UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE CASE—A resident of Summerside appeared before Magistrate R. S. Hinton, K.C., charged with failure to make contributions for employees under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

90 Potato Pickers Arrive At S'side
Working with precision, according to a system evolved from the experiences of the last several years, the male staff of the Summerside office of the National Employment Service last evening disposed of 90 potato pickers from Cape Breton to waiting growers in a very short time.

CONDUCTS FIRST SERVICE
Rev. William O. Weale, minister of the Church of Christ, last evening conducted his first service in Summerside in the presence of a splendid turnout of the members of his church.

CAR ACCIDENTS—Several car accidents were reported in Summerside over the week end but apparently there were no serious injuries.

Legion Carnival Big Success
The annual Legion carnival, held for five days last week in the new curling rink, Summerside, wound up on Saturday night with an interesting program and a large crowd in attendance.

PERSONALS
Friends are pleased to see Miss Edith Clark home again and able to be out about after spending the last four months as a patient in the Provincial Sanatorium.

Mr. William Young has returned to Summerside from Jasper Alta, where he attended a convention of Sun Life Insurance Company agents.

Mr. W. E. Ellis, manager of the china department of R. T. Holman Ltd., left Saturday morning on a business trip to Montreal in the interests of his firm.

Rev. Eugene Murray, parish priest at Summerside, gave an interesting and inspiring address on his recent pilgrimage to Rome to the members of the Holy Name Society of St. Paul's parish, Summerside, in St. Paul's Hall last evening.

Joseph MacLeod spoke briefly in appreciation of the fine talk. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. W. B. McNeill and seconded by Mr. Elmer Pineau and tendered by the chairman, Mr. William Frigden, president of the Society.

Funeral services were held in Halifax last night for Thomas Bayfield Yeo, well-known patient at Camp Hill Hospital, who died Thursday night. Mr. Yeo, a veteran of World War One, had been an invalid and bed-ridden for the past 15 years.

Mr. Yeo served overseas and before being afflicted with arthritis, he worked as a motor mechanic. His kindness and generosity were shown while he was a patient when he contributed a large part of his pension to war charities during World War Two.

Although bed-ridden and in pain, Mr. Yeo was never known to complain and his cheerfulness was known throughout the hospital. Veterans of both wars and a large number of other friends gathered last evening at the Halifax General Home for the service.
