

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 18, 1896.

SHELVING THE TARIFF MATTER.

The Patriot does not like the quotations from the New York papers that have been published by The Examiner lately. It estimates that the New York Tribune is not to be taken as an organ of the Liberal party and expresses the belief that the new Government will carry out their protection pledges with respect to the tariff. But the New York Tribune is not the only authority for the statement that the tariff matter is to be shelved. We have it upon higher authority than the Tribune, or even the Patriot, that nothing is to be done. In a speech delivered at Toronto in February, 1895, the Hon. Wilfred Laurier, the Leader of the new Liberal Administration, is reported to have spoken as follows:—

"When in power I think I know the way in which I can maintain my reputation—that is, when a question comes before me that is difficult to solve, to avoid it, to do nothing, and to look wise. (Laughter.) Suppose we have to deal with and reform the tariff, which we certainly will have to deal with, we might appoint a Royal Commission—(laughter)—to go about the country interviewing manufacturers in secret—(laughter)—interviewing farmers in public, lecturing farmers, browbeating them, and showing them their stupidity because they do not acknowledge the beauty of the National Policy. (Renewed laughter.)"

Mr. Laurier is now in power, and he is evidently acting along the lines of his Toronto speech. Having several difficult questions to deal with, questions which he wishes to avoid, he has determined to go into the commission business wholesale. There is to be a commission on the tariff question, a commission to investigate the franchise act. In fact, the country is to be governed almost wholly by commission.

A QUEBEC VIEW.

The Quebec correspondent of the New York Sun, in the course of an article commenting upon the result of the recent general election in Canada, remarks as follows:—

"The feature of this result most interesting to Americans, however, is the victory of the anti-imperialist, or Continental, over the Imperialist party. It is true that laterals, or many of them, have deemed it politic outwardly to vie with Tories in professions of devotion to British connection and the old flag, but their professions have for the most part been far less sincere. The general tendency of their policy, fiscal and general, is American, while that of the Tories is British. The Tory party contains all the Imperialist, militarists and patriots, Imperialist zollverein. At its head is the titled politician most identified with notions of that kind. The Liberal party contains all the friends of political and commercial union. From the Tories emanate the schemes for military and naval preparations directed against the United States, and all the proposals of fast lines of steamers to deal a blow at the commerce of New York. The Tories are always crying on the Liberal's impatience and partiality, which the Liberals but feebly retort."

According to the correspondent, the party of fast steamship lines and of loyalty to British connection has been supplanted by the party which outwardly professes loyalty to the old flag whilst the tendency of its policy, fiscal and general, is American! The Liberal party contains all the friends of political and commercial union with the United States, whilst the Tory party is made up of imperial federations and the projectors of imperial zollverein! In short, the friends of the United States are now masters of the situation. The correspondent seems to have sized up the situation very impartially.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The St. John Telegraph's Ottawa correspondent intimates that there is also to be a commission on the franchise franchise act. The signs multiply that Mr. Laurier's is to be a government by commission.

An Ottawa despatch says: The placing of Sir Richard Cartwright in the position of Trade and Commerce, and the making of Mr. Fielding, an avowed secessionist, Finance Minister, have produced an uneasy feeling in commercial circles.

An Ottawa despatch to the Guardian says: Hon. Jos. Martin is here a day if he will satisfy Laurier that he will abide by the decision of the school commission he will be made minister of the Interior and contented. Brandon, which McCarthy will resign.

A special train leaves this afternoon for Summerside with a number of the children of Hon. L. H. Davies, who go to meet him at that place. It is said that the idea of giving Mr. Davies a reception arose in the mind of a prominent banker for political favors, and being considered a good move, soon gained supporters amongst the faithful. But Mr. Davies will have to display considerable diplomacy if one-half the persons whose names are mentioned are after political favors. The demand is far in excess of the supply.

