THE DAILY EXAMINER.
APRIL 27, 1897.

The St. John Sun's Ottawa correspondent remarks that "the franchise discussion brought out some disagreement as to facts between Mr. Davies and Mr. Martin of Prince Edward Island. Though Mr. Davies has become a minister he has not yet abandoned his somewhat wild and reckless habit of dealing with questions of fact. Mr. Martin was able to correct him on various details round which Mr. Davies had arrayed some of his arguments.

THE NEW TARIFF IN MONTREAL.

A despatch from Montreal reports that when the tariff bill was read by the Montreal merchants the Conservatives appeared better satisfied than the Liberals, the free trade section of the latter being completely in the dumps. The cotton people were more than pleased until the question of customs received an intimation from Ottawa that the reduction on British goods would go into immediate effect, and then the tone of the cotton king was considerably changed. The sugar refiners have no doubt been badly dealt with, and the reduction of the duty on the refined article from 64 to 50 will render competition with the German bounty fed sugars almost impossible. The iron men are also badly hurt, while Pilow, Hersey & Co. intimate that they will have to close up some of their departments.

FISHING NOTES.

(From the American Field.)

Capt. W. H. Jackson, the Boston artist is one of the most devoted anglers that he has ever been my good fortune to meet. He finds his chief relaxation from the duties of his profession in the pleasures of the gentle sport and his description of the places he has visited and the fishing he has had are always vivid and interesting. The months of July, August and September he generally passes on some of the best fishing waters of Maine or the Canadian provinces, and last year he crossed the Atlantic to cast his fly in the lochs and streams of Scotland. He has since told me that American waters are good enough for him, and hereafter he will confine his fishing to the waters of his native land and the adjacent British provinces. Prince Edward's Island was selected as his place of sojourn this year, and he reached home about one week ago from a trip to that angler's paradise which lasted three months. The Captain fishes only with the fly, and in the neighborhood of the little town of Souris he found ideal trout fishing every day of his stay that he felt disposed to go out after it. The fishes are what is known as sea trout, delicious in flavor and exceedingly gamey. Streams having their origin in springs of ice-cold water flow into ponds which make in from the sea, so that the brook fisherman or he who prefers casting his fly from the boat can each indulge his liking. Big Pond, Morson's Pond, North Lake, Black Pond, East Lake and Fortune River—the latter a noted stream for trout in the spring—are the names of the best waters.

The Captain's score for the entire trip was seventeen hundred and ninety-five trout, and on the last day of fishing, in September, he made a new record by landing two hundred and fifty-two fishes weighing collectively one hundred and fifty pounds. Several of this catch scaled two and one-half pounds. His most taking flies were the Parmachenee Belle and a fly with a speckled gray wing and red body, and whenever these were attached to his leader the fishing was fast and furious.

BOSTON WILL CELEBRATE.—The Sun's Boston correspondent writes: The local committee in charge of the arrangements for celebrating the Queen's diamond jubilee is making good progress, and the celebration in Mechanic's hall, June 21, will be an imposing event. A big banquet will be held. An effort will be made to have Sir Charles Tupper come and deliver the oration.

In the Louvre, at Paris, there is an interesting old vase of Etruscan manufacture, whose age is computed at about 2,500 years. It is interesting as bearing a group of children in relief who are engaged in blowing soap bubbles from pipes.

At Lofoten fisheries last year final returns were 38,600,000 codfish, 11,000 hectoliters of liver, 42,000 hectoliters of fish roe and 12,800 hectoliters of medicinal steam refined cod liver oil.

Gloom
Of ill health, despondency and despair, gives way to the sunshine of hope, happiness and health, upon taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it gives renewed life and vitality to the blood, and through that imparts nerve strength, vigor and energy to the whole body. Read this letter:
"Hood's Sarsaparilla helped me wonderfully, changed sickness to health, gloom to sunshine. No pen can describe what I suffered. I was deathly sick, had sick headaches every few days and those terrible tired, despondent feelings, with heart troubles so that I could not go up and down stairs without clapping my hand over my heart and resting. In fact, it would almost take my breath away. I suffered so I did not care to live, yet I had much to live for. There is no pleasure in life if deprived of health, for life becomes a burden. Hood's Sarsaparilla does far more than advertised. After taking one bottle, it is sufficient to recommend itself." Mrs. J. E. SMITH, Beloit, Iowa.

