First Livestock For Fair Due In Halifax Tonight

HALIFAX — Livestock from all over the Maritimes and from as far west as Ontario's Ottawa Valley will arrive in Halifax by Canadian National this week for the annual Atlantic Winter Fair.

The first shipment, two cars of livestock from farms near Ottawa, are scheduled to arrive in Halifax late today.

Canadian National yearly offers special rates and services to the competitors. Last year a total of 21 cars of livestock were shipped to the agricultural fair which this year runs from Oct. 30 to Nov. 6.

Close to 600 head of cattle are expected to be judged at the fair which is recognized as Atlantic Canada's top agricultural event.

Many of the livestock owners also ship their winning animals from Halifax to Toronto for the Royal Winter Fair which follows the Atlantic competitions by a week, and here again CN offers transportation for the aristocrats of the show ring.

The livestock owners are assigned cars by CN which they are allowed to "furnish" to best accommodate the type of animal they are shipping.

These cars are made available to the customers for the return journey from Halifax or the trip to Toronto.

SWITCH AT SIDING

On arrival at Halifax the livestock cars are detached from the train at Rockingham and switched to a siding adjoining the exhibition grounds.

The animals are unloaded at the siding and moved across to their quarters at the fair grounds.

After the fair, the cars are brought back to the siding for easy loading.

Says Bill Burges, CN's agricultural development officer for the Atlantic Region, "as the regions biggest agricultural show, the Atlantic Winter Fair attracts entries from across Canada and the eastern United States, and CN is anxious to provide the best in transportation to serve this fine event."

Commodore Hennessey reports that AB MacLaren is making satisfactory progress as a patient in the ship's hospital.

AB MacLaren suffered minor burns in an explosion and fire which occurred on board HMCS Nipigon during NATO manoeuvres off the western approaches to the English Channel about a week ago. As a result three seamen have died, one is in a serious condition in an English hospital and a number of others are being treated on board the Bonaventure.

Commodore Hennessey reports that AB MacLaren is in cheerful spirits and the ship's doctor is very satisfied with his recovery progress and that his confinement should not be too long.

Shortly after receiving the letter, Mr. MacLaren reported that he had received word from Naval Headquarters in Halifax, that AB MacLaren along with some of the other injured seamen are to be flown to Halifax later this week and will receive final treatment in the Armed Forces Hospital there.

Birth Of United Nations Observed In Ceremony

The 20th anniversary of the United Nations was observed in Charlottetown Sunday at the Cenotaph. The flag raising was held at 10.30 a.m. and His Honor Lt. Gov. W.J. MacDonald inspected the guard of honor mounted by 5 Signals Unit.

Premier W.R. Shaw represented the province at the ceremony.

T.M. Lothian, president of the P.E.I. branch of the United Nations Association of Canada, gave an address to the gathering. The following are quotes from Mr. Lothian's address:

"It is fitting that we should meet on this historic spot on this particular day. We meet here on the birthday of our nation to celebrate the birthday of the parliament of nations, the twentieth anniversary of the United Nations. So that surely this must be a significant moment indicative of 100 years of progress since our founding fathers gathered here.

"Those of us who are older can hardly believe that 20 years have passed since the founding of the United Nations. Those who are teenagers can not imagine a time when there was no United Nations. Perhaps that is why we all too often take the UN for granted. We are inclined to believe that that body stands automatically between us and the final catastrophe. We make this assumption in spite of many criticisms of the United Nations. Too many people spent too much time being critical of the United Nations' sins of omission and sins of commission.

UNDERSTANDING NEEDED

"What do we expect of the next 20 years? Surely not one of us would want to face the future without the United Nations. What can we do to help? We must understand the problems of the United Nations. We must realize that it takes money to run this governing body and that a year ago the peace-keeping effectiveness of the United Nations was seriously threatened by lack of funds. We must realize that the United Nations faces a constitutional crisis due to the control of the General Assembly by many small emergent nations with small populations and little experience in self-government. And the problem of Red China and the United Nations must be solved.

"The United Nations represents man at his best, imperfect though it may be. A psychiatrist once said to me that he believed that the greatness of Jesus lay in the fact that he was a perfect blend of the rational and the emotional. It seems to me that that is just what the United Nations strives to do, blend the emotional with the rational to produce the perfect."

The chairman for the meeting was Kinsmen president Brian Scott.

Diabetic Program Set For Tonight

A program of special interest to diabetics is scheduled for this evening at the National Film Board theatre in the Dominion Building on Queen Street.

The interesting and informative program will take the form of a panel discussion chaired by Charles Praught, with other panel members being Dr. R.D. Drysdale and Dr. K.A. Parker.

Mr. Praught is the vice-president of the Canadian Diabetic Association and is the person given more credit than anyone else by people close to the Island's diabetic association, for having insulin, and the pill form of diabetic treatment, supplied free or charge to the patient.

Prince Edward Island is the only province in Canada where this treatment is available to diabetic patients free of charge. BIG SAVING

This represents a great saving to the people afflicted with this disease which was fatal before Sir Frederick Banting and Charles Best, Toronto, discovered insulin. The disease is now reasonably easy to live with for most affected people, especially for those who keep away from sugars, pastries and other prohibited foods.

Presiding at this evening's meeting — the time is eight o'clock — will be Stewart Ives, the provincial president. Every diabetic patient is welcome. There are some 1,000 diabetics in the province.
