Cough medicines, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is in greater demand than ever. No preparation for Throat and Lung Troubles is so prompt in its effects, so agreeable to the taste, and so widely known, as this. It is the family medicine in thousands of households.

"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I took cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint."—Ernest A. Hepler, Inspector of Public Roads, Parish Terre Bonne, La.

"I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy

For Home Use.

I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults."—Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

"Twenty years ago I was troubled with a disease of the lungs. Doctors afforded me no relief, and considered my case hopeless. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and before I had finished one bottle, relief. I continued to take this medicine until a cure was effected. I believe that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life."—Samuel Griggs, Waukegan, Ill.

"Six years ago I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and soon developed all the alarming symptoms of Consumption. I had a cough, night sweats, bleeding of the lungs, pains in chest and sides, and was so prostrated as to be confined to my bed most of the time. After trying various prescriptions, without benefit, my physician finally determined to give me Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took it, and the effect was magical. I seemed to rally from the first dose of this medicine, and, after using only three bottles, am as well and sound as ever."—Rohney Johnson, Springfield, Ill.

Local and Other Items.

A faded and discolored beard is untidy and a misfortune. It may be prevented by using Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers, a never-failing remedy.

BEATING THE RECORD.—It took Lecaron fourteen days to tell his story. This is, remarks the Chicago Herald, probably the longest lie on record.

THE GEORGETOWN CARNIVAL.—The Carnival at Georgetown to-morrow evening will likely be largely attended. Many new features will be introduced. Don't fail to attend.

SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court opens at Georgetown to-morrow. Judge Hanley went down this afternoon. The civil docket is very small and the sitting will probably be a short one.

THE UMBRIA ARRIVES.—A cablegram from Queenstown, (dated Feb. 23) announces the arrival of the S. S. Umbria. Messrs. A. W. Sterns, James Eaton and Uriah Matthews were passengers on the steamer.

THE STANLEY arrived at Georgetown from Pictou yesterday and the mails and passengers were brought to town by special train yesterday afternoon. The Stanley will lay up for one week as previously announced.

The great majority of so-called cough cures do little more than impair the digestive functions and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it cures the cough, does not interfere with the functions of either stomach or liver.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.—A mischievous youngster in Milton, N. H., saturated the tail of a dog with kerosene and then applied a match. The dog ran off frantically, and, rubbing against a haystack, $150 worth of property was burned.

Let quality, not quantity, be the test of a medicine. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the concentrated extract of the best and purest ingredients. Medical men everywhere recommend it as the surest and most economical blood medicine in the market.

TRANSFERRED.—The Bible Society Depository has been removed to the store of Mr. Herbert Lazard, Queen Square, where Bibles and Testaments are for sale at cost prices. A few Hebrew, Greek, Latin, French, German and Gaelic copies on hand.

ISLAND FURS.—A Halifax Chronicle reporter was recently shown some very fine fox, mink and other furs by Mr. John P. Skerry, at D. Cronan's. They came from Prince Edward Island. Mr. Cronan is one of the largest exporters of furs in Nova Scotia.

MISTAKES WILL OCCUR.—Recently a Methodist paper in Chicago published an article by the Rev. Dr. Buckley, of New York, with the editorial introduction, "A little of this kind of dirt may be enjoyed by our readers." Dr. Buckley's friends were amazed at this, until they learned that "dirt" was a misprint for "diat."

KILLED WHILE LUMBERING.—Albert Allen, a lumberman, was killed at Spencer's Island on Thursday while cutting away the support of a bow of logs. His son left with a load on his return, two hours afterwards, found the dead body of his father beneath the logs. Allen was about 60 years old.—Hx. Herald.

BILLIARDS.—Geo. F. Slosson challenges any billiard player in the world to play two games of billiards in New York city for $1,000 a side, for each game, the first game to be 14 inch balk line 600 points up; the second game to be cushion caroms 500 points up. He has deposited $1,000 forfeit with the Spirit of the Times.

CARNIVAL.—The carnival in the Crystal Rink, Summerside, on Wednesday evening next, promises to be very successful. The managers are doing everything in their power to secure new features and attractions. A special train will leave Charlottetown for Summerside at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, and will leave Summerside on return at 1 a.m. on Thursday.

HEART AFFECTIONS.—Dr. Hammond thinks it undoubtedly true that the heart beats more rapidly at the present day than it did 50 years ago. A result which he ascribes to the greater mental activity of the age. As a consequence the heart wears out more quickly than it did with our ancestors, and cases of heart failure, which in former times were almost unknown, are now quite common.

MURDER OF A FORMER TROOP GIRL.—Chicago papers report the murder of Miss Mand McLennan, who formerly lived as a servant in Troon, and who was employed at the Prince of Wales Hotel and also at the Tremont house. John Dempsey, a jealous and disappointed lover, shot her on a street corner on Monday, the 4th inst., and then immediately committed suicide by shooting himself, and falling dead at her side.

