UNITED STATES

SOLDIERS REPORT.

SERGEANT TYLER, of the United States army in China, has written several exceedingly interesting letters to his father, Captain F. E. Tyler, which have been published in the Castanoga News, of Tennessee. In the course of the last of these, published on the 21st instant, Sergeant Tyler says:

"The soldiers of the greatest nations fighting together is quite a sight I assure you and the chance to observe their dress, armament, characteristics and fighting abilities has been a good one. The Japanese are a revelation to the other forces. They are better equipped than any army here not even excepting the English. They have more transportation and more comforts for their troops and they are fearless, obedient soldiers. They have done the bulk of the work so far sharing honors with the English and the way they go after the Chinese is a sight to see. I don't think much of the Russians and less of the French. The Germans haven't a soldier here except a few marines who don't amount to a row of pins. Emperor William had better be sending some soldiers here than speech making about not resting till his flag floated over Peking. We will be in Peking long before his troops get here from present indications. I believe the Japanese infantry and English artillery could lick Germany, Russia and France combined. The American army is very small potatoes over here, I am ashamed to say, but I won't run down my own colors. I only say that if the men were taken care of as are the English and Japanese, we could lick the world. The fault is not with the men but with their management. For instance, the other troops go into a fight with only their canteens, rifles and ammunition while we have to carry in addition to these a haversack containing a mess outfit, 2 days' rations, forty rounds of extra ammunition and a blanket roll containing an army blanket, half a shelter tent, a pole for same and a poncho. After walking about ten or fifteen miles in a broiling sun with nothing but alkali water to drink and with this load on we could not make many charges at double time."

WHAT FARMERS SHOULD DO.

MR GEORGE BAXTER, of Andover, N B, writes to the Co-operative Farmer and says:

"There is a question that is up for discussion, the coming campaign that is of special interest to farmers; and that is the question of preferential trade. The farmers throughout the dominion should give this question their careful consideration. It may be only a dream, a utopian scheme; but it would be fraught with such advantages to this country that it is worth making an effort to obtain. It is worth agitating the next ten years, and the party that will work the hardest to bring it about is the party the farmers should support. It may come about in the course of events sooner than might be expected."

This is true; and the advice is good.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—Mr. R. P. Koblin has been selected for the position of Premier of Manitoba.

—An autumn election. The Mail and Empire suggests that Laurier intends to fall with the leaves.

—The Montreal Star and other English speaking journals have nothing but words of praise for Mr. Marchand, the recently deceased Premier of Quebec.

—Sir Charles Tupper states that he considers Hon. Hugh John McDonald's speech at Stratford equal to his father's best efforts, while he never knew a Canadian public man to meet with such a magnificent reception.

—Some British Columbia papers are discussing what should be done with the Laurier Government's surplus,—whereupon the Montreal Gazette remarks that "the most important thing would be to find it. The statement of accounts printed officially in the Canada Gazette shows that it is not there."

—The Montreal Gazette reminds us that Sir Louis Davies in 1894 denounced the coal oil duty as "an atrocious, unjust and intolerable tax on every poor family and a public robbery," and remarks that "Sir Louis' colleague, Mr. Fielding, has fixed the duties so that the monopolists charge some 5 cents a gallon more than they did in 1894, and because both are in the ring, Sir Louis is silent."

—The Galt Reporter attributes to Mr. Tarte the following suggestive lines: "I am monarch of all I survey, My right there is none to dispute—From Halifax away out to B. C. They all quake when I'm tooting my toot."

One thing is very certain, that those Ontario ministers who tried to engineer Mr. Tarte found out that he was too strong a king to be deposed by them.

You never read of such cures elsewhere as those accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, did you? It's America's greatest medicine.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

FRIDAY MORNING.

THIRD SESSION: Convention was called to order at 9.15. Mr. Ewen Stewart gave his talk on Arithmetic. Mr. Stewart claims that only practical and useful Arithmetic be taught even in the Primary Grades. This can be done by the use of objects, for example fractions can be taught by an apple cut into half, quarter, eighth, sixteenth etc. or a paper yard cut into half yard, quarter lengths or even into inches.

The vote of thanks to Mr. Stewart was moved by Mr. Bradley, supported by Messrs Seaman, McSwain, Duncan, T. C. James and presented.

Mr. Collier next read his paper on Manual Training in the schools. This paper will be published in full.

