"Tarzan Finds A Son" At Prince Edward

Thrills, drama and tender romance, told amid the jungles of Africa, are enthralling audiences at the Prince Edward Theatre where "Tarzan Finds A Son"! reuniting Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan, is now playing.

The new story deals with the finding of a baby, only survivor of a plane wreck in the jungle. Tarzan and his mate raise the boy. A safari arrives searching for plane survivors because of a legacy in England, and the boy becomes the centre of a plot to conceal his claim. Tarzan refuses to surrender the boy in any event, and Jane tricks him, feeling that the boy should return for his birthright. This leads to capture of the party by savages.

The cavalry charge, rescue of the baby from a charging rhinoceros, amazing underwater swimming by Weissmuller and young Sheffield, and dramatic sequences in the jungle tree house are high points in the adventure romance. Star animal actors include Cheeta, the famous Tarzan chimpanzee, Queenie, Tarzan's elephant friend, and Baby Bee, smallest baby elephant in the United States.

The players include Ian Hunter, Henry Stephenson, Frieda Inescort, Henry Wilcoxon, Laraine Day and Morton Lawry. Authentic native chants in Swahili lend a bizarre charm to the fantistic rites of the voodoo worshippers.

Bert Wheeler And Marie Wilson Set Laugh Pace In Football Film

With such a team as Bert Wheeler and Marie Wilson setting the pace, any motion picture would have more than its fair share of laughs, and "The Cowboy Quarterback", the Warner Bros. comedy which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, bears out that axiom perfectly.

This fiesta of fun, however, does not depend entirely upon its two leading comedians to be, as it is, continuously amusing from start to finish. It has other accomplished fun-makers in its cast, which includes the generaly serious Gloria Dickson — who is, in this case, the not too sinister menace — and comedians as William Demarest, Eddie Foy, Jr., and De Wolf Hopper.

It's about football, as the title promises, but there is little of that "do or die" spirit about it for it isn't about college football.

For Wheeler, who returns to the screen after an absence of almost two years the picture is a particularly fine vehicle.

He fairly reveals in the role of the little quarterback from the cow country.

Marie Wilson, his girl friend, insists on master-minding every action of her boy friend, and in thus making herself an obnoxious pest to all his professional associates, particularly the manager of his team.

The manager, played by Demarest, is responsible for her being with the team. He soon regrets the promise and the picture is concerned with the stratagems he employs to get rid of Marie and yet keep Bert happy enough to play good ball and lead the team to the championship.

Today's Race Card

Today's race card will not be in any way inferior to the previous three days as a glance at the classes and starters will show. The three events are the Two Year Old Futurity, the 2.14 Trot and Pace and the Free for All Trot.

The Two Year Old Futurity has Ada Worthy, Duke Abbe, George Mac, Margaret Jean, and Nora Worthy as starters. Three of them are by Abbe Worthy 2.05, one by Clover Guy and the other by Great Hal. There is not much information on these colts as they have been trained in different centres—Moncton, Charlottetown, Montague, Summerside and Kensington—but the word is that they are a well mannered lot with some good speed prospects. It is always interesting to watch these baby trotters and it will be no less so tomorrow.

The 2.14 Trot and Pace. This as you will note when you go through the entries is a real hummer of a class with Buck Hanover 2.05½, Direct L. 2.09½, Dudey Patch 2.10, Josie the Great 2.06½, Quaker Girl 2.09¼, Walter Brown 2.05¼ and Peter Hal 2.05¾. What a field and what possibilities for head and head finishes they furnish. Of course Walter Brown 2.05¼ on account of his racing performance has a big following but after all, what has he on Buck Hanover 2.05½ that paced Montague track in 2.09 with lots of speed to spare? He is just right. Billy Hood says, and he expects to win. Then there is Direct L. 2.09¼ that rumour says has been saved for this race. Direct L. has beaten this stable companion Aaron L. 2.08 twice this season and you know what that means, because Aaron L. won Wednesday from a great field of pacers, twice lowering his record, finally to 2.08. Then there is Peter Hal 2.05¾ from Sydney, well liked by the boys from the steel and coal country, and Quaker Girl 2.09¼, the mare with the festive heels but the easy way of going that surprised the fans by winning in 2.09¼ from nine pacers here two years ago. But perhaps one of the best of the bunch and the least advertised this season is Josie the Great, that hung up a new record for Maritime pacing mares or Maritime bred pacers of any kind, at Woodstock of 2.06¼ last fall. Tyndall Semple is handling the reins and Tyndall is an astute gentleman that generally picks something out of the box as a surprise. The last entry to mention is Dudey Patch 2.10, with the redoubtable Gum MacMillan up. Dudey has barrels of speed and there is no telling where she may land.

