

Hampton

The exit of heavy drift-ice on Feb. 11, left the strait practically open, with just a narrow ice-strip bordering the mainland. Saturday's gale again filled the strait with ice from shore to shore.

Our week-end visitors included: P. W. College Students, Misses Gladys Willett, and Ruth Dunsford.

Friends of Mrs. A. D. Inman advise that she is progressing satisfactorily, following a major hospital operation.

That cheque for $20,000 from the Education Department to the trustees of Souris School Bldg., Fund, through Mr. Acorn, First King's Assemblyman, was truly a very nice gesture, towards Souris High School, costing $70,000, where instruction will be given in grades 9 to 12.

A capacity audience greatly enjoyed the variety concert at Argyle Shore hall on Friday evening, Feb. 11, sponsored by the Women's Institute. Each number on the program merited the applause received, with repeated calls for encores. Mr. Kenneth MacDougall capably filled the duties of chairman, with Mrs. J. M. Morrison accompanist for the musical numbers. Lunches were sold, and the performers entertained at luncheon at the close of the concert. Financially successful, the proceeds will go to strengthen the W.I. budget for further work being steadily carried on in this district.

Scores reported by district fans attending the school games at Cra-paud Rink, on Feb. 11, as follows: Cape Traverse, 7; Cra-paud, 5; North Tryon, 8; Albany, 3. The rain storm precluded the week-end games scheduled.

Crapaud Rink Carnival produced many attractive costumes, well meriting the prizes awarded, and a most enjoyable evening's pleasure, was afforded the large gathering of young people.

Our most ardent district hockey fans report an outstanding game at the Forum on Feb. 11, when, mainly through the fine combination play of Whitlock-Gray and Hennessey, Islands defeated the Hawks 5-3, before an immense gathering, winning the League Title.

Expression of deep sympathy in the death at Glace Bay, on February 7, of one dearly beloved by relatives and highly esteemed by a region of comrades and friends of Rev. Colin U. MacNevin, Minister of Chalmers United Church, brother of Hector MacNevin, residing on the homestead at DeSable; also two brothers and two sisters residing in this Province. The late Mr. MacNevin was a graduate of P. W. C. Dalhousie University, and Pine Hill Divinity College, and was an overseas veteran of the First World War. He also won many prizes as an athlete before entering the ministry. Funeral services, largely attended, were held from Knox Church, on February 10.

ST. VERONICAS GUILD MEETING

The bi-monthly meeting of the St. Veronicas Guild was held on Feb. 8, following Benediction in the Chapel of the Charlottetown Hospital. Monsignor Patrick McMahon, Chaplain, opened the meeting with prayer. The president, Mrs. G. Maddigan was in the chair. Roll call was answered by 16 members.

Reports of activities of Halifax and Sydney Guilds were read also minutes of the executive meeting of the M. C. N. held in Antigonish on November 12.

The financial statement was presented by Mrs. E. Corrigan, treasurer.

Reports of the different committees were read by Mrs. Alf Kelly, on Ways and Means, stated that arrangements had been

Fisheries Inspectors In Closed Conference

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer
HALIFAX (CP) — Enough emerged from a recent closed conference of fisheries inspectors here to show that:

1. Getting sub-standard fish into Canada can be as tough as trying to pass a counterfeit note.

2. Canadians each year are getting out of the Atlantic and Pacific an amount of fish equal in weight to more than 20 liners and the size of the 83,000-ton Queen Elizabeth.

3. The conference took up the better part of a week in late January. It brought together for the first time the fisheries department's four regional chief inspection officers and a host of aides.

4. Informed sources summed the results this way:

The experts responsible for enforcing some of the world's toughest fisheries regulations feel they should be extended beyond the canned, salted, pickled and smoked varieties to the fresh and frozen made for a dance at the Rollaway on Feb. 15. She mentioned plans for future activities to augment the Guild funds.

as well. The inspectors didn't feel that the lack of examination necessarily meant Canadians were being sold poor-quality fresh and frozen fish. But they did feel that inspection would mean less waste and probably enhance the product.

The fishing industry will be closely consulted before any changes are made.

Fish most usually sold in the fresh and frozen state are cod, haddock, hake, flounder, pollock and cusk, a cod-like creature.

HARD TO ESTIMATE

Of course, many of these are also salted or pickled or smoked. This makes it nearly impossible to estimate what proportion of the national fish catch is being marketed at any particular time in fresh or frozen state.

The inspectors also made suggestions, mostly of a manpower-deployment nature, to speed up the clearance of imported fish. Canada probably ranks about fifth among the fishing nations of the world and her stringent standards are topped by none, although equalled by the United States. (The 1953 catch on both coasts totalled more than 1,600,000,000 pounds, 80 per cent of which was exported.)

Stresses Importance Of American Bomber Bases

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Campney in recent weeks has been stressing that one of the chief aims of continental defence must be protection of the thermocline capacity of the United States.

In essence, this means an air protection curtain for the U. S. strategic bomber force and its bases, industries which turn out its planes and the plants which manufacture the atomic and hydrogen bombs.

This was a point raised often by former defence minister Claxton before he retired from the government last July. If anything, the problem has taken on increased importance because of the longer-range bombers now being developed by Russia.

NO BIG TARGETS HERE

Officials here don't believe there are any Canadian targets comparable to those in the U. S. So the primary role of the RCAF CF-100 jet fighter squadrons would be to protect American bomber bases and aircraft and bomb plants.

This, in the long run, would serve as protection of Canada because the more Russian planes knocked down and the heavier the retaliatory blow at the Communists, the less likelihood of a heavy attack on this country.

Mr. Campney recently said in the Commons:

"The defence of Canada—indeed of North America—has suddenly become almost equally as important to the other NATO nations as

It has always been so ourselves, on Wednesday evenings. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. MacDonald were given authority to purchase four art reproductions for the school. The packing of woolens was discussed, but it was decided to leave this to the latter part of March. Mrs. Elmore MacKay and Mrs. Horace MacEwen had prepared an interesting program of "Twenty Questions," a reading, and a contest. Hostesses were: Mrs. MacKay, Mrs. MacEwen, Mrs. Leo MacIsaac and Mrs. M. P. Rodd.

SWITCH FROM STEAM

OSLO (CP) — In an effort to reduce operating deficits the Norwegian State Railways has proposed a program calling for conversion to electric and diesel traction. The railways estimate savings would reach perhaps $750,000 yearly.

SHIP SINKS, ALL SAVED

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — All hands were saved Monday when a German steamer, the Hohenweg, 1,088 tons, sank after a collision with the 5,374-ton Norwegian ship Sunny Price, a radio signal monitored here indicated. The collision occurred about 30 miles off the Belgian coast.

On Monday night Mrs. Elmore MacKay entertained the Parkdale W. I. knitting party at her home on Mt. Edward Road. The feature event of the evening was the drawing of the lucky ticket for the blanket. Mrs. MacKay a visitor from Sterling W. I. drew the ticket awarding the prize to Wayne Ramsay.

Mrs. Fred Gallant, a sponsor for the Cubs and Scouts, announced plans to hold a pantry sale on March 5th, to raise funds for them, and requested permission for the Scouts to meet in the hall
