Lebanese Ass'n Elects

An executive and a board of directors were elected at the first annual meeting of the Canadian Lebanese Association of P.E.I. at the Charlottetown Hotel Wednesday evening.

Membership chairman Harry Shama reported a total of 80 members had joined to date. The chairman of the meeting was Paul Kays. Portions of the constitution were reviewed and plans were laid for a beach outing within the next two weeks.

The following persons were elected to the executive: Paul Kays, president; Harry Shama, vice-president; Peter Kays, secretary; Abraham Zakem, treasurer, and William Shama, Paul Taweel, Frank Michael, George Dow, Allison Tulle, Frank Weatherby, and Robert McKarris as directors.

It was decided that a ladies' committee should be formed. The following were elected to act in that capacity: Mrs. Jack Edgett, Mrs. Harry Shama, Mrs. Arthur Dow, Mrs. Gabriel Kays, Mrs. William Shama, Mrs. George Kays, and Mrs. Reid.

By a unanimous vote the meeting approved Thomas Michael as the honorary president of the association.

Hosp. Union Meeting May Break Stalemate

The hospital wage dispute between the non-professional workers and the provincial government has come to a stalemate for the time being but a meeting of the National Union of Public Employees on Saturday is expected to bring a change in the situation.

The meeting will discuss the situation at the Charlottetown and Prince Edward Island Hospitals where union locals have been unable to satisfactorily negotiate contracts providing wage increases.

"What we want to see are the recommendations of a conciliation board, appointed to investigate the situation, implemented" said a union member yesterday.

The board, appointed by the department of welfare and labor several months ago, recommended that the government provide funds so that new contracts between the locals and the hospitals could be signed. Cost of new contracts, which provide a seven per cent wage increase from last July to December of this year, for union members at both hospitals, would be $32,000.

STRIKE PROHIBITED

The union wanted to go on strike, but the government ruled that members of the locals were essential to the maintenance of the hospitals, and consequently prohibited from taking strike action.

The union requested that the labor department supervise a strike vote, anyway, among members of the locals. Last week, Labor Minister Henry Wedge sent a letter to the union replying to the request. Union members said yesterday they still have not seen the reply. They expect, however, that their request for a supervised strike vote was turned down.

Public demonstrations using placards have been planned to be staged in the business section of Charlottetown and possibly Summerside on Wednesday whether a strike vote is granted or not.

A Charlotttown labor observer summed up the stalemate situation when he said that the government, hospital commission, or hospitals could tell the unions that their demands would be met, or the unions could forget about the wage increases for now, but either course is unlikely.

Saturday night's meeting will be attended by Robert E. Rintoul, director of the National Union of Public Employees, and John MacMillan, the union's Atlantic Region director.

As one labor observer put it," Mr. MacMillan is up against a tough situation. He will have to break this stalemate or likely forget about organizing any more locals of the national body in this province."

Island Scouts To Compete In Nat. Regatta

Gordon Kerr, executive commissioner of the P.E.I. Council of the Boy Scouts of Canada, has announced that two crews will represent this province at the Third Boy Scout Sailing Regatta, being held at SSS Venture on Lake St. Louis a short distance from Montreal, Aug. 17 to 23.

Each province has been invited by the Quebec Provincial Council and the Canadian General Council to send two crews of two scouts each to compete in this national event.

Again this year, crews will compete for the R.C. Stevenson trophy, and Vice Admiral R.S. Raynor, RCN, chief of naval staff has accepted the honor of being patron of the regatta.

Completed application forms from scouts wishing to be considered, are now being accepted by Don Martin, past- president of the Charlottetown Yacht Club.

Potential crews will be trained by members of both the Charlottetown and Montague yacht clubs. The type of boat used will be the Snipe for an Island competition, but at the national event, the boys will man "Flying Juniors', which are 16-foot fiberglass, centerboard, sloop rigged dinghies, carrying 100 square feet of sail.

Driving Habits Bring Warning

Terming a car a "lethal weapon" Magistrate A.J. Haslam yesterday warned two accused, charged with driving without due care and attention, if they appeared again on a similar charge they would lose their licences.

He further stated that "racing through town, created too much risk to the lives of others, both pedestrians and drivers.

The two, Donald J. Maund, Sherwood, and Michael G. McCabe, were each fined $25 and costs or 10 days. Constable Sterling Williams testified for the crown.

Counsellor John Nicholson, appearing for Allan Stephen Jamieson, Montague, charged with drunken driving, asked that the case be set over until a later date since the accused could not appear in court this morning. The accused was remanded until July 19, bail standing.