POISONED BLOOD
Dreadful Death-Draught Comes from Diseased Kidneys.
When Uric Acid Flows in the Veins, Life Looks Out of Darkened Windows, Expecting Soon the Close of Day.

The fashionable Italian poison of the XVI. century was Aqua Turfana. It was used by the medicis and all the first families of Rome, Genoa and Naples. In five years, historians tell us, over 600 wives used it to make widows of themselves.

In these modern days a more terrible and more prevalent poison is decimating the human family, and men have asked in vain for an antidote. It is the uræmic poisoning of the blood, caused by diseased kidneys. The poison which these useful organs should filter from the blood is allowed to remain in the circulation, and courses through the body like "Accursed Hebenon... whose effect Holds such an enemy with blood of man, That with a sudden vigor it doth posset and cure Like esger droppings into milk, The thin and wholesome blood." To-day there is a remedy. Science has discovered a sure cure. All may have and apply it. It is sold under the name of DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

It is a specific for all kidney ailments. It cures by restoring the Kidneys, so that they properly perform their natural functions. It is the only known cure for Diabetes, and Bright's Disease. For sale by all druggists everywhere, and the Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto.

Mr. Vernon Bromley, Trinton, Ont., says: "For a number of years have suffered severely from Rheumatism and Sciatica. Was induced to procure a half dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills which I have used; and from being a cripple I am a well man."

Mr. Thos. Harrison, St. Mary's, N. B., says: "In spite of all other treatment, I suffered for nearly a year with Stone of the Bladder. I was relieved by passing the same, after using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and completely cured by a few boxes."

Mr. Wm. McEvela, 275 Field St., Ottawa, says: "Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have worked a wonderful cure in my case. Had been laid up with kidney trouble for months."

G. B. Cones, Orillia, Ont., says: "I most cheerfully testify that five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me of Diabetes from which I suffered two years."

Insanity From Shock.
The pathetic recital of the experience of an engineer whose reason was shattered by his train running over and killing two men lends thoughtful persons to the contemplation of the exceeding frailty of humanity and the awful consequences to the sensitive mind of such an accident as that which was the real cause of the collision of two trains.

Of a highly nervous temperament, the engineer, while he felt himself guiltless of murder, was yet so overcome with the knowledge that he had taken two lives that he was wholly unbalanced, and probably in the most mechanical way, with his hand on the lever, sent his train along the tracks, completely oblivious of the danger that threatened him. The piteous appeal to his fellows, asking them if he really was to blame, is one of the most pitiful incidents in the affair. Experts say that an engineer can only pass through a given amount of strain, and that once having passed this point he is scarcely accountable for what he may do.

There is a great difference in people, however, as to the effect which such calamities have upon them. People of stolid and unimpressible temperaments may pass through such experiences and be but slightly overcome by them, but it is a dangerous thing for the sensitive, highly organized mind to be placed in such an awful position.—New York Ledger.

WOMAN'S SUPERIORITY.
How the Wife Proved It and Silenced Her Husband.
Mr. Meekton's wife had been making a few remarks to which her husband listened with a patience which showed that his disposition is diplomatic rather than bellicose. The theme of her discourse was the inferiority of men and their usurpation of power, a topic on which she can be depended to wax eloquent, even if she has to say the same things over several times.

"Henrietta," ventured her husband in a gentle tone, "I do not think that you were quite right in saying that the whole scheme of creation shows that women are superior beings."

"You do—do—not—think—what?" she demanded in ominous accents.

"I do not think—er—that is to say, I admit that you bring some very good arguments to bear on your side of the question."

"You speak as if there were another side to it, Mr. Meekton."

"Well, I was just trying to make home conversational and pleasant, you know."

"Proceed."

"You offer facts which very strongly support your theory when you refer to the success with which queens have governed and to the brilliancy of the Elizabethan period in particular. It is also worthy of note that we intuitively refer to a great government or a great ship as 'she.' But there is one important truth which you cannot controvert." Her eye warned him, and he hastened to add: "That is to say, an important truth which most people would have difficulty in controverting. You cannot deny that after the garden of Eden was prepared Adam was the first to appear on the scene."

"Of course I cannot," replied his wife, with lofty serenity.

"You are obliged to concede that man was to be found upon the earth before woman was."

"Certainly. It is precisely on the same principle that you expect your subordinates to be at work in the office before you get down there in the morning."—Washington Star.
