to teach 200 schoolmasters scattered as they unavoidably are, over the face of the country, and these of such a stamp that the one cannot help the other much, must be a very arduous task to the School Visitor, in addition to his other labours. But if his zeal to advance the interests of education happened to equal his disposition to invent and publish statements prejudicial to others, he might surmount even this difficulty. Could he not make one telling do for the whole, and at the same time kill for himself two birds with the one stone, by conferring a few sentences from his present to his next Report, and applying the necessary rules as he goes along. For a few exercises of this kind, therefore, to commence with, the subjoined quotations are most humbly offered for consideration, though no doubt, the Visitor himself will be the best judge of what will be most suitable to the age, calibre, and length of beard of the different teachers; as for those who have no beard, I would not have the Visitor to be bothered with them.

Page 1, Sec. 3. "Where there is not a machinery of public education, and to some extent, free education, to the necessities of the whole population, a vast majority of the children of the humbler classes must grow up in ignorance, if not in vice. If some aids and facilities be not afforded the working man in the education of his children, nine out of ten parents would not be able to command the means of educating them in private schools." Teachers cannot determine whether the above was intended to form part of the Report, or whether the Visitor was merely trying his pen, as the expressions contain neither sound sense nor good nonsense. Page 1, Sec 9, "Education, in its truest acceptation, is physical, intellectual and moral training." What is education, in its falsest or most erroneous, acceptation!

Page 2. Sec. 1, "If such be the teacher, what manner of man ought he to be!" Teachers are much puzzled to know by what rule of logic the Visitor has managed to connect the above sentence, in its present form, with what precedes it. Page 2, Sec. 4, "The establishment of Normal Training Schools, which it is imperative for teachers to attend." Does the Visitor express his own meaning when he says that it is imperative for teachers to attend the establishment of said Schools, or is it the Schools themselves that they are to attend? And, is it imperative for, or upon, teachers to attend? A teacher is of opinion that two blunders in so short a sentence are too many. Page 2, Sec. 6, "The more difficult task;" it should be the more difficult the task.

Page 2, Sec. 8, "praise and admiration." If the Visitor should happen to require the use of the above in his next Report, it will be advisable for him to transpose the words, so as to be in the fashion, or to use the rustic phrase, be had better "put the horse before the cart;" the people of this country are in the habit of admiring objects before they praise them.

By giving insertion to this article in your Gazette you will oblige (so styled by the School Visitor) uneducated, untrained, but not an unbeaded

TEACHER.

TELEGRAPH OFFICE HALIFAX.

To the Editor of the Acadian Recorder,—

SIR,—I am directed to hand you a copy of a despatch dated, Sydney, 31st August received form C. W. Field, Esq., of the Newfoundland, New York and London Telegraph Company.

WM. WISWELL, Secretary N.S. T. Co.

"After laying about 40 miles of the Submarine Cable a storm came, and the Captain of "Sarah L. Bryant" cut it to save his ship and the balance of Cable. It is insured in London. All well. C. W. FIELD."

The potatoe crop in the vicinity of St. John has been seriously injured by the rust. Between the City and the Grand Bay the tops are completely killed: some of the fields will not pay for digging. In the County of Charlotte the crop is said to be very promising. So it it in many parts of the country. A friend from the upper part of the Country of Annapolis, N. S., informs us that the potato crop has suffered much from the drought in that section. The wheat has suffered much by the weevil. Fears are entertained that corn and buckwheat will prove a failure.—Courier.

DEATH OF MRS. TURNBULL, CAPE-BRETON.—The deceased was at one period the sole proprietress of Abbotsford, the residence of the late Sir Walter Scott —and where most of his writings were prepared. The building known as Abbotsford, whilst Sir Walter held the property, was erected by the late Mrs. Turnbull's father, a Mr. Dickson Melrose, and was inherited by her at an early age. The good old lady who has just departed from amongst the living, was wont to recount many tales relating to Sir Walter Scott, and of the town of Melrose; and she having possessed, when in health a very excellent memory, and a cultivated and intelligent mind, a deep interest was felt in the incidents related by her, by those to whom she narrated them. Peace to her memory.—Cape Breton Sydney News.
