MEETING AT KENSINGTON.

 School at Kingston, and a little later by the Western Dairy School at Stratroy.
 The Kingston School has now been in operation for six winters and the Stratroy school for three, and during this time 700 cheese and butter makers have attended these two schools. Judging from the standpoint of attendance alone, the result of the work has been successful in a degree beyond the hope of its promoters. The Kingston school being the centre of a very important dairy section, has naturally had the largest share of students. At that school nearly 10,000 pounds of milk is received daily and manufactured into butter and cheese, the work being done by students.
 The object of the schools is to educate cheese and butter makers, giving them a better knowledge of the underlying principles of their work and enabling them to rise above rule of thumb methods. The results are far-reaching, and mean more uniformity and greater excellence in the dairy product of the country, thus adding to the country's wealth.

To enable the dairy association of the province to send out instructors and inspectors in dairying, the minister recommended an increase in the grant that they received from the Government, from $5,500 in 1892 to $7,500 in 1893. In 1900 this sum was again increased; it is now $10,000. These inspectors keep a careful oversight of cheese and butter factories, seeing that proper and cleanly methods of manufacture are pursued, and giving instructions to the makers when necessary. Many of the makers in the cheese and butter factories of Ontario have received their training in the Government schools.

These efforts must have contributed to no small extent to the steady development of the cheese and butter industries. The following figures indicate what that development has been during the past few years:

The product of the cheese factories of Ontario in 1891 was eighty-two million pounds; in 1895 there was over one hundred and five million pounds; in 1897 over one hundred and thirty seven million pounds, and in 1898 it was 125,116,000 pounds.

The number of creameries in Ontario in 1893 was 74. In 1895 it was 135, and in 1897 it was 214; while in 1898 it was 282, with a product of 9,008,992 pounds.

In other words the benefits which have resulted may be summarized as follows: 1st. The exports of Ontario cheese and butter have been increasing of late years by year.

2nd. Canadian cheese, of which Ontario sends a larger portion, has taken such a pre-eminent position in the cheese market of Great Britain that larger and larger quantities of United States cheese are being exported by way of Montreal.

3rd. In the Montreal markets Ontario cheese, as reported in the "Gazette," is

UNION AMONG ONTARIO BREEDERS.

For many years there has existed in the province of Ontario, a Horse Breeders' Association, a Sheep Breeders' Association, a Swine Breeders' Association, two Poultry Associations and two Dairy Associations. These are Provincial in their scope, and are recognized by the Ontario Government by an annual grant to assist the work undertaken by each of these Associations; each year's work depending on the previous year's work and the current year's membership. In fact the Department of Agriculture performs the work in each of these departments through the Association which represents the interest. Thus the Minister of Agriculture for Ontario has grouped around him as assistants and advisers, irrespective of politics, the most prominent men interested in each of the respective branches of agriculture. These men are elected by the members of the associations each year as directors to their respective associations, and they, with the secretary-treasurer, who is by virtue of his office the managing director, control the affairs of the association. Such an association has a constitution and by-laws which have been approved of by the Minister. Each association also comes under the provisions of the Ontario Agriculture and Arts Act. The secretary, unlike the officers and directors, is not elected annually by the members, but at the first meeting of the officers and directors after the formation of an association a secretary is chosen from among themselves or elsewhere, who continues in office during the pleasure of the Board, i. e., he may remain for years or may be dismissed at any time. By virtue of his office the secretary is managing director and a member of every important committee appointed, acting under the control and with the approval of the executive.

Although the secretary is elected by the directors, it is understood that he shall be acceptable to the Minister, and shall in fact represent the Minister of Agriculture on the Board, yet no regard is paid to his politics; he must be entirely independent. At first each association had a separate secretary-treasurer, and there was no union between the various live stock associations, but later the policy has been to elect one man as the secretary-treasurer for several associations, each paying a portion of his salary. At present Mr. A. P. Westcott is Secretary of the Ontario Cattle Breeders' Association, Sheep Breeders' Association, Swine Breeders' Association, Ontario Poultry Breeders' Association, the Ontario Poultry Show and the Provincial Winter Fair, and the accountant for the Farmers' Institute System. The value of the plan is that while the expense to any one association, or to the whole, or to the Government, is not increased, one man is paid a suitable salary to give his whole time to the work of developing the live stock interests of Ontario. He is provided with a free office in the Parliament Building, Toronto, and is in close touch with the Ministers and with stock owners of all shades and politics. By this arrangement the farmers influence to a great extent the Department of Agriculture, and the Minister is thus able to consult with farmers and live stock men as would otherwise be impossible. It has made possible agricultural administration for the farmers and by the farmers to a greater extent than exists in any other country I know of, and at a very small expense to the people. That the plan has worked well for the people is proved by the growth of each association. People do not join an association and pay an annual fee, if it does not pay them to do so. Nor will a Government increase the grants from year to year, if it is not highly pleased with the work done by the association.

