

Events Point To A New Era of Amity Between Dom. and Quebec Governments

OTTAWA (CP)—Events seem to be shaping up for a new era of amity between the long-feuding governments at Ottawa and Quebec.

But while the bare-knuckle work appears to have gone into the discard, there is still no indication of an over-all solution to all the differences between the federal liberal government and Quebec's Union Nationale administration.

Officials say the tax problem—admittedly a big one—is well on the way of being resolved, but there remain various political and administrative divergences. Chances are that an uneasy truce is the best outlook for the near future.

Ottawa and Quebec governments will have to convince each other of the correctness of their stands on such issues as federal aid to education, participation in the trans-Canada highway project and the way in which control over highway transport is to be handled.

STILL DIFFERENCES

Quebec has not accepted the proposed federal aid to university education, contending it threatens provincial autonomy. It hasn't signed a highway agreement—only province not to enter into this arrangement—and it has not accepted proclamation of the 1954 federal statute turning over control of trans-border highway traffic to the provinces from Parliament.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN CH'TOWN CITIZEN ON SATURDAY

The death of Reginald Heber Rogers, M.A., B.C.L., retired Prothonotary of the Supreme Court, occurred suddenly on Saturday in his 53rd year. Mr. Rogers seemed to be enjoying his usual good health until noon when he suffered a heart attack and was rushed to the P. E. Island Hospital, where he passed away shortly afterwards.

The late Mr. R. H. Rogers

Mr. Rogers was born in Alberton, the youngest of a family of six to the late Lieut. Governor Benjamin Rogers and his wife, Susan Hubbard. After leaving his primary education at Alberton, he entered Prince of Wales College and upon graduating he took up the study of law at McGill University. He graduated from McGill as an honor student with his M.A. and B.C.L. degrees and was valedictorian of his graduating class.

Mr. Rogers was admitted to the Bar of British Columbia and for some time practiced law at Vernon, B. C. He returned to Alberton in 1914, where he remained for about a year when he moved to Charlottetown and in 1920 was appointed Superintendent of Education. In 1928 he became Principal of Prince Street School where he remained for one year until appointed Prothonotary in 1929. After twenty years in this position, Mr. Rogers retired in February 1949.

Community affairs, which for many years engaged his active interest, Mr. Rogers and his family had a host of friends brought into play his many sterling qualities and qualified him for numerous honorable positions which he filled with distinction. He was past president of the Charlottetown Rotary Club and active as a member of the Charlottetown Y. Club and also a member of the executive of the Arts and Crafts Guild, of which he was a charter member. For several years he was Provincial president

Four Die In Murder-Suicide

TORONTO (CP)—Four persons died here during the weekend in what police said were two murder-suicides.

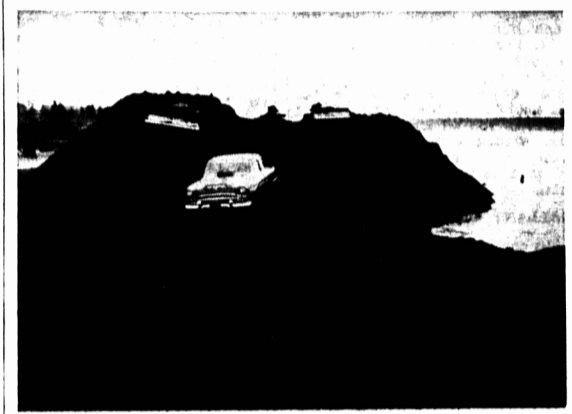

Police said a young male nurse hanged his six-month-old daughter from a bedroom closet door Saturday afternoon and then ended his own life the same way. Eight hours later a salesman and his girl friend were found shot to death near their parked car.

Mrs. Jola Babken told police she found her husband, Otto, and her daughter, Jane Anne, hanging by two separate lengths of window-sash cord when she returned to her north Toronto home from shopping.

Police found Herbert Kersey, 41, and Merle Hibbs, 31, lying in a pool of blood in northeast Toronto. Kersey had a bullet hole in his forehead. The woman had been shot twice behind her left ear.

FIRST CAR ROLLS ACROSS CAUSEWAY AT NORTH RIVER

Mr. E. S. Matheson of Matheson and MacMillan, contracting firm for construction of North River Causeway makes the first car crossing on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Ernie Matheson of Matheson and MacMillan, contractors, achieved an ambition he had cherished since construction began on August 23, when he piloted the first car over the North River Causeway at 3:10 p.m. on Saturday. Three minutes later, Hon. Douglas MacKinnon, Minister of Public Works and Highways, accompanied by Deputy Minister, R. G. White made a similar crossing. Congratulatory handshakes with the men on the job and expressions of appreciation followed.