The vote of thanks to Mr. Collier was moved by Mr. Bradley seconded by Inspector McCormack and Dr. Taylor and presented.

Mr. Seaman moved the thanks of the Convention to Sir William McDonald, and Prof. Robertson, the former for so kindly donating the means for starting this excellent and useful department of school work, the latter for the very great interest he has taken in getting it started. Also that Mr. Collier convey to these gentlemen the notice of this resolution. Miss Gillis of Murray Harbor South read a very thoughtful and practical paper on "Music in the public schools." Miss Gillis showed clearly that the study of music is not only practical but necessary to the development of lung power and therefore conducive to health and enjoyment. Owing to lack of time and the over crowded state of the school curriculum too little attention is given to this important subject, but teachers lose much in neglecting it. Children work better, march better, do all their work when keeping time to some simple, familiar tune. A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Ewen Stewart and supported by Miss Annie Moore was presented Miss Gillis. Mr. McSwain came next with an interesting talk on nature studies. This address was illustrated with specimens of fungi which were passed round and examined by the members, showing what interest can be taken in apparently very uninteresting things such as we daily pass by without noticing. Mr. McSwain is well up on the subject and well able to direct the attention of others to this most interesting subject. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Landrigan and seconded by Mr. W. C. West.

The Credential Committee reported 232 teachers enrolled, the largest number present at any session for a long time. Adjourned till 1.30 p. m.

Mr. J. D. Seaman, chairman of Committee on Resolution presented the following resolutions which were on motion adopted:

Further resolved that Mr. J. D. Seaman and Miss E. E. MacKinnon be a committee to convey to Mrs. Montgomery said thanks.

Resolved that the executive be authorized to procure an oil painting of the late D. Montgomery for the Association.

BE READY.

For months the Ottawa Government has shrunk from the fatal plunge; but now the contest is at hand.

"Be ready!" says Sir Wilfrid.

Be ready to lay aside the uncertain politician who says one thing and means another.

Be ready to depose the anti-British Minister who resents attachment to the Empire, who disputes the supremacy of the flag, and who preaches disunion and strife.

Be ready to condemn the author of the Yukon outrages, which drove their victims to the verge of rebellion, of the Yukon railway scandal, and of the schemes of exploitation which are so costly and so immoral.

Be ready to punish the obstruction to Empire defence, the fraud upon our soldiers in the field, and the attempt to deprive our country's defenders of their right to vote as citizens.

Be ready to pronounce against the riotous expenditure and the huge taxes, the threats to honest industry, and the concessions to the Yankee trusts.

Be ready to say that rectitude must take the place of hoodling, and capacity the place of blundering; be ready to assert that the country must be ruled on strict business principles, and that Mr. Tarte to the contrary notwithstanding, we intend to be British.

LORD ROBERTS AND THE CANADIANS.

PRETORIA, Sept 25.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts, in the presence of Lady Roberts and his daughter, reviewed the Canadians on the eve of their departure. It was a brilliant scene, the men, who are in excellent health, making a splendid appearance. After the march past, Lord Roberts addressed them briefly. He said:

"I cannot allow you to depart without expressing my thanks for and appreciation of your loyal services and excellent work, especially at Paardeberg on February 27. I am sure the people of Canada will be pleased to hear how gallantly and how splendidly you have all behaved in action."

"Deeply do I regret the losses you have suffered. I should have been happier could you have returned in full strength, but no one could expect you to pass through so arduous a campaign without losses."

"I am sorry that some of you are obliged to return sooner than the rest of the regiment, but I recognize the urgency of private affairs. I am confident that the Queen and the British people will never forget your services. If it should ever be my good fortune to visit Canada, I hope to meet you all again."

After the troops had given cheers for the Queen and the Field Marshal, the latter shook hands with the Canadian officers and presented them to Lady Roberts.

Diplomacy and War.

London, Tuesday, Sept. 26.—According to the Lorenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Telegraph the collapse of the Boers is not altogether due to their persistent defeats, but is partly due to diplomacy. The correspondent says he is unable to give the details with exactness, but he gathers that the British Consul at Lorenzo Marques and the Portuguese Government entered into a diplomatic scheme to end the campaign.

Steyn and Reitz.

London, Tuesday, Sept. 26.—"Messrs Steyn and Reitz," says a despatch to the Daily Mail from Lorenzo Marques, "will remain with the fighting burghers, and it is estimated that a force of Boers aggregating from 7,000 to 12,000 is planning to harass the British lines of communication."