WHEAT PROVINCE AGAIN.

William Lloyd, of Oakville, cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Favorite
 Medicine of the North West.

OAKVILLE, Man., July 30.—There is no doubt about it, Dodd's Kidney Pills have become the most indispensable medicine of Manitoba and the North West Territories. The latest case reported is that of William Lloyd, of Oakville. Mr. Lloyd had Diabetes. For three years he tried to cure himself. A doctor in Portage La Prairie tried in vain to cure him. Mr. Lloyd lost thirty pounds in three months, and thirst made his life a burden.

"I am taking Dodd's Kidney Pills regularly," he said, "three times a day and am picking up very fast. My thirst has left me and I do not pass out so much urine. I have taken six boxes and intend to take more. I am fifty years old, but I am confident Dodd's Kidney Pills are curing me."

MARRIAGE AT THE CONVENT.

The marriage of Mr. John Flannigan, of Lawrence, Mass., and Miss M. A. McCarron, of Charlottetown, was this morning solemnized in the pretty little chapel of the Convent of Notre Dame, in the presence of a number of the friends of the contracting parties. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Dr. Morrison.

The bride was gowned in white organza trimmed with lace and chiffon. Miss Katie Mitchell, the bridesmaid, was also gowned in white with black velvet trimming. The bride and bridesmaid both carried handsome bouquets, the gift of the groom. The groom was supported by Mr. Thomas L. Smith.

During the ceremony a choice musical programme was rendered, which included vocal solos by Mrs. James Byrne and Miss Josie Smith.

After the ceremony breakfast was served in the convent.

The bride, who is very popular, received a great many gifts, among the number being a silver service from her associate employes in the London House and a handsome present from Mr. T. J. Harris.

The groom presented the bride and bridesmaid with gold pins set with diamonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Flannigan left by the 8.35 train en route to their future home in Lawrence, Mass. A good many of their friends were at the railway station to see them off and wish them every happiness.

BOAT-SAILING ACCIDENT.

Six Precious Souls Narrowly Escape a Watery Grave.

On the good ship Flirt, the owner and five other precious souls, besides the captain, almost met a watery grave. In the forenoon they set sail for St. Peter's Island, but owing to their compass being somewhat out of trim and contrary winds they soon found themselves at the head of the Hillsborough river, near the picturesque settlement of Pisquid. There they landed and were received at the hospitable home of one of our leading farmers. Having refreshed the inner man, they set sail for home, but the compass again went astray and led them a wild goose chase till finally after many disasters, loss of jib-boom and other sails, and losing the wheelman's hat, and being thoroughly drenched by the waves that continually dashed over them, exhausted working the pumps and almost starved, their food being saturated with salt water and their cabin and galley fires extinguished, they made Red Point wharf, where they were received with great kindness at a farm house and well fed and warmed. Here they remained for the night, and reached the city at an early hour next morning. It is fortunate that they did not perish as there would have been five widows and numerous orphans to mourn their loss.

We are glad to be able to say that the whole party have recovered and were in good health to-day, sadder but wiser men.

Another Sudden Death at Tignish.

James Gourlie, an old resident of Tignish, a harness-maker by trade, and well known in the western part of the province, went to bed in his usual health on Friday night last, and on Sunday morning was found calmly sleeping his last sleep. This being the second sudden death inside of a fortnight at the same place, has naturally shocked the community. The deceased was about sixty five years of age and came to the country from Scotland, when a young man. His remains were interred on Sunday in the Baptist cemetery at Alberton and a goodly number accompanied the body to the last resting place.

—We are in receipt of a Bloemfontein newspaper from the Rev. J. W. Cox. This we regard as a proof that he has recovered from the severe attack of enteric fever which he had suffered. The news will be pleasing to his friends in this city.