WHY THEY MARRIED.—A Quebec despatch says: "The house of an aged bachelor named Freeman, in a lonely part of the country, was destroyed by fire in the night. The house was some distance from any habitation except that of Widow Smith, who was awakened, as she believes, by Providence, and seeing old Freeman's house in flames she rushed to the scene in time to drag the body of the unconscious Freeman from the flames. The feeble old woman dragged the body to her cottage, and with careful nursing she saved the old man's life. The sequel took place at the parish church on Thursday, when the couple, both of whom are over eighty years, were married—united in the bonds which death alone can break."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. [April 1 '88

Parnell "Times" Case.

AN UNRELIABLE WITNESS

Gives Sensational Evidence.

PIGOTT ON THE STAND

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Before the Parnell Commission to-day Pigott said the statements made by him to Archbishop Walsh were unfounded. He said there was very little truth in his statements. He was in very distressed circumstances when he wrote and stated that the genuineness of the Parnell letters was very doubtful. Pigott said he would not swear he had not told Archbishop Walsh the Parnell letters were forgeries. He admitted that he wrote lies to Archbishop Walsh and very little truth.

The following sensational portion of Pigott's evidence before the commission on Thursday did not come in the press report: "When Pigott took the stand the court room and adjacent corridors were filled with people, and large crowds gathered in the street in front of the law courts. Intense interest was manifested. Pigott being sworn, said he met Murphy casually in Paris. Murphy introduced himself as formerly compositor in Pigott's office. After several interviews Murphy agreed to find out where the Parnell letters were. He ultimately told Pigott of a black bag containing the first batch of letters, and said he could have it for $500. Pigott returned to Dublin to obtain instructions, and went back to Paris with the money. In the meantime the Clan-na-Gael had claimed the letters. This difficulty was finally overcome, and the letters were delivered to Pigott, he swearing before the tribunal of five men not to reveal the circumstances under which he had obtained them, or the names of persons from whom he had received them, and never to appear as a witness with reference to them. The letters were brought to Dublin and duly handed over to Houston. The witness denied in a most solemn and emphatic manner that he forged the letters.

Mr. Pigott, continuing, said he bought the second batch of letters from Tom Brown and secured them after going through the ceremony of taking the oath of secrecy before the tribunal of five. The third batch of letters was bought of a man whose name was unknown to witness. The oath was taken as before and the price agreed upon paid in each case. He declared he never released Houston from the obligation of secrecy. Pigott acknowledged he made the statement which Mr. Lewis, the distinguished counsel, had taken down in writing and was now produced in court. In this statement, witness declares his belief in the genuineness of the Parnell letters. He wrote to Archbishop Walsh offering to expose the whole conspiracy. The Archbishop refused to negotiate with him unless the name of the forger was divulged. The revelation produced an extraordinary sensation in the court and there was great excitement outside when the news reached the street.

The cross-examination fully confirmed the disclosures made by Pigott to-day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Haslam's Lecture.

SIR,—In an eloquent passage in the address of the Benevolent Irish Society, of Emerald, presented to the Rev. Dr. Doyle, at the celebration of his silver jubilee, I noticed that allusion was made to the intellectual progress the society has made under the patronage of the Rev. gentlemen. In corroboration of this statement, reference was made to the eloquent lectures and addresses delivered by able speakers before the Society. If we may judge of the merits of Mr. Haslam's lecture, at Emerald, from the eloquent extract from it in last night's EXAMINER, the Irish Society, there, may congratulate themselves on a further addition to the list of eloquent and patriotic addresses delivered under their auspices.

HISTORICUS.
Feb. 23, 1889.

Dr. McNeill's Proposition.

SIR,—I observe in THE EXAMINER of yesterday a communication from Dr. McNeill, Stanley, New London. It will be seen, upon perusal of his letter, that the respected doctor, widely known as a man of high calibre, no less than of unimpeachable character, has succeeded in placing the subject in which he is interested very plainly and concisely before your readers. His argument is certainly worthy of consideration. We imagine it amounts to this: that if loss of means or personal injury be sustained in performance of work for the Government, etc., said Government ought to afford the plaintiff redress, and that by a more simple process than the almost impossible one now in vogue. He cites the method pursued in several other countries; and we agree with him in believing that our Government, superior to most others in propounding laws for the better accommodation of the people, would, if strongly urged, amend the law in respect to the matter at issue. If honorable private individuals, public companies, and city corporations recognize their rights to indemnify for loss sustained, surely our great and justly boasted Government will not shrink from the exercise of that righteousness which exalteth a nation.

Yours, &c.,
EQUITY.
Charlottetown, Feb. 21, 1889.