George Taylor, the Conservative whip who was recently interred at Toronto. He expressed the opinion that the Conservatives would give the new Government a free hand on the principle that if a calf is given sufficient rope it will hang itself. He thought Mr. Laurier had already weakened himself by his partial distribution of the portfolios. While Quebec had six Ministers, Ontario, with 50 per cent. greater population, was allowed only four. And he lies that the most important offices, those with the greater amount of patronage, had been awarded Quebecers.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

More Progress Made in the Matter Than Has Generally Been Understood.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—A general arbitration convention between the United States and Great Britain, though not yet agreed upon, is confidently expected, and the correspondence thus far exchanged on the subject, which is to be made public on Saturday here, in London, will show that much more progress has been made toward getting it than is generally understood.

The correspondence, which it is as interesting as it is voluminous, is to be published in this incomplete state at the request of Lord Salisbury, who feels the need of doing so because of the repeated questions in parliament as to what his government is doing to secure such a treaty. He was not, at first, personally favorable to the proposition, and has held back on the Venezuelan arbitration, claiming that the so-called "settled districts" should be exempt from arbitration, but this persistent prodding of the English people has forced him into an attitude of friendliness toward both the general and the particular proposition for arbitration and he is now anxious to show that in his correspondence he represented the English desire for arbitration.

GUIANA BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

The Venezuelan Minister Calls on United States Secretary Olney.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Minister Andrade of Venezuela called on Secretary Olney to-day. It is said the call had no connection with the Cuban boundary dispute. As far as can be learned, the British have not as yet been informed of the Venezuelan dispute. Harrison handed Klautsky sealed despatches to the Venezuelan authorities, to which the Venezuelan commander made no protest. The guard making the arrest numbered eighteen soldiers, including two English-speaking coolies. They were armed with rifles of miscellaneous patterns. Klautsky delivered Harrison's despatches to Sir Augustus Hemming at Georgetown, and they were forwarded to Minister Chamberlain in London. They are due to arrive there about the present time.

FERRY BOAT OVERTURNED.

There are Ten Bodies in the Morgue Awaiting Identification.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 16.—As the result of the overturning of a ferry boat to-night, ten men are lying dead in the morgue, and it is possible that that number will be augmented before the rescuers cease work. The accident occurred on the Old River, near the Ore docks of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad Company. The ore handlers had just quit work for the day, and waiting their turn to cross the branch of the river on the then-mentioned ferry boat, which had provided for their own use. When the ferry boat reached the dock at least twenty men crowded upon it. The boat, which is about 30 feet long and not more than four feet wide, would carry safely not more than a dozen persons. The boat was pushed from the shore and was being propelled across the stream. When it was about half way over, it began to sink. The men rushed to the side, it turned over. At the occupants were thrown into the water. A few managed to swim ashore, while one or two were picked up by a tug. The life-saving crew, whose station is near the scene of the accident, was summoned and the work of recovering the bodies from the river was begun. Within an hour 10 corpses were laid side by side upon the dock. After 10 bodies had been taken from the water they were conveyed to the morgue for identification.

A FEMALE FIEND.

Hanged at Pikeville, Virginia, for the Murder of Her Child.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., July 16.—News reached here yesterday from Coburg, Virginia, to the effect that Mary Snodgrass was hanged at that place for the murder of her child.

The Snodgrass woman was a disreputable character and was compelled to leave this place on that account. She went to Coburg where her child was cared for by negroes until it was about a month old, when it was turned over to its mother. She did not want it, and tried to get rid of the child in various ways. The county judge told her that she would have to provide for it, and she took it to her home. One night about midnight some people living close by heard the little one screaming. Black smoke was seen issuing from the chimney, and the door was burst in to ascertain the trouble. The child had been placed in the fire, and the insane mother was holding it in place in the flames with a long iron hook. She was arrested and placed in jail. The infuriated people wanted to lynch her, but the promise of speedy justice caused them to allow the law to take its course. She was tried and convicted of murder in the first degree. She was about 28 years old.

ME WAS TOO FEELT.

Men have jilted their loves, and many a fickle woman has changed her mind, but it is rare that a bridegroom reaches that point of seeing his bride in wedding array and then dreading for dear life to avoid taking the marriage vows. But such ungalant behavior recently happened to mar the bridal ceremony of a New York couple. The girl was all decked in white gown and roses and her young man in his bridal outfit, but unluckily he added to his weight on the way to the bride's home, and she in an evil moment reproached him for the load. That settled the affair as far as he was concerned. Away he flew, but not to return home, leaving her faithless lover, who probably drowned his sorrow in the nearest beer fountain. Moral: 'Twas better so.

