THE TWO-CENT RATE.

SIR,—We notice that the "Powers that be" take great credit to themselves for introducing the two-cent letter rate throughout the Empire. We fail to see anything to crow about. Who in Canada are benefitted by this change? The millionaire importer and trader and a few high-toned parties who, in most instances, like drones in the hive, living luxuriously on the labor of others, save some money; but wherein does the benefit come to the working bees whom Mr. Mulock represents?

Does it not seem ridiculous that a domestic, say in Charlottetown, must pay three cents on a letter to her home a few miles away, when Mrs. Uppercrust can send one to Liverpool or John o' Groat's for two? Yet if I understand the law such is the case, and it is considered a wonderful stroke of statesmanship! Verily, people like to be "humbogged." A country merchant in sending a few hundred accounts to customers within a radius of a few miles must pay fifty per cent more postage on each letter than it costs to send the same to London, England. We will be told, of course, that our ideas are too narrow, that we do not understand the case because of our ignorance, etc., etc. We claim that some people are placed in responsible positions by the people, who pay them well—too well often in proportion to the labor performed, and the least we can expect is some consideration in return. People are apt to lose their heads when they begin to associate with people in high places. Perhaps swelled heads, too, is the result. They are apt to forget the "degrees by which they did ascend," and too often the desire to have their names enrolled among the "great" men of the day is the cause of such laws as we now are about to have. Come, gentlemen, think of your own people first, and "the greatest good to the greatest number." The ballot is our only legitimate weapon, and it will be used until we can get rulers, if there are such, who will think of us and our burdens.

Will someone please explain what advantage this foreign two-cent rate is to the farmers, artisans and laborers of Canada? If such was reversed it would be nearer right, viz: Give a local two-cent rate first and later reduce the foreign, if found practicable.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.
King's County, Dec. 1.

CRAPAUD SPEAKS

SIR,—Considerable blow is being carried on by the Patriot and some Liberal heeled in regard to the straightening of the curve at North Wiltshire by which the time between Summerside and Charlottetown is shortened by one half minute, at a cost of between thirty and forty thousand dollars. This sum should have gone towards a branch line to Crapaud, in which case it would have been money well spent. As it is it is simply wasted. It was boodle of the worst kind. A practical way for the elector to ascertain the value of the change is to ask himself how much cheaper is it to travel from Wiltshire to Charlottetown since the opening of the new curve, because there is quite a sharp curve in the new piece of roads. The price of tickets has not been reduced one cent. The claim that coal will be saved is a mere statement which may or may not be true, while the claim that $10,000 a year will be saved in no fencing is simply untrue and carries its untruth on the face. The money was wasted, the straightening was not required, the whole work is a piece of grit boodling.

Mr Kenneth J Martin, barrister-at-law, Summerside, is among the guests at the Hotel Davies.

Miss Maud Robertson, of Brackley Point, was a passenger by the early train this morning en route to B. too.

Mr Frank Horn-by was a passenger by the Princess this morning, returning from a business trip to Halifax.

Miss Enid McLean, was a passenger by the western train last evening returning from a visit to Montreal.

Mr Wallace Pickard left this morning on a business trip to Halifax. He crossed to Picton by the Princess.

Rev E A Harris, of Mahone, N. S., who has been here on a visit to his father, crossed to Picton to-day en route home.

Miss May Cotton was a passenger by the Princess to Picton to-day. She is en route to Mahone, Nova Scotia, where she will remain during the winter months.

Mr Daniel McLellan of Skowegan, Maine, who has been absent from the Island for the past two years, is back on a visit to friends in Souris. He arrived last night.

The death of Miss Georgie Doyle, recorded elsewhere in to-day's issue, will be regretted by all who enjoyed her acquaintance. Miss Doyle was employed in the store of the McKay Woollen Company for a number of years, and lately was with R H Ramsay & Co. She was a daughter of the late Thomas Doyle, and was 22 years of age.

It is pointed out by an exchange that the first Presbyterian minister settled on P E Island was the Rev Peter Gordon. He came out from Scotland in 1806 and landed in Halifax, where he preached six Sundays. Then he travelled to Windsor, and from there to Shubenacadie, preaching one day at each place. He was settled at St Peter's, P E Island, in October, 1807, and with the exception of the Rev Mr Des-Brisay, was the only minister on the whole Island. He was ordained in Charlottetown in the Episcopal Church, and only labored for three years. He died on the 2nd April, 1809, and was so lovingly held in remembrance, that he was called the Apostle of P E Island. There being no stone in this province suited for monuments, a young man who revered his memory erected one of wood at the back of the pulpit of the church in which he ministered. In 1840 a stone monument was placed over his grave, a plain freestone slab, which commemorates the memory of P E Island's first Presbyterian minister.

A NOVEMBER WEDDING.

Mr Francis E Doyle, son of E W Doyle, Superintendent of the Rockwell & Churchill Press, Boston, was married on Wednesday, November 23rd, to Miss Martha E Keating, of Somerville, Mass, at St Catherine's Church, by the pastor Rev. James O'Brien. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Delia Keating, and Wilfrid James Doyle, brother of the groom, and at present assistant clerk of committees in City Hall, Boston, was best man. The church was crowded with relatives and friends of both the bride and groom. A nuptial mass was celebrated. After the ceremony the young couple held a reception at the home of the bride's parents where a beautiful wedding breakfast was provided by a caterer. The house was completely filled by relatives and close friends of the couple. The many beautiful presents sent the bride, in the way of silver service, pictures, bric-a-brac, and useful household articles, were on exhibition. After a few weeks sojourn in New York, the couple will reside in Somerville.

ANOTHER GOOD STORY.—The exceeding interest taken in the serial story "Woman against Woman" has prompted us to follow its publication, with "Beaton's Bargain," a tale of absorbing interest, by Mrs. Alexander. We can promise our readers an enjoyable treat in the perusal of this story, the first chapters of which appeared yesterday. Each instalment will be prefaced by a synopsis of the preceding chapters, so that readers will be enabled to hold the thread of the narrative during its publication in our columns. Read it today.

"COON ROUGH RIDERS."—The managers of the "Charlottetown Merchants Coon Rough Riders" or "Black Faced Ads," were greatly surprised at the manner in which the leading merchants and business men of this city responded in doing their part. This, no doubt, shows and proves the prompt and business principles of those leading merchants and business men in Charlottetown. The "C B C's Get there" and Revere Hotel will also be represented. The names of the merchants, with particulars, will appear later.—Com.