One motorist was fined $10 and costs or five days for failing to stop at a red traffic light, while another was fined $5 and costs or two days for disobeying a stop sign.

Fire At Dunstaffnage Leaves 12 Homeless

A fire early yesterday levelled a large two-storey farmhouse in Dunstaffnage forcing two families and their eight children to flee before any personal articles could be saved.

The Sherwood fire department answered the call at approximately 7.35 a.m. but the house, estimated to be 80 to 90 years old, was already burning furiously as flames had spread through the walls and nothing could be done to save it.

The two families, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wood with their five children, and Mrs. John MacLean and her three children, were forced to evacuate before some of them had got out of bed. Mr. MacLean was not at home as he works in Moncton and a fourth MacLean child was in hospital at the time.

The fire was noticed by Mr. Wood as he left for work and he gave the alarm. He first saw the blaze in the kitchen and it is believed it started around the oil stove.

Three other buildings were in danger from the blaze but firemen were able to contain it to the house.

The building was owned by Harold Falls and there is some insurance coverage.

Both families from the house were looking for temporary quarters last night. The Wood family moved into the Revere Hotel and the MacLeans have moved into the home of a sister of Mrs. MacLean in Cherry Valley.

The Red Cross disaster service which is assisting both families is appealing for living accommodations for the Wood family which has been given temporary quarters in the Revere Hotel.

B.C. Youths Complete Hike Across Canada In 11 Days

Travelling by thumb, Ron Graham and Dale Clark, high school students from Haney, B. C., arrived in the province Sunday evening following a 11-day hitch - hike from their home town 30 miles outside Vancouver.

The two hikers plan to spend two - weeks at the home of Ron's grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Longworth Avenue, City.

"It's exciting; it's different; it's a lot of fun," said Ron, in summing up the half - over trip.

TRAVELLED LIGHT

Stimulated by a desire to travel and a lack of funds, the boys made the journey strictly for the fun of it. They travelled light, each carrying not much more than a sleeping bag, an extra shirt, and a toothbrush.

They slept on the roadside, in ditches, camping grounds, on the side of the cliff, and once even on the edge of the pavement. On the latter occasion, patrolmen pulled up and awakened them.

Hitch - hiking is easier in Western Canada, they said. It took them three days to get from Haney to Winnipeg a distance of about 1,600 miles. The rest of the time, with the exception of a one - day stopover in Toronto was spent travelling through Eastern Canada.

They travelled an average of 450 miles per day, with the high being 675 miles and the low, 250.

PATIENCE VITAL

Both agreed that an important requirement for a trip of this nature is "a lot of patience."

The longest wait they had was twelve hours, from 10 p.m. to 10 a.m. Standing 12 hours on the side of a road was not a high spot of their trip, to say the least.

The boys estimated that there B.C. - P.E.I. hitch - hike cost them about $25. Of this amount, only $5 was spent in the easy-travelling region west of Winnipeg. This included cigarettes. They said that with the waiting involved in the trip, they smoked a great deal more than usual.

It would be possible, they said, to have made the trip in no cost whatsoever, if they didn't mind 'bumming' to some extent.

DISBELIEF EXPRESSED

Motorists who picked them up in the first days of their journey — the first was a professional worm picker — said they doubted the hitch - hikers would get any further east than Calgary.

Their parents too had expressed disbelief when they had first planned the trip, and scarcely believed the boys had actually made it when they called them on arriving in Charlottetown. "They'll believe it when they get the phone bill though," the boys commented.

Hitch-hiking is a means of meeting every type of person, kind and otherwise. The boys described various types of hitch-hiker's nightmares, such as "the wise guy who stops the car about fifty feet up the road, then as you come running up, takes off," children who stare out back windows of cars and thumb at the hitch - hikers, and the real charmers who lean out the window and sneer at them.

But they met many good-hearted people as well. "I never knew there were so many nice people in the world," Dale said, as he told about one motorist who, after having driven them many miles, invited them to his home for supper, made them feel like part of the family, offered to put them up overnight, and drove them quite a distance outside of the city to a camping ground. They said many people went out of their way to help them, some driving them farther than they had planned to go themselves, some buying them lunches along the way.

Do they plan to make the trip again some time? Yes, but in their own car.

Marshfield Area Plans Bible School

Marshfield and Harrington churches will hold daily vacation Bible schools next week. The schools will be directed by Miss Mary MacKenzie, presbytery deaconess.

The theme of the school this year is to be "Living with Jesus". This is a planned five-day course involving Bible study, mission study handicrafts and games.

The parents of all children in the area are invited to send their children.
