Racy Literature.

He who has no respect for religion, can have no true respect for himself.

While a mother was brooding over her poverty, her little son said: "Mamma, I think God hears when we scrape the bottom of the barrel!"

"Can you steer the mainmast down the forecastle stairs?" said a sea captain to a new hand. "Yes, sir, I can, if you will stand below and coil it up." The captain didn't catechise that man any more.

No amount of money to buy clothes, and no skill in the artist who makes them, can compensate for a want of taste in the wearer. Taste in dress commonly indicates a general sense of the becoming in all domestic concerns.—Cornhill.

When an Irsh priest was applied to by his flock to use his influence in obtaining a few dry days in July, he replied that he was ready to accord any precise kind of weather that three farmers of the parish would agree upon.—Cornelius O'Dowd in "Blackwood."

A Tee-total Thought.—Angus Cameron, of Inverness [Kingussie]. general dealer, a second time won the Queen's Prize at Wimdledon. He is a resolute abstainer. How much better than paying your shots is making your shots pay.—Punch.

A countryman, who had been on a visit to London, on returning home, remarked that he never saw so many trees in his life as he saw in Piccadilly. This led to a dispute and a bet, when the countryman, being called upon to name the trees he saw, replied, "Axle-trees."

An anecdote is told of Frederick the Great, that just before the battle of Rosbach he said to one of his generals, who was on very intimate terms with him. "If I lose the battle, I shall retire to Venice, and there practise physic." 'Ah,' replied the general, "Always a murderer, always a murderer."

"Tommy, my son, fetch in a stick of wood." "Ah dear mother," responded the youth, "the grammatical portion of your education has been sadly neglected. You should have said, 'Thomas my son, transport from that recumbent collection of combustible material upon the threshold of this edifice one of the curtailed excrescences of a defunct log.'"

A Happy Rejoinder.—The Presbyterians out West have been holding a convention. About two hundred ministers and laymen attended. Though confined to Presbyterians, members of other churches were present. One, who was taken to be a Methodist, was asked jocularly, "Why what are you doing here?" "Well," he replied, "when I get to heaven I expect to find so many Presbyterians there, that I want to get a little acquainted with them beforehand."

Natural Affinity.—An outside passenger by a coach had his hat blown over a bridge, and carried away by the stream. "Is it not very singular," said he to a gentleman who was seated beside him, "that my hat took that direction?" "Not at all," replied the latter; "It is natural that a beaver should take to the water."

The Post tells of a man in Maine who kept a store, and when he sold a pint or a half-pint of rum, always put his thumb into the measure—an enormously large thumb—and at the end of twenty years' practice he estimated that he had sold his thumb for at least five thousand dollars, and had it left, after all.

A jailer in a Western State had received strict orders not to keep any prisoners in solitary confinement. Once, when he had but two in charge, one escaped, and he was obliged in consequence to kick the other out of doors, in order to comply with the regulation.

A prudent master advised his servant to put by his money for rainy days. In a few weeks the master inquired how much of his wages he had saved. "Faith, none at all," said he; "I did as you bid me: it rained yesterday—I took a drop—and it all went."

A Minnesota paper says a man and his wife, living in Cambria in that State, recently went visiting at a neighbor's leaving four little children at home. The children accidentally set fire to a shed, and were so frightened at what they had done, that two of them ran into the woods and hid themselves, and the other two, incredible as it may seem, ran to the river near by and drowned themselves.

A man in Lebanon, Ky., apparently in good health, lately told some men who were working with him that he should die the next day at four o'clock, P. M. After breakfast, the next morning, he repeated the declaration; and sure enough, precisely at four o'clock he dropped dead. He also predicted that a terrible storm would sweep over the country on the seventh of August.

A woman in Chicago who recently applied for a divorce on the ground of ill-treatment by her husband, alleges that she was the nurse of his fomer wife, who died only four weeks previously; that he courted her while she was thus empioyed, married a week after the funeral, and began to abuse her in a week after their marriage.

Tennessee papers are discussing a rain of snakes which recently occurred at a place called Indian Gap, in that State. Hundred of them are said to have fallen, and a field hand working on the farm of a Mr. James Cook being bitten by one of the serpent on the thumb of the left hand, died in the course of twelve hours.

A woman in New Orleans was arrested for throwing a pail of hot water on a gentleman who passed in front of her house, in the evening. She apologized to the victim, saying it was a mistake, and that she mistook him for her own husband.

One hundred and twelve Chinese women arrived in California by the last steamer. "Some of them have feet as big as any other woman's," says a San Francisco paper.

There are ten millions of dollars' worth of buildings now in process of rection in Chicago.

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES

AND EYE GLASSES.

The Large and increasing sale of these

PERFECTED GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.