The big push, which was to clip the peak off the end of the causeway run butting on open water, and fill the remaining gap, was started at 12:30 p.m. by four bulldozers. Working with the precision of an army unit, the operators, first singly, then two abreast, cut into the piled up fill material and pushed it into the gap. At 1:40 p.m. the opening was closed and from that time until the first car over, it was a matter of skillful grading which sometimes brought the machines within close distance of a tumble into the river.

The job, which has been under the personal supervision of E. S. Matheson, was given tender to Matheson and MacMillan and has been pushed forward on a twenty-four hour basis since August 23. The distance covered from shore to shore is approximately twelve hundred feet. 200,000 tons of material have been used in the fill. 300 piles have been driven in the spillway which is twenty feet wide inside and 180 ft. long. The travelling surface or "Deck" over the spillway will be of concrete and 105 feet long.

Commenting on the successful terminating of this phase of the causeway construction, Mr. Matheson said: "We are naturally pleased to have made the crossing complete before adverse weather conditions prevented that objective, however, we had about thirty men in the gang who were given splendid leadership by competent foremen who fell into line with every move we planned."

Preston Peardon, Heatherdale, was foreman on the fill with James Singleton, Belle River as his assistant with supervision over the night crew. John England, West Royalty is foreman of the spillway portion of the work which is expected to be completed in a few days, in ample time to take care of the overflow, which has to build up to five feet before the automatic gates will function at the North end.

Donald MacDonald is resident engineer on the project and Thomas White is engineer for Trans-Canada.

TAX FIGURES POINT TO SHIFT IN FORM OF CAN. INDUSTRIAL PICTURE

A shift which may have a bearing on the shape of Canada's industrial future appears to have taken place on the business scene.

The ranks of the little business men showing profits have increased while those of big business showing profits have declined.

This development showed up in the 1952 taxation year. The number of companies with annual incomes of more than $1,000,000 showing a profit dropped by 19 that year to 366 from 385 in 1951.

But the number of companies with less than $100,000 income showing a profit increased by 1,510 to 10,697 from 9,187.

The figures were contained in the federal revenue department's 1954 edition of the "green book," a hefty volume of detailed analysis of tax collections.

MAJOR INDICATION

Federal officials suggest the shift may have resulted simply because 1952 may have been a good year for little business and a bad year for big business. But on the other hand, it also may have been an indication of a big expansion in the number of little industries and a slow down in the development of new giants.

Even in the $25,000-to-$50,000 income class, the number of companies showing a profit in 1952 dropped to 2,603 from 2,660. But those in the $10,000-to-$15,000 income class with profits rose to 2,965 from 2,877.

The higher the income bracket the smaller the number of companies showing gains.

DROPS IN EACH CLASS

In the $50,000-to-$100,000 income category, the number dropped to 1,756 from 1,808; in the $100,000-to-$250,000 group, to 1,476 from 1,553; in the $250,000-to-$500,000 class, to 639 from 643; in those with incomes of more than $500,000 to 73 from 83.

It was because of the increase in the number of little companies showing gains that the total number of companies reporting a profit in 1952 increased to 32,432 from 30,992 in 1951.

The total federal income tax paid by all companies that year increased to $1,228,800,000 from $1,161,600,000.

WORKING THEIR WAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Of 5,730 students registered this year at the University of British Columbia, more than 2,000 are working their way through college. Some work part-time as night janitors, bookstore clerks or assistant instructors. Others financed themselves during summer jobs in many occupations.

Russian Move Jars Peace Plans

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP)—A surprise Russian move appeared Sunday to have jarred East-West amity over President Eisenhower's atomic-for-peace plan.

Russia reversed a previous stand Saturday night when Andrei Vishinsky formally suggested that a proposed international atomic energy agency be responsible to the UN General Assembly and Security Council in cases provided for by the UN charter—that is, in cases touching on threat to peace and security.

Vishinsky last Thursday had publicly agreed with a seven-power compromise resolution which would leave decision on the agency's connection with the UN for later negotiations.

The unexpected switch came in the form of an amendment to the resolution, which would set up the agency for development of peaceful uses of atomic energy, and call for an international conference of atomic scientists.

Vishinsky originally had suggested that the agency be linked to the Security Council—which the sponsors believe would risk hampering its operations through use of the council's veto—but then agreed to leave the matter over for solution later.

A U. S. delegation spokesman said Saturday the Soviet amendment is unacceptable as it was when Vishinsky first suggested it during debate in the 60-nation political committee.

