general election all his blarneyings backed up by his inimitable eloquence failed to secure him a seat on the red benches, and hence he is down upon the disciples of Ignatius Loyola in particular, and also upon society in general. He therefore denounces tea parties, because he no longer expects to be a politician, though he may perhaps be a "would-be politician." Anyhow, he is not likely to be seen at any more of those gatherings, as was his former wont, for he asks if it is not time to draw the line between the good and the bad. I answer yes, and draw it very heavily around the conduct of the man who now denounces in others what he so recently practised himself. Let us hope that his repentance is of the genuine sort.

Be that as it may, I have no desire to be made the scapegoat which shall carry off the sins of this "Eastern Items" man of the Guardian into the wilderness of disappointed hope, of unrestrained hatred, and general uncharitableness in which he roams fancy free. Yours truly, JOS. MACVANE.

African Skins.

Between 1850 and 1875 it is certain that some millions of blebok, wildebeest and springbok must have been destroyed in the Transvaal and Orange Free State. The slaughter was so prodigious and the variety of wild animals so great in these wild regions of South Africa that the result made a sensible difference in the leather industry of Europe. The markets were filled with skins which, when tanned, gave leather of a quality and excellence never known before, but the origin of which, as the material was still sold under old names, purchasers never suspected. Hides of the zebra and quagga arrived in tens of thousands, and good as horsehide is for the uppers of first class boots, these were even better. Smart Englishmen for years wore boots the uppers of which were made of zebra and quagga skin or from the hides of elands, onyx and gemsbok disguised under the name of "calf" or patent leathers.—London Spectator.

Evading the Issue.

"Mr. Addemup," said Mr. Spocash severely, to the bookkeeper, "I have spoken to you before of your careless manner of smoking in the office. You threw a lighted match in the wastebasket a little while ago and it set a lot of papers on fire. Such work as that might start a big blaze some day." "It was heedless," replied the bookkeeper. "I will see that the office boy keeps that wastebasket emptied hereafter."—Chicago Tribune.

It is the custom in Lima, Peru, to keep animals on the roofs of the houses. A calf makes its first appearance on the roof and never descends until it comes down as beef.

A DREADED DISEASE.

More People are Tortured by the Pangs of Rheumatism Than by Any Other Cause—There is a Cure for it.

From the Advertiser, Hartland, N. B.

Mr. Richard Dixon, of Lower Brighton, is one of the most prosperous and best known farmers of Carleton Co., N. B. In June, 1897, Mr. Dixon was seized with an attack of rheumatism, and for six weeks lay abed suffering all the tortures of this terrible disease. He grew so weak that he was unable to turn in bed, and his friends almost despaired of his recovery. At this stage one of his friends, who had been cured of the same disease by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, urged Mr. Dixon to give them a trial, which advice was followed. Almost from the day Mr. Dixon began the use of the pills, an improvement was noted. Previously his appetite had almost completely failed and the first sign of returning health was a frequent feeling of hunger. Then the pains began to leave him, and his strength gradually returned and after using about a dozen boxes Mr. Dixon was as well as ever he had been. To a reporter of the Hartland Advertiser, Mr. Dixon, said he had no doubt his present health was due entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and since his recovery he occasionally uses a box to ward off a possible recurrence of the trouble.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by making new blood and invigorating the nerves, but you must get the genuine, always put up in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Do not be persuaded to take any of the numerous pink colored imitations which some unscrupulous dealers say are "just the same." In case of doubt send direct to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50

DOLLARS IN DIAMOND DYES.

In scores of small country towns and villages in Canada enterprising men and women are adding to their yearly income by the work of dyeing for friends and neighbors around them who have not the time to do the work themselves.

These towns and village dyers without exception use the Diamond Dyes in preference to all others, because they give the most brilliant, pure and unfading colors to all varieties of materials.

Hundreds of orders from these country dyers are filled every week by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes. There are great possibilities for such work in small parishes, and the statements just made may influence many who are seekers for a plan to increase their revenue. There are good dollars in Diamond Dyes.

Mule Will Kick, but Never Runs Over.

Touching the protest we occasionally hear against the dangerous practice of driving loose mules through the streets, it may be well to assure the timorous that there is no possible danger of a mule running over a child. You may set a baby in the middle of Marietta street and drive a thousand mules at a wild gallop through it and not one would hurt the baby. It is well enough to give a mule's heels a wide berth, but no one ever heard of a child or man being run over by one. You could not drive a mule over a child.—Atlanta Commercial.

Gilded Manners.

Ethel—Mamma, I just can't consent to be the wife of Mr. Newrocks. That dinner he invited me to yesterday settled it. Mrs. Oldham—Why, my child, what did he do—eat with his knife? Ethel—Oh, I could stand that. He used a corner of the tablecloth for a napkin.—Chicago Journal.

The finest shaving brushes are manufactured from badgers' hair, and "camel's hair" brushes are turned out in great quantities from squirrels' tails and from the hair that grows inside the ears of oxen.

When the steamship Great Western made the run from Bristol, England, to New York from April 8 to 23, 1838, it was believed the problem of transatlantic steamship travel was solved.

The highest masts of sailing vessels are from 160 to 230 feet high and spread from 60,000 to 100,000 feet of canvas.