Free For All Trot. Some say this is the piece de resistance, the highlight of the whole meeting and a race that will surely see the track trotting record of 2.08 3-4 held by the old warrior Heatherbell 2.08¼, beaten, Yes, Heatherbells himself will be a starter and hundreds of friends will no doubt come out just to see that grand horse take the turns on high. Many fans will remember that September day in 1936 when he made the track record, how he flew to the first turn and stepped the quarter in 30¾ seconds, going on to win the mile in 2.08-3-4.

John Dean 2.08½ owned by Mayor H. M. Sweeney of Bridgewater, was temporarily laid up during the summer but is now as sound as a bell and in the best shape of his career. Mayor Sweeney is pretty confident that he will set up a new track record. Then there is that great track record buster Lusty Frisco 2.07¼, owned by the esteemed Charlottetown horseman Charles Chandler. Lusty Frisco went out of his class to race with fast pacers this summer and showed his ability to trot with the best of the side-wheelers. He has had a let up for over a month and is freshened up so well that he is just rearing to go, and don't be surprised if Lusty Frisco is the horse that breaks the track record.

The pole horse will be that good trotting mare Millie Kalmuck that came through with a win on Wednesday in the 2.17 Trot. She is in tough company it is true, but Millie gets better every race and she is worth considering. The final entry is Harvest Melody 2.10¼, that gallant little mare from Newfoundland that won both fast trotting events at the Provincial Exhibition in 1938. Harvest Melody will put up a good fight we are sure.

MRS. HARRY S. STEWART

After a lingering illness of almost a year Mrs. Edythe E Stewart passed on to the fuller life, on the morning of August ninth, at her home Greenfield Avenue, Charlottetown.

Mrs. Stewart was born at Charlottetown, the daughter of George W. and the late Agnes Ritchie. She was a devoted member of St. Peter's Cathedral and a staunch supporter of the Cathedral's many activities.

The funeral was held from St. Peters Cathedral Friday August 11th—Canon Malone taking the service, assisted by Rev. T. H. Hunt, the latter taking the service at the graveside in St. Peters Cemetery.

Those left to mourn her passing in addition to her husband Mr. Harry S. Stewart, of The Bank of Canada, are her father Mr. George W. Ritchie, Charlottetown; Mr. W. H. S. Ritchie a brother, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Campbellton N. B.; Mrs. Samuel Craig and Mrs. W. G. Hogg, sisters both of Charlottetown, and Mrs. J. A. Gesner of Toronto, to all of whom the Guardian extends heartfelt sympathy.

SMOKING TOURISTS ARE BAD EXAMPLES

DUBLIN, Aug. 16—(CP)—Senator James Tunney wants the Government to discourage women tourists who wear trousers and smoke cigarettes in public.

During discussion on the new Tourist Development Bill in the Senate Mr. Tunney declared that Eire did not want the cocktail-drinking trouser-wearing type of women tourist. He averred that such women set a bad example to Irish girls.

Another Senator retorted that most of the women seen in trousers in Dublin streets are local residents.

The new Tourist Bill, which will become law soon, empowers the Government to supplement private enterprise in the development of amenities for foreign visitors and a special board of five business men will be appointed for the purpose with authority to spend $3,000,000 at the outset.

Results in the tourist industry this year have been the worst for a decade. This is attributed to the European situation and to the campaign of I. R. A. fires and explosions in England.
