

Fire Hazards In Dartmouth Schools Seen

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Provincial Fire Marshal K. J. Partington has warned Dartmouth town council that several schools or parts of them here may be closed if fire hazards are not corrected. Mr. Partington's report on the town's schools was released after a town council meeting Monday night. "It is far better to have the children miss school than to place their lives in jeopardy," he said.

PM Removes Loudspeaker

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker disclosed Tuesday he has had removed from his office a loudspeaker which piped the Commons debate to him. "I tried it last year," he said, "but certain voices were always on the machine."

References between our different peoples... are useful," Eisenhower said.

U.S. Will Not Retreat Single Inch, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he favors new talks with the Russians but that the United States won't "retreat a single inch" on its international rights and responsibilities.

make of West Berlin what Moscow calls a free city.

CAUTION KREMLIN

Both Eisenhower and Dulles cautioned the Kremlin against believing there is any split between the American people and their government on the need for a firm policy toward Russia.

Dulles, in talking with congressmen, pledged to be vigilant in seeking what he called "every reasonable avenue to achieving a better understanding with those who are hostile to us."

But he said the Eisenhower administration does not intend to invent new and weaker policies, as he put it, just because Soviet leaders are demanding new of

IKE SUMS IT UP

Eisenhower summed up the administration's attitude in reply to a question as to whether he believes a new round of East-West diplomatic talks would serve a useful purpose.

"Well, I think that any talks that deal fruitfully with the differences between our different peoples... are useful," Eisenhower said.

West Indian Markets May Benefit From Recent Visit

By John A. MacDonald, M.P.

For the opening, and during the first days of the session, our island representative in the Cabinet, the Hon. J. Angus MacLean, was unable to be with us. He was highly honoured in being detailed to represent the Canadian Government and presided at the opening of the Trade Fair at Jamaica. This task was performed in his usual efficient and dignified manner, and it is hoped that his trip may be of assistance in consolidating and expanding our markets—particularly for fisheries.

CANADIAN CLUB

This week it was my privilege to attend a dinner of the Canadian Club at which the Leader of the Opposition gave a very fine address. It is quite noticeable that Mr. Pearson is improving his speaking technique in his capacity as Leader of the Opposition but at events, such as an after-dinner speech, he is a past master.

At such events, his remarks are invariably witty, interspersed with his unusual turn of phraseology, and delivered in a pleasing and interesting way. He is at home in the field of international affairs and recognized by all as one who can, and does, speak with great authority in that field. The luncheon meeting was very largely attended, and all agreed that Mr. Pearson made a masterful address.

LABOUR CONGRESS

Last week I sat in for a time on the submission to the government of the brief, entitled "Memorandum to the Government of Canada" which was presented by President Claude Jodoin. There was a large attendance in the Railway Committee room as delegates and spectators followed with interest their 47-page memorandum which took two hours to present.

It contained many items and suggestions to the government on improvements in labour policy and on many other subjects which might effect the working man. The Prime Minister and members of the Cabinet present listened with great interest and promised that every consideration would be given to the matters contained in the brief.

It was pointed out, however, that, with economic conditions in Canada as they are at the present time, there should not be too great a hope of obtaining most costly labour benefits and at the same time expect the government to reduce taxation.

MEETING OF C.B.C.

This week a meeting of the Canadian Association of Broadcast Governors was held in one of the committee rooms in the House of Commons. As the new Board had some unfinished business which had to be dealt with, their time was taken up chiefly in disposing of matters which had accumulated over the past few months in the transitional period from the former controlling body of the C.B.C.

I spent some time in attendance at one of their meetings during which a presentation was made by Mr. Robert Large.

of January 17th. Mr. Shaw's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Crane, Charlottetown.

Mrs. James Callaghan spent a few days visiting relatives and friends in Charlottetown during the past week.

Quite a number of residents of this vicinity are confined to their homes with the flu.

Miss Eliza Wilson, R.N., is spending a few days visiting relatives and friends in Charlottetown.

manager of OFCY-TV on behalf of his station. Sitting on the Board is an exceptionally capable and well known Islander in the person of Lt. Col. J. D. Stewart, former mayor of Charlottetown and former president of the Association of Mayors for Canada.

On that day a delegation from the C.B.C.'s French-speaking network visited Ottawa where they staged a rally in protest over non-recognition of their union by the C.B.C. These people are performers under contract to the C.B.C. and hence, not considered as employees of that body but rather contractors with the C. B. C. So far, the government has refused to interfere in the hope that this may be settled by the parties in dispute themselves. It is general government policy not to interfere in such matters unless absolutely necessary.

FIRST VOTE

This week saw the first division in the new Parliament. The vote was on a C.C.F. motion to amend the Liberal vote of non-confidence in the government. It is called on a certain day in conformity with the rules of the House and disposes of the sub-amendment. The vote was 174 to 48 against the motion, and was declared lost by the Speaker. The debate then moved on to the final stages of the Liberal amendment.

A surprising feature of the opposition vote was that the Liberals voted to support the C.C.F. despite the fact that the C.C.F. motion recommended definite socialistic policies which they felt should be instituted by the government. After the vote was taken, the House Leader of the Opposition suggested that the debate be terminated and the House proceed to other business, although there were four more days left in the ten-day debate.

The House Leader, Hon. Howard Green, brought down the House with one brief sentence. He remarked: "If the honourable member and his followers have run out of ideas, I am sure they could get some from their new brothers in the C.C.F." The Throne Speech, so far, has been rather dull, and any indication that this session will be a lively one seems to have been minimized. However, it is impossible to tell when a debate of considerable interest and action might develop.

