The Guardian, Charlottetown, Wed., Jan. 30, 1963. 5

FAN TAO-TSAN (centre), guest panelist at a meeting last night of the P.E.I. branch of the United Nations Association of Canada, is seen with Dianne Thompson, president of the PWC United Nations Club, and Harry Love, secretary of the P.E.I. branch. Mr. Fan, counsellor to the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Ottawa, discussed "The Chinese Question" with members of the college club. Other panel members were Brian Morris, chairman; Sharon Wright, Frances Ann Cullen and Errol Sharpe.

UN PANEL AT PWC IS TOLD

Red Chinese Admittance To UN Would Be Failure

By MARIAN BRUCE
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

The United Nations would be a failure if Red China were granted admittance, Fan Tao-Tsan, counsellor to the Nationalist Chinese embassy in Ottawa told a meeting of the P.E.I. branch of the United Nations Association of Canada last evening.

Mr. Fan, guest panelist in a discussion of the Chinese problem held at Montgomery Hall, said Communist China would "do even more harm, and be more of a trouble-maker than the Soviet Union" in the United Nations.

"It was a mistake to let Russia enter the UN," he stated, "and two wrongs do not make a right." Mr. Fan said one of the most important requirements of the UN admission is that the country be peaceloving.

He said Red China has made war against North Korea, Laos, Indo-China and India. "Do you think the Red Chinese are peaceloving?" he asked.

Mr. Fan's view was opposed by two other members of the panel, Errol Sharpe and Sharon Wright, who represented the Prince of Wales College United Nations Club. Others on the panel, also members of the club, were Brian Morris, moderator, and Frances Ann Cullen

NO NEED OF UN

In reply to Mr. Sharpe's argument that the United Nations would be an effective method for negotiating with the Communist Chinese, who represent one-quarter of the world's population, in the interests of peace, Mr. Fan stated that there are enough channels open for communication and negotiation, and "we should not have to resort to the United Nations."

"The United Nations", he said "was started to maintain peace. Because of the wrong actions of some of its members, the UN has lost its original purpose. If we want the UN to be truly efficient, it should stick to the original purpose and ideals of the charter."

He argued that the Red Chinese have a lack of sincerity for peace, as illustrated by their criticism of the Russian theory of peaceful co-existence.

NUCLEAR ARMS

"Red China is acquiring nuclear arms, and intends to use them in her attempts to dominate the world," he said.

Another question which evoked spirited discussion among panel members was that of the true representatives of the Chinese people.

While Miss Cullen sided with Mr. Fan in maintaining that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government truly represented the Chinese, Miss Wright and Mr. Sharpe again took opposing stands, stating that while they sympathized with Mr. Fan's government, a government of about 11,000,000 people could not speak for the 600,000,000 mainland population, with whom it had possibly lost touch.

"Communist China controls the mainland population, but it cannot represent them," Mr. Fan argued. "People try to flee from such a regime. More than 100,000 have fled to Hong Kong under risk of their lives."

Miss Wright asked whether the flight of the mainland people has been due to famine, rather than to the regime to which they are subjected.

The counsellor replied that the Chinese had fled partly because of their country's food shortage, but mainly because they are a freedom-loving people. He also contended that faulty policies of the Communist government has worsened the food situation.

"Why should they export such large quantities of food and leave their own people hungry? They are just doing what is harmful to the people," Mr. Fan stated.

ULTIMATE GOAL

Asked why Formosa did not have free elections, the counsellor said free elections would be the ultimate goal of his country, which was now in a state of emergency, with a constant state of threat from the mainland.

He said if free elections were held now, Communists would come in to "make trouble" for the Nationalists.

Mr. Fan expressed the belief that Dr. Chiang's government would take over mainland China within a few years.

EXPECT TIDE TO TURN

"We expect a turn of the tide in a few years because of growing unrest on the mainland. People have begun to show their hatred of the regime." He said he believed there would be a revolt in Red China.

Any force overthrowing the Communist regime, whether arising within or without the mainland, would, in Mr. Fan's opinion, of necessity be led by Dr. Chiang.

In answer to a question from the floor, Mr. Fan stated that if Dr. Chiang dies before his term as president is expired, the vice-president will take his place.

If his term of office has not expired, an election would be held, he said.

Also in answer to the audience, Mr. Fan said it was his belief that Communist China was not interested in becoming a member of the United Nations.

The counsellor was thanked at the meeting's conclusion by Brian Morris, chairman of the panel, and by Douglas Boylan, president of the P.E.I. branch of the UN Association of Canada. Mr. Boylan also expressed his thanks to student members of the panel.

Dance Classes Are Popular At Summerside And Ch'town

"I think the people of Prince Edward Island like to dance," commented Evelyn Edgett, professional dance instructor from Moncton who has been engaged by the physical fitness division to give ballroom dancing instruction in Summerside and Charlottetown.

"And that will probably be classed as one of the greatest understatements of the year," she added.

Last evening more than 200 adults in the Charlottetown area attended the class in the Queen Charlotte High School gymnasium. This followed two classes in the afternoon for high school students which were attended by more than 400.

Mrs. Edgett also instructed a class of 115 at Summerside Monday afternoon and a class of 40 adults in the evening.

The classes will be carried out one day each week for the next four weeks in Summerside and Charlottetown with the next class slated for Summerside next Monday and in Charlottetown next Tuesday.

Queens Co. Trout Ponds Are Stocked

There were 130,700 trout released in 32 ponds and lakes in Queens County last year, it was learned from E. G. Acorn, secretary - treasurer of the county branch of the P.E.I. Fish and Game Association.

Of that number 2,625 rainbow trout were released in Glenfinnan and all of the rest were speckled trout. The number released ranged from the high of 6,000 in Beaton's Pond at Flat River, at Hope River and McGee Pond to the 2,016 released at several other ponds through the county.

The trout were released by the fish culture station at Cardigan, Mr. Acorn said.

The decision was reached at a special meeting of branch members held Monday night.

Gallinger Looked Suspicious Says Former Coach

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Dit Clapper, former player and coach of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, said Tuesday a player suspended for life 15 years ago was the only one "who looked suspicious."

Clapper was speaking of Don Gallinger's appeal to have his life suspension from hockey lifted. He was coach of Bruins in 1948 and with Manager Art Ross investigated to learn whether it was true that one or more was betting against Boston.

"We had a conference with the players. At this meeting we weren't sure that Gallinger was the man who had been betting. In fact, I was never sure. The meeting took place in Ross' suite in a Toronto hotel.

"All the players were in the living room waiting for their turn to go in and see Ross. . . . One by one the players went into the bedroom. Gallinger was the only player who looked suspicious as he wasn't himself at all. All the other players were kidding around except Galinger."

Gallinger later admitted making the bets.

Clapper said that although Babe Pratt of Toronto Maple Leafs was suspended for betting on games, that suspension was lifted after 16 days because Pratt was betting Leafs would win.

"Although both ways of betting are morally wrong, there is a big difference between betting against your team to lose and betting that your team will win. I think that is why Pratt's suspension was lifted."
