

Emphasis On History Suggested

MONTREAL (CP)—Stronger emphasis on the teaching of Canadian history would help foster the feeling of national bond among all Canadians, a Charlottetown educationist told the Quebec Association of Catholic Teachers here.

Dr. Frank MacKinnon, principal of Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, said history as a subject is greatly under-rated. A British Columbia survey had indicated history was the least popular subject among Canadians.

"And if as graduates they don't know enough about Canadian history, as adults it's no wonder they are confused about the present state of Canadian affairs."

Dr. MacKinnon said the British North America Act is getting to be almost a swear-word in Canada, instead of gaining recognition as "one of the best and oldest (constitutions) that man has devised."

Price Index Higher After 2-Month Drop

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher clothing and footwear prices sent the consumer price index higher last month after a two-month decline.

The all-items index was at its record high of 139.5 in July and slipped to 139.4 in August and then to 139.1 in September. Last month it moved back up to 139.3.

The October index was 3.7 points higher than one year earlier.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported that a group of indexes for clothing, health and personal care, housing, and recreation and reading rose sufficiently to push the all-items index up despite lower food prices.

The biggest jump among the sub-indexes was in clothing prices, which the bureau said were 1 1/2 per cent higher than in September.

The increases were spread through men's, women's and children's wear, and affected seasonal clothing as well as non-seasonal goods.

The clothing price index normally does not move by more than a small fraction of one per cent a month. But a year ago it also showed a jump of more than one per cent in October.

This is attributed to the end of summer-clearance and back-to-school clothing sales which take place in August and September, thus showing a month-to-month increase in prices in October.

Food prices generally were down half of one per cent in the October price survey. The bureau found lower prices for beef, bacon, lamb, most fresh vegetables, bananas, apples, grapes, frozen orange juice, canned corn, tomato juice, margarine, macaroni, tea and coffee.