THE SAME OLD SOURCE.

It Leads to a Second Typhoid Epidemic in Plymouth, Penn.

Eleven years ago there was a great epidemic of typhoid fever in Plymouth, Penn. In this town of 9,000 inhabitants there were 1,500 cases of the disease and more than 500 deaths. The epidemic became memorable, not only on account of the magnitude of it and the sufferings of the stricken community, but also because it was the subject of an exhaustive and very instructive investigation, made by the State Board of Health, which demonstrated that the source of infection had been an isolated house in the hills, some miles from the town, and situated within a few feet of the stream which supplied the reservoir in which Plymouth's water supply was stored. It was shown that the stream had been infected from two cases of typhoid fever in that house. Plymouth now has another typhoid epidemic, but a small one. During last week four deaths were reported and about thirty persons are suffering from the disease. It seems almost incredible, but nevertheless it is true, that the infection this time proceeds from the same house in the hills from which the germs of this malarial fever were conveyed to 1,500 persons eleven years ago. The present case is a repetition of the one ascertained in April, when an inspector was present in his report: "It is a typhoid-infected house directly on a stream that supplies 10,000 innocent people, and it was allowed to remain after it had caused an epidemic of at least 1,500 cases and 150 deaths."

The pollution of the stream by the inmates of this house has not been prevented simply because the Plymouth Water Company has been unwilling to pay for the property the water price which the owners have set upon it. But if the company was unwilling to pay the price, surely it could have prevented the infection of the water, or the sanitary authorities could have taken measures for the protection of consumers. The sanitary policy of the local health authorities appears to have not been more enlightened and commendable than the water company's conception of reasonable economy.—New York Tribune.

Advices from Havana state that Colonel Fuentes, reconnoitering in the vicinity of Bayamo, captured an insurgent camp which was defended by 1,000 men. He also destroyed the corn and banana fields in the vicinity and arrested a number of persons suspected of having affiliations with the insurgents.

Experiments with a new alcoholic cure at Bellevue hospital have been crowned with success. The new cure is still a hospital success, but it is known to be a medicine, and after a few more trials it will be available for all sufferers. What effect it will have on the gold cures and sanitariums remains to be seen.

Starr White, a fisherman at Upper Prospect, near Halifax, on Thursday went out in a boat, taking with him a large stone and a lead. This he tied round his neck and jumped into the sea. In the evening the body was found on the bottom. The poor fellow had been drinking for some time and must have been temporarily insane.

A despatch from Wauy Halsa reports that the messenger who carried the news to the Khalifa at Omdurman, that his army had been defeated at Firket was immediately put to death by crucifixion. The Khalifa announced that the same fate as that which befel the messenger would be imposed on any one who mentioned Firket within his hearing.

Three people were burned to death at 20 Lehigh street, South End, Boston, on Wednesday night last, and one person injured. The unfortunate people were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Driscoll, who were burned to death in their tenement on the third floor and Mrs. Margaret Hogan, a widow 70 years old, who was unconscious when taken out of her room on the second floor of the building.

Spain is arranging to send to Cuba further reinforcements of nearly 60,000 men. A little while ago it was declared that Spain's strength was exhausted and that she could not continue the struggle with her rebellious islanders. Like some other people, however, the Spaniards do not seem to know when they are beaten. They may yet be able to snatch some sort of a victory from the jaws of defeat.

A man, fortunately for him, is not such a victim to fashion's decrees as a woman. Neatness and comfort are the main requisites, after that the rest is left to the clothing manufacturer or tailor. Extreme features of any kind are rarely a success as few men care to make themselves noticeable by any pronounced effect in their costume, and very few changes are made through different seasons in the cut and style of men's suits. But any new idea for gaining extra comfort is quickly appropriated, and thus the Fibre Chamois which furnishes the style to women's clothes is now being used through men's outer coats, to give that comforting warmth and protection which dry weather and rain equally well, and yet adds no perceptible weight.

Saturday night is our busy night at Carter's bookstore. We have the stock that draws the crowd.