The Russian move may further delay the vote on the proposal that had been expected this afternoon.

DELAYED BY INDIA

When debate resumed Friday, the sponsors expected that the resolution would be unanimously approved before the day was over.

However, it was delayed when India's V. K. Krishna Menon presented an amendment on the composition of the proposed agency and on the membership of a preliminary conference of international atomic scientists.

The sponsors believe such matters also should be left to later negotiations.

Some Western spokesmen still are hopeful that Russia, while

(By Brack Curry)
BONN, Germany, (AP)—West Germany has made plain it wants no part of Russia's projected all-European security conference—either Nov. 29 or later—at the price of delay in ratification of the Paris accords for German rearmament.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government Sunday rejected Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's conditional offer Saturday to postpone the security parley which Molotov originally proposed be held in Moscow or Paris next week.

Molotov's condition was that the West, which had shown no intention of attending such talks until the Paris accords are out of the way, hold up the ratification.

Queen and Duke Celebrate Seven Years of Marriage

BARNWELL, England (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, celebrating their seventh wedding anniversary, spent the day together Saturday but parted at night—the duke going to a banquet and the Queen spending a quiet evening with her aunt.

The royal couple is spending the week-end with the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Queen's uncle and aunt, at their 17th century Northamptonshire home. They drove here Saturday afternoon from Windsor where fog and bad weather put a damper on their anniversary activities.

Fog reduced visibility in Windsor Park, forcing the Queen to cancel her morning gallop with her favorite horse and the duke to call off a pheasant shoot.

Host at Saturday night's dinner attended by two dukes was 74-year-old George Brudenell, who wears old-fashioned mutton chop whiskers, buckled shoes and a long frock coat.

PARALLEL VIEWS

In a statement paralleling views expressed in London, Washington and Paris, Adenauer's government said:

"This is simply a new attempt by the Soviets to hinder the ratification of the Paris agreements. Without doubt this represents an attempt by the Soviet Union to put very heavy pressure on the West."

"On the other hand, the Soviet Union is not prepared to make any real concessions to the West in the event the Western powers should abstain from ratifying the Paris agreements."

Of Molotov's statement that rejection of the Paris agreements would open the possibility of an agreement to reunify Germany, a high German official said:

"It is foolish to believe that Moscow regards the unification of Germany and the question of free (German) elections as a question by itself. In reality, this question is closely interwoven with all other cold war issues. The West must first achieve equality in strength with the East before successful negotiations with Moscow are possible."

REJECT PROPOSAL

In Washington Saturday State Secretary Acheson and the visiting Premier of France, Pierre Mendes-France agreed informally to reject the new Soviet proposal.

The British position against any security talks with the Iron Curtain powers until the Paris agreements are confirmed was detailed in the House of Commons last week by Foreign Secretary Eden.

The Russians proposed that their security conference take in 23 European powers and the United States, and that Red China send observers.

So far, Moscow has received acceptance only from the Iron Curtain countries and a tentative agreement from Finland to be represented if other Western powers show up.

Broadcasting from Prague Sunday, a Czechoslovak cabinet minister without portfolio, Zdenek Nedjedy, said the conference will be held even if the western powers do not attend.

Western World Must Be Strong

NEW YORK (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France said Sunday night the Western world must be organized, united and strong "if we want to achieve peaceful coexistence" with Russia.

Mendes-France said he could see no justification for Russian statements that the rearming of Germany would increase the danger of war in Europe.

"I'm quite sure we can achieve peace," he said. "But for that the Western nations must be united and must work together."

U. S. Flying Six Jets To Panama

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials said Saturday night the United States is flying six jet fighter planes to Panama immediately, as a peace-keeping move, to be ready in case of an armed attack on neighboring Costa Rica.

The U. S. action was taken at the height of rapidly increasing rumors of a plot to overthrow Costa Rican President Jose Figueres.

Put Police On Convicts Trail

MISSION, B. C. (CP)—Bobby an RCMP trail dog. Saturday led police to two escaped convicts near here, nine hours after being put on the scent.

Captured were Lawrence Corbett and Russell V. Patterson who escaped Thursday from Oakalla prison farm near Vancouver.

A third man, who escaped with Corbett and Patterson under cover of a prison fight, gave himself up to Vancouver police after only a few hours of freedom, weak from loss of blood due to a cut hand.

While the hunt for the escapees was in progress, another jail-break was reported—Robert Bates, 26, fled the B. C. penitentiary at New Westminster.

He slipped from guards while working with an outside party and was last seen when he pedaled through police lines on a stolen bicycle.