LEGION RECEPTION

This week the Dominion Headquarters of the Canadian Legion played host at a buffet supper to ex-service members of the Senate and House of Commons at the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Legion. It was attended by a number of senators and cabinet ministers and by members of the House of Commons.

This Parliament contains in its cabinet and among its membership by far a higher proportion of veterans than any previous Parliament. It was a pleasant diversion from the chores of parliamentary life to mix with other ex-servicemen and also get to know better the members of the staff of the Canadian Legion Headquarters who are of such great assistance to us in advising and assisting on ### ings for this year will be the most varied yet featured in this fur.

For the first time, they will make available fox mutations in the families of grey and brown, as well as black. The black fox family is synonymous with silver fox - the fox that, according to Mr. Fromm, will be the outstanding one in terms of usage. Pearl fox, too, it is noted, will be getting its share of attention.

While silver fox and pearl, especially the former, have already registered in cloth garments, 1959 will be the first "trimmings year" for the Hartleys, as well as golden amber and golden glory.

Mr. Fromm claims that these foxes are different from anything that has been around, and several designers have expressed their intention of getting special fabrics to go with them.

DARK MINK

A despatch from Oslo, Norway, to "Women's Wear Daily", New York, states that the $4,000 dark mink offered at the January 12 sale were sold with males 10 to 15 percent stronger, and females up 5 percent from December levels.

United States buyers took 90 percent of the goods, including some top bundles. Males brought an average price of $27, with a top price of $30.50; females went at an average of $16, with a top price of $26.75.

WITH REGRET

Now we report with the deepest regret that Robert W. Fraser, former board chairman of Lamson, Fraser and Huth, Inc., which later became Hudson's Bay Company Fur Sales, Inc., New York, died last weekend. He was 76.

To his father Alfred Fraser must be given the credit for placing Prince Edward Island silver fox on the London market, and because of which, millions of dollars came to this province in the years prior to World War I. Next week, we will have a story on Mr. Alfred Fraser.

ROLLO BAY

Mr. Elmer Peters, Rollo Bay, is recovering satisfactorily following an operation in the Souris hospital on Monday.

A card party was held in the parish hall, Rollo Bay, on Tuesday evening sponsored by the C.W.J. Forty-fives were played and donated grocery parcels were given as prizes.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge and a nice sum realized in aid of the Precious Blood Monastery building fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Joey Deveaux and two young children Leo and Stella Marie, are visiting at Mrs.

John Fromm, assistant manager of Fromm Bros., Inc., was in New York last week, and in an interview with "Women's Wear Daily" disclosed that the ready-to-wear trade is expressing much greater interest in fox than at this time last year. Mr. Fromm, while declining to mention names, said that the top style houses are planning to use fox trimmings on coats, suits and costumes.

FOX MUTATIONS He said that Fromm's offer-

Taweel's New Groceteria Had Origin In Depression

Today marks the official opening of Taweel's Clover Farm Market, a completely renovated and ultra modern groceteria located on the corner of Fitzroy and Queen Streets in Charlottetown.

With the new addition to the store, N.S. Taweel now has twice the amount of floor space, some 2,400 square feet in all.

The large extension to the former store features the latest in fluorescent lighting, complete re-decorated ceilings and walls, large spotlighted show windows, spacious display islands and shelves and four large refrigeration units.

The building is now about 60 by 100 feet and is a three storey structure constructed of brick and steel. The basement runs the full length of the building, with the store on the main floor and seven apartments on the second and third floors.

TIMELY NOTES ON FUR FARMING

A despatch from London, England, dated January 14, to Fairchild News Service, New York, states that at the Hudson Bay Company sale there standard mink prices were up 7 1/2 percent over December, 1958, average levels.

Mink pastels and sapphires were both unchanged from December levels; silver blue was firm. The standard mink was 95 percent sold; pastels 85 percent sold; sapphires 75 percent sold; and silver blue 80 percent sold.

At the Hudson Bay Company sale held in Montreal on January 14, the same date as the London sale, wild mink was reported to have been 90 percent sold at strong prices; the top lot of wild mink brought $62.50, a record price for this year, and was purchased for Magnin and Co., San Francisco. The sales-room was completely filled with New York buyers, and also buyers from Europe.

The wild mink consisted of 12,479 skins; they were mainly trapped in the Labrador region, where the Hudson's Bay Company have maintained a paternal interest in the inhabitants and have brought them to respect certain regulations regarding the trapping of fur bearing animals.

SUCCESSFUL SALE Now we turn to New York, and find that the EMBA sale there by New York Auction Co. on January 14 was a successful one.

In mink, toumaline were 85 percent sold; lutetia were 82 percent sold; lutetia breath-of-spring were 86 percent sold, with a top price in the lutetia category of $50.

The above buying was stimulated by the presence of Italian fur men, who are reported as having purchased 75 percent of the lots disposed of. Continuing our comment on the above sale, we find that gun metal sold at strong prices, some of them at 10 to 15 percent above anticipat-

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE

Stock Subscription "Rights"

Shareholders of record December 12, 1958 have been offered the right to subscribe for additional shares of the Bank, in the ratio of 1 share for each 5 shares held, at the price of $32 per share.

This offer provides shareholders with an opportunity to add to their holdings on attractive terms, and we strongly recommend the exercise of "Rights" to the fullest extent possible. The impressive growth record of the Bank also indicates the desirability of its shares for current investment, either through purchase in the open market or through purchase and exercise of Rights.

We offer our facilities for transactions in Canadian Bank of Commerce Rights and Shares, and shall be glad to furnish information promptly on request.