38 Violent Deaths In Eastern Canada

At least 38 persons died violently in eastern Canada during the week-end, including five deaths in a Quebec plane crash and five drownings in one Ontario accident.

By 9:30 p.m. Sunday, 16 persons died in traffic accidents, a Canadian Press survey shows. Nine persons were drowned, five died in the plane crash, two died in falls and two were accidentally shot. Police reported two separate murder-suicides in Toronto.

Ontario and Quebec each had 17 fatalities. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia had one fatality each. No deaths were reported in Newfoundland or Prince Edward Island.

Five Killed In R.C.A.F. Crash

ST. ANDRE D'ARLENTEUIL, Que. (CP)—Four airmen and an RCAF nurse were killed near here Saturday when their twin-engine plane plunged through dense woods and exploded.

Dead are FO. Kenneth B. Tester, 32, of Calgary, Alta., pilot of the Beechcraft FO. Robert Sinclair, 30, of Medicine Hat, Alta., Cpl. Joseph Francois Roland Aloise, 34, of Montreal, Cpl. Peter Mill, Jr., 24, of Truro, N.S., and Nursing Sister Frances Sarah Hogg, 22, of Norwood, Ont.

All were stationed at the RCAF airbase at St. Johns, Que.

The plane, a communications aircraft, crashed shortly before noon in remote bush some two miles east of this Ottawa valley community. It had left St. Johns, 25 miles south of Montreal at 10:30 a.m. EST. on a routine flight to Cornwall, Ont., and Toronto.

Western World Must Be Strong

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States Sunday defined the country's real enemy as atheistic materialism and said the nation "must recover and renew its Christian faith" if it is to survive.

"Materialism is the real enemy, at home as well as abroad," they said, adding:

"Materialism has brought about a decline in the influence of religion upon American life. Confusion in our thinking and a sort of paralysis of the national will have been the inevitable results of this decline. Here then we have the source of that weakness which is causing so much concern to men of good will.

"Unless we arrest this religious decline, unless we push back the domestic invasion of materialism, we shall not be able, as history clearly attests, to withstand the enemy from without."

TYRANNY IMPOSED

In a statement at the close of their annual assembly, the bishops said the tyranny of atheistic materialism already has been imposed upon 1,000,000,000 souls and "threatens the destruction of our own land as it has already attacked the culture of others."

"The battle is joined," they said. "If our nation is to escape the fate of Poland and of China, of Yugoslavia and of Hungary, and of so many others, if we are to survive as a free Christian nation, then we must be clear-eyed and we must be strong. It is the blind and the weak who fall into the pit."

MATERIAL STRENGTH

The bishops said that material strength, while necessary, is not enough.

"This nation must look to its spiritual strength," they said. "Our vast physical resources and our mastery technical skills will avail us nothing unless we are a people strong in the faith which gives purpose to action, and in the morality which fosters discipline and courage."

"The true strength of a Christian nation," they said, "is in the power of God which outweighs all force of arms."

Mendes-France, Dulles Call For "Early Ratification" of German Rearmament

WASHINGTON (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France and State Secretary Dulles turned down Saturday a move by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to delay ratification of German rearmament by the Western powers. Instead they called for "early ratification" by all the Allies before any new conferences with Russia.

They declared themselves against "improvised debates" intended mainly for propaganda, "an obvious slap at Moscow, but expressed willingness to join in "adequately prepared negotiations" in good faith.

The Molotov move came in Moscow where the foreign office made public an interview by him suggesting that Russia would be willing to delay the European security conference it has proposed for Nov. 29 if the Western power would delay ratification of the new Western European Union treaties.

The communique was issued after Mendes-France left for New York where he will deliver a number of speeches, including one before the United Nations General Assembly today. He leaves by air for Paris Tuesday night.

From the communique and from information provided by officials the other points stood out in the talks:

1. Dulles and Mendes-France agreed that the organization of three new Communist divisions, two of them armored, in Northern Viet Nam creates a serious new threat in Indochina. They agreed on "co-ordinated procedures and periodic reviews" in dealing with the situation, but there was no evidence that they reached any major policy decisions.
2. The critically important matter of continuing American financial support for French forces in South Viet Nam, at the rate of several hundred million dollars a year, was left to other negotiations. For the time being, Dulles and Mendes-France agreed to support the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, a limited concession by Mendes-France.
3. Dulles agreed to consider use of United States influence to try to prevent any outside agitation to make trouble for the French among the Arabs in North Africa. Mendes-France has contended Cairo and Communist Hungary have been sources of agitation in North Africa.
4. Mendes-France reviewed "hopefully" possibilities for establishing better relations between France and Germany as a step toward creation of a United and peaceful Europe.
